Government Is Seeking End of Deadlock Over Pay Agreement

Labor Bureau Conciliator Hopes to Address Group

THOUSANDS IDLE

Mine Shutdown Spreading to Railroads And Truckers

New York—(AP)—The government, acting through a labor department conciliator, moved today to break the four-week deadlock between bituminous miners and operators who have been seeking a new wage-hour agreement.

The conciliator, James F. Dewey, was called before the committee of four Applachian operators and four representatives of the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) after he requested an opportunity to address the negotiators.

Dewey said he acted after discussing the situation with several persons in Washington. He declined to name those whom he consulted.

The contract under which the miners had been working expired March 31. Meanwhile 338,000 miners are idle.

Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, told the joint conference of operators and miners Tuesday that the miners were willing to accept a renewal of the old contract for two years provided the penalty clause for illegal strikes were eliminated.

The penalty clause, included in the separate district agreements, appeared to be the major point of dissension. The operators had said "no" to 26 proposals the union made for increased wages, shorter hours and improved working conditions.

John L. Lewis, CIO chief and head of the United Mine Workers, who had attended the conference, went to Washington last night.

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Thousands of persons in the nation's vast bituminous coal fields today faced a payless Easter as the mine shutdown spread to the railroads and truckers.

Movement of coal was halted in the important Applachian area as many operators and United Mine workers representatives left their New York wage contract negotiations for the Easter holidays. The 140-man U.M.W.A. policy committee quit yesterday, leaving only four operators and four miners to continue work on a new contract for the country's 338,000 miners.

Three of West Virginia's largest coal-carrying railroads sent out furlough notices. In Pennsylvania, truckers were notified to get permits from U.M.W.A. district organizer Fred Thomas, of Johnstown. Furloughs will be effective until a coal agreement is reached.

Pickets Halt Trucks

The Robinson Clay Products company laid off approximately 145 men at its Clearfield, Pa., sewer pipe plant after union pickets halted coal trucks.

Mines would not normally have operated today, Good Friday, but none posted work schedules for next week. The notices usually are posted late in the week.

No official estimate of the number of furlough notices sent out was available, but the Roanoke, Va., World News said the Norfolk and Western Railroad alone would lay off 1,400 men in Virginia and West Virginia. The Chesapeake and Ohio and the Baltimore and Ohio also cut work schedules.

Wife to be Jailed in Two Rivers Shooting

Two Rivers—(AP)—District Attorney Patrick Dewane today planned to have Mrs. Ida Sohr, 40, removed to the county jail from a hospital where she has been receiving treatment for shock and hysteria since the shooting of her husband, John, 55, Wednesday night.

Sheriff E. J. Berkedal reported that Mrs. Sohr had admitted shooting her husband in his tavern near the city.

Sohr, a former semi-pro baseball player, remained in a serious condition with wounds in the back and leg.

Will Waft Like London Fog

Described as "Food counselor to glamour couples," B. Gayelord Hauser arrived from France with the information that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Lady Cavendish, Lady Mendl and other aristocrats have adopted his lissoming diet consisting mainly of cabbage juice and garlic, and he expresses the hope that society people will help spread his regimen in this country. Hm. Cabbage and garlic? They don't need any help. So you'd better look for an apartment in The Post-Crescent classified want-ads. This one helped itself:

COLLEGE AVE., W. 309 — Modern 3 room apartment. In-A-Door beds. Janitor service, heat and water furnished. Private entrance. $25. Available April 21. Ph. 217.

SELL ARMS TO ALL, BARUCH ADVISES

Bernard M. Baruch, noted financier and advisor to presidents, told the senate foreign relations committee that the best way to keep America out of war was to make its vast resources available to all belligerents who can pay cash and carry the goods away. Baruch is shown as he testified.

Statewide Hearing to Study Possible Reduction in Milk Prices Called Here April 18

The department of agriculture and markets at Madison today announced it would hold a statewide hearing in Appleton April 18 to determine whether the various regulated milk markets should follow the price reductions ordered in the Milwaukee-Waukesha area.

Notice of the hearing has been sent out by Director Ralph E. Ammon to 31 cities affected. It included all markets except that in the Milwaukee district.

L. J. Kuenning, who is in charge of the milk stabilization division, said the department would not have time to give individual attention to each market. The Fox river valley area, he said, had become concerned over decreases in the consumption of cream. The department, however, will consider the general milk price structure.

In Milwaukee the retail price of fluid milk was reduced from 12 to

'Boss' Pendergast Is Indicted on Tax Law Charges

Kansas City Democratic Leader Named by Federal Grand Jury

Kansas City—(AP)—Thomas J. Pendergast, boss of the powerful Kansas City Democratic organization, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of violating the income tax laws.

Named with him in a separate indictment on similar charges was R. E. O'Malley who, as state insurance superintendent, engineered a $9,000,000 fire insurance rate compromise in 1935, which was investigated by the grand jury.

One count asserted Pendergast failed to report $260,000 in income in 1936 and another charged he evaded taxation on $55,000 in 1935.

The jury charged O'Malley received $62,000 in the rate settlement and that money on which the Pendergast indictment was based came from approximately $347,000 which the late Charles R. Street of Chicago obtained from fire insurance companies in connection with the rate case.

Charges in Indictment

The indictment charged Pendergast reported a net income of $87,840 for the calendar year 1936 and paid tax on $25,481 while his real net income was $347,365 upon which $195,682 was owed.

It charged he paid only $464 on a reported 1935 income of $14,811, although he owed a $15,567 tax on a net income of $69,811.

One of the items of income listed by the government for 1936 was $24,485 from Pendergast's racing stable.

Maurice M. Milligan, United States district attorney who directed the investigation, said the indictments were of a preliminary character and that the grand jury would proceed in further investigations that might disclose other startling things in the next few weeks.

Burczyk Named to Industrial Body

Heil Appoints Milwaukeean to Succeed Miss Mabel Griswold

Madison —(AP)— Governor Heil today appointed Harry J. Burczyk, 36, assistant city attorney of Milwaukee, as a member of the state industrial commission to succeed Miss Mabel Griswold, Madison.

Miss Griswold, who was a secretary to former Governor Philip LaFollette was named to fill a vacancy on the commission just before the expiration of LaFollette's term in 1938. Her name had not been submitted to the state senate for confirmation.

Governor Heil will present Burczyk's nomination for confirmation when the senate reconvenes next week. He was appointed for the term ending June 30, 1941.

Other members of the commission are Chairman Voyta Wrabetz of Madison and Harry McLogan of Milwaukee.

Wrabetz's term expired in 1935 and he continued to serve for two years because no successor had been appointed. In 1937 he was named to succeed Peter A. Napieczinski of Milwaukee, whose term expired that year, thus creating a vacancy. Wrabetz began a new six year term in 1937.

Dr. F. B. Snyder Will Head Northwestern U

Evanston Ill. — (AP)—Dr. Franklyn Bliss Snyder 54, vice president and dean of faculties at Northwestern university, will become the school's president next September.

His appointment to succeed Dr. Walter Dill Scott was announced last night by the university board of trustees. Dr. Scott, head of Northwestern since 1920, will become president-emeritus in September.

The trustees said Dr. Snyder was "progressive and sound" and that his selection "brings deserved recognition to one of the university's own faculty members."

Manslaughter Charge In Fatal Accident

Milwaukee —(AP)— A manslaughter warrant was issued today for Erwin Marshall, 24, accused of driving the automobile which fatally injured Reinhold Manske, 74, at a street intersection last night. Manske, who suffered fractures of the skull and left hip, died two hours after the accident.

No Economy at U. S. Capital, Borah Asserts

Says Only Exception Is 'Where Men, Women Ask Food, Shelter'

BACKS RELIEF PLAN

Idaho Senator Will Vote For $150,000,000 Emergency Fund

Washington —(AP)— Asserting that there is "no sign of economy at Washington except where distressed men and women are asking for food and shelter," Senator Borah (R-Idaho) announced today that he intended to vote for a $150,000,000 emergency WPA appropriation.

"I am told an agreement has been reached which satisfies the administration," Borah told reporters. "I am not voting for or against the administration. I am voting for millions of American men, women and children."

Supporters of an amendment by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to increase to $150,000,000 the $100,000,000 appropriation approved previously by the senate appropriations committee and the house, hailed Borah's aid.

Session Saturday

Democratic leaders, confronted by prolonged speechmaking on the relief bill, scheduled a Saturday session in an effort to reach a vote this week.

Administration followers, anti-administration Democrats and Republicans generally had agreed on the $100,000,000 allotment—the sum approved by the house—in an effort to avoid controversy and speed senate action.

A half-dozen senators agreed today to speak in behalf of Pepper's proposal, however, and Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, said he would call the senate to meet tomorrow to pass the bill.

Senator Mead (D-N. Y.) led off speechmaking for the Pepper forces today, reiterating his contention of yesterday that government efforts to economize between 1930 and 1932 had brought on a disastrous deflation.

Local Preference Rapped in Report

Group Would Repeal Laws Restricting Awarding of Contracts

Chicago —(AP)— Repeal of state laws giving local preference in state contracts and institutions was recommended today by the committee of commerce and industry in a report prepared for presentation to the national conference on interstate trade barriers.

The conference is sponsored by the Council of State Governments.

The committee voiced strong disapproval, with some exceptions, to laws giving preference to state materials in contracts for state public works, state products for use in state institutions, state labor on state contract work, and to local printers on all state printing.

This preference, the committee said, "has resulted in the building up of local monopolies, higher costs, unfriendly feeling," and "has definitely promoted retaliatory legislation."

The group exempted state laws giving preference to state labor on state contracts if the definite purpose was to relieve unemployment within the state.

An agricultural subcommittee recommended that states adopt uniform minimum standards and reciprocal agreements on milk sanitation regulations.

Non-discriminatory legislation to include out-of-state truck registration at nominal fees over and above regular registration fees and taxes, and requiring reasonable bond to protect farmers, dealers and consumers from danger by fraud was recommended by an agricultural subcommittee on trucking.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

Chicago—(AP)—Mrs. Lenice Oettiker Beck, 50, plunged to her death today from a window of her thirteenth floor apartment in the fashionable Cloiseters hotel on the south side.

G-Men Slay Desperado Wanted In Kidnapings, Bank Holdups; Search for 'Gun-Girl' Wife

St. Louis — (AP) — Federal agents who shot down bandit Benny Dickson as he grabbed for his guns searched all known hideouts today for his pretty, blonde gun-girl wife, Estelle.

"We got Dickson, we'll get her," commented one.

"Estelle Dickson is wanted just as badly as her husband was," declared Gerald B. Norris, chief of the St. Louis office of the federal bureau of investigation.

The Dicksons—always traveling together and heavily armed, were wanted for three kidnapings, two bank robberies and car theft.

Officers expressed belief Dickson's 17-year-old wife still is in this area.

A lock of blonde hair, probably Estelle's, was in the desperado's pocket last night when two bullets ripped the fight and the life out of him.

A mysterious "woman in brown" apparently led the 27-year-old fugitive into the federal agent's trap, a small restaurant in the outlying business district.

The black-haired mystery woman entered the cafe a moment before Dickson, Miss Gloria Cambron, a waitress, related. She said the woman definitely was not Mrs. Dickson.

"Then the man came in, the one who was shot," Miss Cambron said.

"He sat down beside her. They stayed only a few minutes and then

Both Sides Claim Victory As Albanian Army Fights To Halt Italian Invasion

Rome Says Resistance at Durazzo 'Immediately Broken'

'MISRULE' CHARGED

Fascist Paper Asserts 'Albanian Patriots' Invited Action

Rome —(AP)— Italian troops landed at four points along the Albanian coast at dawn today ostensibly because of Albanian hostility to negotiation of a closer alliance with Italy.

The Italian government said the Albanians made their only resistance at Durazzo, seaport near the capital, Tirana, but that it was "immediately broken."

Italian troops landed at Santi Quaranta, near the Greek frontier, at Valona on the southern coast; at Durazzo, along the central coast near Tirana, and at San Giovanni di Medua, on the northern coast near the Yugoslav frontier.

"There was no resistance worthy of particular notice except at Durazzo where attempted resistance by bands was immediately broken. From Durazzo our troops started the march toward the interior," the government said.

Virginio Gayda, authoritative fascist editor, declared "Albanian patriots" had called for Italy's intervention to end misrule by King Zog.

Calls Zog Despot

Gayda attacked Zog as a despot who had misappropriated for his personal use Italian loans to the Albanian government.

Gayda's article in the newspaper Il Giornale d' Italia was regarded by foreign observers as having government inspiration.

Gayda, who frequently speaks for Mussolini, asserted King Zog had asked Italy "for new aid and protection and the sending of troops to garrison some points of Albania.

"But at the last hour the Italian government was able to ascertain that its military forces would have served only for a foolish attack of the king on the Yugoslav border toward Kosovo with the evident aim of disturbing the quiet and cordial relations of collaboration between Italy and Yugoslavia."

Gayda said Italy's refusal of Zog's request caused "violent resentment" on the part of the king and his fol-

Aged Man Hurt in Accident Is Dead

Traffic Fatality Is Second In City, Fourth in County This Year

Henry Warnecke, 81, who was injured in a traffic accident at the corner of Morrison street and Wisconsin avenue on March 29, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The death is the second traffic fatality of the city and the fourth in Outagamie county this year.

Warnecke was injured in an accident involving a car driven by James Seekins, 23, 424 E. South River street, about 8:45 in the evening. He received a broken leg and lacerations and suffered from shock. The victim was walking north on Morrison street and was crossing the intersection while Seekins was driving east on Wisconsin avenue when the accident occurred, according to police.

Warnecke made his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Denil, 314 E. Randall street. The body will be taken to Peshtigo for burial the first part of next week and will be at the Brettschneider Funeral home until that time.

Ashe Confers With Governor: May be Offered New Post

Madison —(AP)— William F. Ashe, Kaukauna, who has been mentioned as a possible choice to head the state division of departmental research created by the present legislature, conferred yesterday with Governor Heil.

The executive office declined comment on the outcome of the conference.

Ashe was director of the state department of commerce, which was established by the special session of 1937 and abolished by the present legislature.

The bill for a research division within the governor's office to study the possibilities of departmental consolidations and economics, received final legislative approval before the 10-day recess on March 31, but because of the adjournment will not reach the governor's desk until next week. Both houses will reconvene April 10.

Governor Heil, it is expected, will sign the bill soon after it is presented to him. He will appoint the director, who will have power to hire such employes as he needs. The division will have authority to conduct private or public hearings and will make its recommendations for any reorganization changes direct to the governor. The governor, in turn, will submit his recommendations to the legislature.

PREMIER DIES

Sydney, Australia—(AP)—Joseph A. Lyons (above), prime minister of the Australian commonwealth for eight years, died today of a heart attack which physicians said was brought on by "excessive mental strain and great responsibility." The 59-year-old executive had been ill since Wednesday, when he went to a hospital suffering from a severe chill.

Sir Earle Christmas Grafton Page was sworn in as prime minister and the oath of office was administered to his cabinet—the same as that under Lyons. Sir Earle had been deputy prime minister.

$50,000 Loss as Fire Threatens Green Bay Area

All Equipment in City Fights Blaze Over Hour Before Checking It

Green Bay—(AP)—All available fire department equipment and both shifts of city fire-fighters battled a blaze which for more than an hour today threatened part of Green Bay's downtown business district and caused damage estimated at more than $50,000 to the three-story Gordon Bent building.

Guests at the Beaumont hotel across the street were routed from their beds when smoke and flames were carried toward the building but firemen poured 10 streams of water on the blaze and confined it to the Bent structure.

W. A. Stewart, a chiropractor occupying an apartment in the building, was aroused by a taxi driver who discovered the fire a few moments before flames burst through the roof.

Origin Unknown

Firemen said the blaze, of undetermined origin, started in the second floor stock room of the Gordon Bent Sporting Goods store. Flames swept through the third floor and attic before an alarm was turned in.

The fire was brought under control at 5 o'clock a. m. but not before the second and third floors were burned out. Lines and equipment of the Postal Telegraph company, situated on the first floor, were put out of commission and temporary quarters were established in a nearby building.

The Bent company suffered heaviest losses. The Moose lodge clubrooms on the third floor, redecorated and refurnished in preparation to entertain the state convention this summer, were ruined.

A tavern on the ground floor and several office tenants suffered smoke and water damage.

Milk Pool Decides To Withdraw From Agriculture Council

Oshkosh—(AP)—Harry Jack, president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, announced today that because of a "division" of opinion among members the pool had decided to withdraw from membership in the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture.

He said directors had voted to discontinue membership at a meeting held here last March 27 but they had not seen fit to make the announcement until today.

Asked to comment on the withdrawal, Jack referred to minutes of the March 27 meeting which said:

"Directors were of the opinion that because of a division among pool members on labor viewpoints and membership benefits obtained by being associated with the council, that the polo organization should withdraw."

The pool, a farm marketing organization with a large membership in northern and central Wisconsin, applied for membership in the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture July 23, 1938.

Since August of last year it has been represented on the council by Jack and by H. F. Dries, pool secretary.

Hull, Roosevelt Study Effects of Mussolini's Move

Secretary of State Gives President Data on Developments

Washington—(AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) the majority leader, ventured this prediction today: "Unless a new crisis breaks out in Europe, congress will adjourn by June 15."

Rome—(AP)—United States Ambassador William Phillips called today on Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, to ask for information concerning Italy's invasion of Albania. The embassy said the ambassador made the visit on his own initiative.

Washington—(AP)— Secretary Hull telephoned President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., today and talked to him at great length on the situation created by Italy's invasion of Albania.

The telephone call, the second in 12 hours, dealt with possible effects on relations of the United States with both countries.

Hull communicated to the president all the information the state department had received on the Italo-Albanian situation from a half-dozen European capitals.

The American problems involved are these:

Is Mussolini's march into Albania a violation of the Kellogg anti-war pact and should it therefore be denounced as such by this government?

How will American diplomatic representation at Tirana, Albania, be affected, if Italy makes an actual protectorate of the little country?

Minister Konitza of Albania has an appointment to see Secretary Hull this afternoon.

Seeking Reason

Since legations are maintained only with independent countries, the status of the legation of Tirana might have to be changed.

Officials were at a loss in finding the exact reason to explain Mussolini's invasion of Albania. These, however, were among the hypotheses:

1. Mussolini may be seeking to prevent Yugoslavia and the south Balkan nations from joining the "stop Hitler" movement.

2. He may have been having financial and political difficulties with King Zog.

3. He might have desired to show his own people a new acquisition for Italy at a time when Hitler, his partner in the Rome-Berlin axis, has made a series of acquisitions.

4. Hitler and Mussolini might have sought to throw Europe into confusion at a moment when Britain was seeking to line up a number of nations in a "stop Hitler" movement.

Generally, diplomatic observers here do not believe that the incident will have grave repercussions on Europe.

5 Killed in Car-Train Collision Near Detroit

Detroit—(AP)—Five Detroiters were killed by a Pere Marquette passenger train last night as they were driving home from visiting a relative in a hospital. The accident occurred at Evergreen road, on the west edge of Detroit.

The victims were: Mrs. Minnie Mae McAllister, 39, a widow; her daughter, Mrs. Erline Miller, 17, a bride of two months; Mrs. Mary White, 73, mother of Mrs. McAllister; Robert Cawthon, nephew of Mrs. McAllister, and Miss Lorraine Watts, 20.

The bodies were identified by Charles Miller 19, automobile factory worker and husband of one victim. He was at work when the accident happened.

Subcommittee Fails To Trace Source of 'Leak' to Newspapers

Washington —(AP)— A house judiciary subcommittee tried and failed today to find out from newspaper men the source of a "leak" on another subcommittee's report recommending exoneration of Secretary Perkins on impeachment charges.

Donald A. Young obtained the story for the Associated Press on March 22. New agencies carried a similar story later the same day.

Young and John R. Beal of the United Press were questioned today on how they obtained the story. Each said he could not reveal the confidential source of his information.

Chairman Barnes (D-Ill.) said the subcommittee had been appointed to investigate the manner in which the press obtained the story on the Perkins report in advance of action by the full judiciary committee. He said members felt they were under a "cloud" and that "aspersions" had been cast on them because of the leak.

Tirana Reports Mussolini Forces Repulsed 4 Times

PEACE PARLEYS

Valona and Saint Joan Reported Afire After Attacks

Tirana, Albania —(AP)— An Italian army of 25,000 men gained possession of at least three towns in a bitterly-contested invasion of Albania today.

Official Albanian reports said Italians, who used warplanes and warship guns for heavy shelling, were repulsed four times with heavy losses.

It was disclosed, however, that the Italians had gained Durazzo, Santi Quaranta and San Giovanni di Medua. San Giovanni and Valona were reported afire.

Tirana, Albania—(AP)—Official Albanian reports said today that Italians invading Albanian soil were repulsed four times with heavy losses.

The official reports said Valona was bombarded from the sea and air and was burning but that the Italians had been unable to land at that port city.

It was stated, however, that the Italians had occupied Sarana, at the southern tip close to the frontier with Greece, and Saint Joan. Saint Joan was said to be burning.

The Italians were said to have advanced inland 10 miles from Saint Joan and to have been stopped after that advance.

It was reported here that the Italian commander at Durazzo, where his forces landed on the beach, proposed a truce to save bloodshed. This evidently was not accepted.

Planes Drop Pamphlets

Italian bombers flew continuously over Tirana, the capital, dropping proclamations.

Peace negotiations were reported under way at noon by a delegation which, a well-informed source said, went to Durazzo to arrange an end to hostilities. The informant said Italy accepted "Albanian counter-proposals."

The cabinet was summoned to the royal palace. There were reports Albania rejected an Italian ultimatum, its nature undisclosed.

Economics Minister Rrok Gera and Colonel Sami Koka of the Albanian army were said to have headed the delegation to Durazzo, accompanied by Colonel Gabrielli, military attache of the Italian legation.

"Blood in Streams"

Albanians said this morning that "blood is flowing in streams at Asingjini."

Seven Italian bombing planes appeared over this capital city this morning. Many of the inhabitants fled to the hills in fear of attack.

The planes dropped pamphlets warning that resistance would be followed by "severe military measures," to carry out the Italian desire of closer cooperation from Albania in economic and military ties.

EMBASSY'S STATEMENT

London—(AP)—The Italian embassy in London issued a statement today saying Italian troops would be withdrawn from Albania "as soon as the recent disturbances are terminated."

The Italian spokesman said occupation of Albania—which British officials consider a breach of the Anglo-Italian agreement guaranteeing the status quo in the Mediterranean—was only temporary.

He denied that Italians had met resistance from the regular Albanian army.

"According to information reaching London," the spokesman declared in a statement," Italian troops landed at four points on the Albanian coast today and met with slight resistance from Albanian tr-

Queen and Infant Son Reported in Greece

Athens, Greece— (AP)— Unconfirmed reports received here today said Queen Geraldine, Albania, wife of King Zog, had crossed the Greek frontier for safety. Presumably her two-day-old son was with her.

News of the Italian invasion of Albania, Greece's strategic northwestern neighbor, alarmed and surprised Athens. Well-informed quarters said the government was watching the situation closely.

Would Prohibit Bands To Keep U. S. at Peace

Washington—(AP)— Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) believes he knows a way to keep America out of war. He would legislate all brass bands out of existence.

"Every time I see a parade and hear a band play," Vandenberg told reporters with a grin, "I'm not sure that I want neutrality legislation after all."

Martin Booed as He Tries to Make Scheduled Speech

'Martin Is a Traitor,' Hecklers Shout at South Bend Meeting

South Bend, Ind.— (AP)— Shouts, boos and chants of "Martin is a traitor" prevented Homer Martin, president of an independent faction of the United Automobile Workers of America, from making a scheduled address at an open meeting here last night, but he said today he would return "next week" to speak at "a closed meeting."

Martin, elected president of U.A.W.A. three years ago in South Bend, a CIO stronghold, announced he would see William Green, American Federation of Labor president, in Washington "this week-end" in an effort to get his faction affiliated with the A. F. of L.

He tried more than an hour to get the attention of approximately 700 persons who crowded into the city's largest ballroom, but the heckling did not subside until he left the platform. At one time during the booing, an American flag was brought to the front in an apparent effort to remind the audience of the right of free speech.

Give Nazi Salute

Some hecklers shouted "Heil, Hitler" and gave Martin the nazi salute. He gestured back mockingly with the communist clenched fist.

Russell Bedwell, South Bend industrial council president, said 47 persons who went to the platform to shake hands with Martin would be "suspended from their locals."

Both Studebaker and Bendix locals of U.A.W.A. here are on record as opposed to Martin. His followers, however, contend 65 per cent of the membership would follow him if given the opportunity.

Martin gave his prepared speech to reporters in the form of an interview. He alleged the CIO-U.A.W.A. "is dominated completely" by communists.

Clean-Up Drive to Be Jace Project

Annual Spring Campaign Will be Held in City April 17-22

The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, and plant-up campaign in Appleton April 17-22, officials of the organization announced today.

Ludwig J. Schink and Rolland Nock are co-chairmen for the spring drive, aimed at encouraging residents to improve the appearances of their homes and yards and to begin work on gardens.

Schink, one of the co-chairmen, pointed out today that the campaign is a concerted action for community cleanliness, health, safety, beautification, and better living. Cooperation in the drive by Appleton people will mean added protection against disease, accidents, fire, and depreciation.

The Appleton office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service is ready to cooperate in the campaign by assisting residents in finding workers for clean-up and paint-up activities. F. R. Gehrke, manager, has reported that his office has contact with a number of men and women available for this type of employment.

Tavern at Village Destroyed by Fire

Firemen Unable to Control Blaze in Combined Locks Building

Combined Locks—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Spyro Gustas tavern, owned by the George Walter Brewing company, Appleton, about 8 o'clock last night. Most of the tavern fixtures and furnishings and household goods were destroyed.

The Combined Locks fire department fought the blaze unsuccessfully for hours, and then turned attention to protecting three nearby buildings. The volunteer firemen remained at the scene throughout the night.

It is believed the fire may have started in a washroom and the flames soon spread between the walls, making it impossible for firemen to bring them under control.

Auto, Truck Damaged In Minor Collision

An automobile and truck were damaged in a minor traffic accident about 10:45 yesterday morning on W. Harris street. The car was driven by R. E. DeLong, 613 E. Pacific street, and the truck by Leland Valentine, Freedom. Both were traveling east at the time, according to police. The car was damaged about the rear end and the truck about the front end.

Calls Meeting to Give Oaths to Candidates

Carl J. Becher, city clerk, said today he will call a meeting of all candidates elected by voters Tuesday to administer the oath of office. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in city hall. All elected officers must take the oath of office within 10 days after election.

Appleton's Bicycle Safety Film Will be Shown at State Meet

"Handle Bar Hazards," Appleton's bicycle safety film, will be shown at the state safety conference at Stevens Point Thursday, April 12, according to Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police bicycle bureau.

Members of the Outagamie County Safety council are expected to attend the 1-day conference. Governor Julius P. Heil will present plaques to the cities leading in safety last year.

Among the speakers are William E. O'Brien of the state highway commission; H. O. Elken, Green Bay Vocational school director; William C. Knoelk, president of the Milwaukee City Safety council; and Captain Frank T. Corcoran of the Minneapolis Highway patrol.

Appleton Utility Earns $73,984 in 1938 Net Income

City's Equity Is $59,752 For Year; Surplus Totals $4,154

The Appleton Water utility during 1938 earned a net income of $73,984.45 compared to $72,385.07 the previous year, according to the annual report filed in city hall.

The utility paid the city $59,752.80, the 5 per cent dividend on the city's equity in the plant, placed $10,077.42 in the sinking fund and declared a surplus of $4,154.23. All are increases except the sinking fund appropriation, which is smaller by about $3,500. The dividend boost amounts to about $1,600 over the previous year and the surplus compares to $136.96 in 1937.

Arthur Dimick, assistant commission secretary, said in his report to the city that water consumption during the year dropped about 27,561,800 gallons. The decrease in pumpage however was not reflected in reduced revenues because of fewer leaks in the system and a higher percentage of water accounted for through the testing of meters after they had registered 100,000 cubic feet.

Decrease Expenses

Operations in 1938, he said, were marked by a general decrease in expenses. The cost of pumpage was lower because of the decreased consumption and the distribution cost was down about $3,500 because of the fewer leaks in the system. Summing up, he reported that the decreases in expenses more than offset the increases in taxes and other items.

The value of the property and plant grew from $1,429,851 in 1937 to $1,446,721 at the end of 1938 while the city's equity in the plant increased about $14,000 going from $1,052,601 to $1,066,576. The utility has $289,300 invested in bonds and an unemployment insurance funds of $796.

Residential and commercial sales showed slight drops during the year, the residential sales totaling $72,016 and the commercial, $13,820. Industrial sales totaled $11,681 which was an increase of about $100 over the previous year. The commission received $49.355 for hydrant rental from the city and $3,372 from municipal departments. Sprinkling and flushing earnings amounted to $483 while miscellaneous earnings were $1,308, all about the same as in 1937.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses including purification, pumping, distribution, retirement costs and taxes amounted to $85,673 in 1938 compared to $90,784 during the previous year. Net operating revenues increased $4,500 over the previous year. Taxes were $15,705.

Total consumption during the year was about 767 million gallons of which about 524 million gallons was metered. The average daily consumption was 2,103,800 gallons. According to figures compiled in the report each Appleton consumer used about 297 gallons.

New Water Mains

The distribution department installed 7,532 feet of new water mains during the year all of which either was six or eight inch pipe. There were replacements of old pipe lines totaling 547 feet leaving a total of 74.2 miles of water main in service at the end of the year.

During the year 160 new meters were placed in service and 619 meters were removed and tested for various causes. Six new hydrants were added to the system and several old 4-inch hydrants were replaced.

The only major improvement made at the pumping station during the year was the replacement of sand and gravel in one of the filters with new materials. A new chlorine line was installed so that ton chlorine cylinders could be used.

PICK CHICAGO GIRL AS "GLORIFIED AMERICAN CHILD"

A jury of artists in Hollywood picked Concetta Ribaudo, 12, of Chicago, as the girl who most resembled a composite painting of Deanna Durbin, Bonita Granville, Shirley Temple and Edith Fellows, and then named her Eleanor Franklin, in honor of the Roosevelts. Concetta is shown at right posing beside the picture.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

Encirclement and Blockade

Though the events are complicated and the speeches of the statesmen confusing, the European situation can, I think, be understood if one can find the right answer to two questions:

The first question is this: Why did Hitler follow up the conquest of Czecho-Slovakia by immediate threats against Rumania and Poland? Neither of these two countries, least of all Poland, has been anti-Nazi. Both are fiercely anti-Communist. Neither has had any effective alliance with France. Poland has had a very good understanding with Hitler's regime, and it participated in the dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia. Danzig, though nominally independent, is actually governed by the Nazis, and the Corridor has not until very recently been treated by the Nazis as one of their great grievances. Yet Hitler has judged it to be necessary and desirable to challenge the Poles.

The second question is this: Why has the British government reacted so much more strongly against the challenge to Poland and Rumania than it did against the dismemberment and total subjugation of the Czechs? Why has Great Brfitain, which was until recently so reluctant to enter a full military alliance even with France, become so suddenly ready to make a military alliance with any and every nation that can be persuaded to join the coalition?

Wants Resources to Defy British Blockade

There is, it seems to me, only one hypothesis which answers these two questions, and makes intelligible all the other known facts in this extraordinary situation. It is that Hitler's swift moves in eastern Europe are an effort to obtain control of the resources with which to defy a British blockade; it is that Mr. Chamberlain's spectacular countermoves are an effort to establish a military line somewhere in eastern Europe which would make effective a British blockade.

For Hitler and Mr. Chamberlain alike the issue in the diplomatic struggle in eastern Europe is whether British sea power is to continue to be an effective defense against the Nazi army and air force. With eastern Europe in his hands and with Russia neutralized and perhaps even complacent, Hitler can challenge Great Britain and defy the blockade for so long a time that he might even win the war. If there were no eastern front, there would in fact be no blockade, and the largest weapon that the British possess, their navy, would have been canceled out. Therefore, it is to make their navy effective that the British now feel called upon at any cost to re-establish an eastern front.

The fact that Hitler has moved so quickly and by such violent means to obtain military control of eastern Europe has undoubtedly been interpreted in London as meaning that he intends to challenge Great Britain in the next few months. If Hitler were merely constructing an empire, he would obtain greater and more enduring results by proceeding more deliberately.

The fact that he has chosen the method of military conquest rather than of penetration and propaganda and gradual pressure, must be taken to mean that he has immediate need of the supplies with which to neutralize the threat of a British blockade. Then if he confronts Great Britain, he might be able to compel a surrender because Britain had lost her most effective weapon.

Hitler spoke on Saturday about denouncing the Anglo-German naval treaty. That is an empty gesture because he can never outbuild the British Navy. But if he can hold eastern Europe and get at the Russian materials, he will have spiked the guns of the British navy. Then he can cash in on the superiority of his air force and the offensive power of his army. And then he might dictate a settlement not on the battlefield, but once more at Munich.

British Blockade Would Defeat Germany

The key to the situation is whether or not the British can impose a blockade. One might say that last year's crisis was dominated by the threat of German air raids, and this present crisis is dominated by the threat of a British blockade. The Nazi name for the blockade is "encirclement"; their anger at Mr. Chamberlain and at Britain comes from their knowledge that if the blockade is ever enforced, it will certainly defeat them. It defeated them in 1914-'18; it would defeat them even more quickly today, for Germany has far fewer reserves today than she had in 1914.

The realization of this fact explains the willingness, the eagerness of Great Britain and France to give military guaranties in eastern Europe. For how would Great Britain and France give military assistance to Poland and Rumania? They cannot send an army to eastern Europe. They will not be foolish enough to kill a million men trying to break through the German fortifications. The meaning of their guaranty is, in the last analysis, that if Hitler attacks, they will blockade Germany, and compel Germany to exhaust herself trying to break out of the blockade.

What the British and the French are saying to Poland and Rumania and Russia is that if these countries do not resist, they will be dismembered and subjugated. If they do resist, they may be fiercely attacked. But as long as they maintain a front somewhere which closes the blockade Germany cannot win, and therefore, they will survive as independent nations.

What the British and French are saying to themselves is that if there is no eastern front, then the western front is dangerously vulnerable. Therefore, they must take whatever risks are involved in order to create an eastern front. They are considerable. But Mr. Chamberlain has, it would seem, become convinced that the risk of not creating an eastern front is much greater still. He is a prudent man, and he has chosen what he must regard as the lesser risk. He has chosen to do whatever is necessary to keep effective Britain's ancient power to defeat her enemies by blockading them.

State Helps Co-op Get New Members

Truck Farmers Being Organized to Stimulate Their Markets

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A representative of the state department of agriculture and markets is assisting the newly formed Wisconsin Vegetable Growers cooperative in making contacts among Wisconsin truck farming groups, W. L. Witte of the department said here today.

The new cooperative was recently formed with Tom O'Connor of Clintonville as president. O'Connor is a director of the Outagamie County Cabbage Growers group, which also extends into Waupaca, Shawano and Calumet counties. Since that organization initiated the formation of the state federation, other groups have joined, including cabbage growers in Racine, Kenosha, Milwaukee, Brown and Oconto counties

The federation was organized to promote better grading, marketing and growing methods among Wisconsin truck gardeners, who last year received $11,000,000 of Wisconsin's total agricultural income, exclusive of a $6,000,000 income of the pea industry.

The group will promote rigid inspection, culling and grading, in order to gain a better reputation among dealers and buyers for Wisconsin truck produce at home and abroad, according to the early announcement of the organizers. The federation is open to any cooperative group in the state.

According to O'Connor, the Wisconsin potato situation is particularly bad, and calls for an intensive grading and inspection program.

"The dealers are not as interested in buying Wisconsin potatoes as they should be and would be if they could depend on the grade, so they are buying in Idaho, Michigan and Minnesota."

Movie Companies Pay Major Part Of Big Salaries

Louis B. Mayer Tops List In Income Tax Reports for 1937

Washington—(AP)—The biggest corporation salary paid in 1937, congress learned today, was the $1,161,753 which Louis B. Mayer, the movie producer, drew as production executive of Loew's, Inc.

Compared with that sum, the $16,587 which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt received as a columnist for United States Features syndicate was a trifle. Her distant cousin, Kermit Roosevelt, got $16,585—just $2 less—as vice president of the United States lines.

The treasury gave congress—and the curious—a glimpse of the nation's big pay checks by sending to the capitol a 1,132-page report listing nearly 50,000 persons who were paid $15,000 or more by corporations. Congress has revised the law requiring the report, and next year's list will be limited to salaries of $75,000 and up.

Most of the payments, which include not only salaries but also such other compensation as bonuses and commissions, were made in 1937. Since some firms operate on a fiscal instead of a calendar year basis, some salaries were reported for 1936 and 1937.

Film Company Payments

In some cases, too, the amounts listed do not represent net earnings because the recipients have to pay business expenses out of their compensation.

The list showed that movie companies paid 40 of the 63 salaries of $200,000 or more. Many stars got more than their bosses.

Loew's, Inc., gave the second biggest sum, $651,123, to J. Robert Rubin, vice president, and the fourth largest, $489,602, to N. M. Schenck, president.

Besides his huge salary from that company, Louis B. Mayer got another $134,750 as vice president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation.

Third on the list was William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, who received $500,000 in 1936 and again in 1937 as president and director of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

Garbo Paid $472,499

The amusement field supplied three of the four salaries in the $400,000 class. Greta Garbo, the movie star, was paid $472,499 by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Major Edward Bowes of radio renown received $427,817 as executive director of Edmar Enterprises, Inc., and N. M. Schenck $489,602 as president of Loew's, Inc.

Right behind them came Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Business Machine corporation of New York, with $419,398.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer paid 240 persons $15,000 or more, while 195 employes and officers of E. I. Dupont de Nemours company of Wilmington, Del., and 167 of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York were in the $15,000 class.

Outside the movies, few women were among the topnotchers. The highest paid star of the Metropolitan Opera association was Kirsten Flagstad, who received $39,000. She got another $20,000 from Paramount Pictures.

Katharine Cornell of the stage was worth $58,717 to C. and M. C. Productions, while Lynn Fontanne and her husband, Alfred Lunt, pocketed $99,674 and $101,564, respectively, from the New York Theater Guild.

Ohio Salaries

The desire of women to become or remain beautiful of face and figure resulted in a $50,000 salary for Lillian S. Dodge of New York as president of Harriet Hubbard Ayer, Inc., and $70,075 for Blanche R. Green of Hamden, Conn., president of Spencer Corset company.

Money that went up in smoke helped the $380,976 salary of George W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company.

The biggest salary in the steel business was the $394,586 which the Bethlehem Steel company paid E. G. Grace, president. Myron C. Taylor, chairman of United States Steel, received $167,662.

The automobile industry supplied $247,210 to William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors; $146,056 to Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, and $189,136 to Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the Chrysler Corporation. G. W. Mason of Detroit, president of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, was paid $233,957.

Believe It or Not, Robert L. Ripley, cartoonist, received $149,777 from King Features Syndicate. Walter P. Winchell, the columnist, was paid $51,699 by the New York Daily Mirror.

A pair of former heavyweight boxing champions still are in the money. James J. Braddock was on the list for $51,983 and Jack Dempsey for $31,246.

F. D. Coster of Fairfield, Conn., who killed himself last year after his identification as Philip Musica, a former convict, was listed for $40,280 as president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc.

Bankers for the most part were not in the salary range of many movie stars and industrialists. Winthrop W. Aldrich got the biggest salary, $175,000, as chairman of the Chase National bank of New York.

The $36,000 Lou Gehrig got from the New York Yankees appeared to be the biggest salary for a baseball player.

he paid both checks and walked beside her to the door."

As Dickson strolled out of the cafe, federal agents closed in.

"We're federal agents; throw up your hands," shouted Norris.

Dickson snatched at two fully-loaded revolvers in his pockets.

The federal agents loosed a hail of slugs and two bullets felled Dickson. The outlaw died en route to a hospital.

Besides the two large-caliber guns, a .45 and .38, police found a large hunting knife at his belt.

Dickson apparently attempted to justify his life of crime with poetry. In his wallet was found a page of closely typewritten, amateurish poetry. The free verse, apparently written by Dickson, explained his peculiar philosophy of accomplishing good things "for life" by doing harm.

A worn newspaper photograph of Adolf Hitler also was in Dickson's wallet.

In killing Dickson, federal agents ended a hunt that had extended over Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, South Dakota and adjoining states.

The Dicksons started their trail of crime after he attacked a driver's license official in Topeka, Kas., in July, 1937.

Bank holdups charged to them were the $2,187 robbery of the Corn Exchange Bank of Elkton, S. D., Aug. 25, 1938, and of the Northwest Security National bank of Brookings, S. D., the following Dec. 1, where they got $17,592.

Dickson, who had been having brushes with the law since he was 17, also was wanted for the kidnaping of Henry Metty and Claude Minnis near Leonidas, Mich., Nov. 28, 1938. The desperado was charged with taking them across the state line into Griffith, Ind., and stealing their automobile.

Commission Idea On Neutrality Is Writer's Proposal

Lawrence Says Body Could Decide on Trading in Time of War

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The more the problems of how to revise the neutrality law is studied by congress, the more difficult is a decision, because nearly everything which relates to Europe nowadays is contingent on what the dictators do or what happens to the democracies.

Lawrence

Within congress are two schools of thought— those who do not care what happens to the British and French democracies and sincerely believe the United States can get along and avoid war even if the British and French are defeated by the dictators, and those who feel that America cannot shut herself off either in trade or otherwise from what is happening now or is likely to happen abroad.

Since nobody can guarantee just what will develop abroad or what contingencies will face the American government, the suggestion has been made again and again that broad discretionary powers be vested in the president of the United States to determine neutrality policy as the occasion requires.

But to entrust such a grave responsibility to one man is considered dangerous, and a substantial number of senators and representatives fear that such a discretionary power may be misused or abused or mistakenly applied even with the best of intentions.

Combine Ideas

So, if the situation is too uncertain to make rules and prescribe a rigid formula and if it is too dangerous to keep the powers vague and let them be exercised by one man, the only other solution is to pass a law which meets all the objections mentioned. This means a combination of both ideas—the discretionary and the check on the discretionary power.

Perhaps the best way to accomplish the desired result lies in having congress create a neutrality commission, composed of six members of the house and six of the senate, and representing equally both political parties, and for the secretary of state and the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy to be members of the commission. If the joint congressional commission is up against a decision as to how the neutrality policy of the United States, as it relates to trade in munitions and supplies, shall be applied, and if congress is not in session, the decision certainly would be that of nine persons instead of one, and these nine would represent all political factions.

If, on the other hand, congress were in session and a majority of both houses disliked the rulings of the neutrality commission, a simple prohibitory resolution would checkmate such action. As for a crisis which might arise when congress is not in session, there is always the prospect that, in response to public demand, the president would call both houses into special session.

Main Objection

The main objection to such a plan as outlined above will be that American trade might be subjected to sudden reversals of policy, but, on the other hand, producers and traders would have ample opportunity to gauge the trend of American sentiment long in advance and determine whether they were taking undue risks. The theory that the United States can be suddenly plunged into war or embarked on a policy which plainly leads to war without public opinion functioning in advance has lately been given a good deal of currency, but it is rather far-fetched and does not square with the facts of history.

The events leading up to American participation in the World war in 1917 were known to the American people and thoroughly debated from 1914 to 1917, and when, as a consequence of wanton attacks on American citizens and their property, the decision arose as to whether to acquiesce or resist, only a handful in either house of congress indicated in advance of the war declaration an objection to the course subsequently followed. In other words, when President Wilson asked for a recognition of a state of war actually begun by Germany, the prevailing sentiment in congress and throughout the country was in favor of resistance against Germany. Diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany were severed on Feb. 3, 1917, in the hope that this would be a warning to Germany and that her submarine warfare campaign would be modified, so that America knew nearly two months in advance of the war declaration—on April 6—just what the implications of national policy happened to be.

ublic Opinion

If a neutrality commission were established—not for the purpose of deciding whether America should go to war, but how much trading should be allowed in time of war—there would be ample opportunity for public opinion to register disapproval if the course being followed seemed to lead toward involvement of the United States in war.

What the dictatorship countries recognize all too well is that democracies are weak and indecisive and that their vitality can be sapped by stirring up all sorts of antagonisms to keep them from acting efficiently in a crisis. To offset this, the democracies will have to find a better formula than constant debate or reliance on the slow process of lawmaking when once a crisis has been reached. The joint commission idea with its bi-partisan angle answers the objections to 1-man government and to the possibility that either party could, for partisan advantage, drag the nation into a policy involving war.

Tribute Grows Out of Furore Over Nego Singer at Capital

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Out of the narrowminded mixture of red tape and prejudice which has kept Marian Anderson, the great Negro contralto, from the concert stage in this capital of democracy is growing as if with divine justice one of the most notable tributes of recognition ever accorded a member of this long-suffering race.

Raymond Clapper

She wasn't allowed to sing in the D.A.R. hall nor in the public school auditoriums. But on Easter Sunday she will sing at the foot of the noble statue of the emancipator of her race, on the steps of Lincoln memorial. Her audience will number millions of high and low. Chief Justice Hughes, and Associate Justice Black, who was charged with membership in the Klan have accepted places of honor on the Lincoln memorial steps to hear her sing. Vice President Garner has been invited to be present but had not, up to this writing, accepted the invitation. However, many other officials will be present. Thousands of Negroes will come from cities throughout the east in pilgrimage for the occasion. The three radio networks will broadcast her voice.

Thus through the actions which denied America's own Marian Anderson the ordinary concert stages here, available at fancy prices to a steady procession of foreign artists, her voice will now be heard by millions who otherwise might have lived out their lives without ever having heard of her.

The nice people who found rules to deny her the hearing that Russians, Germans, Italians, Poles, Jews and all other races of the earth receive on the concert stage in Washington, have unwittingly played into the hands of the professional organizations of Negroes. Walter White, secretary of the national association for the advancement of colored people, the chief lobbyist for the Negro cause, who when in Washington stays at one of the most socially correct hotels, is taking full advantage of the incident to develop race pride. His organization is encouraging Negroes to make the Easter Sunday pilgrimage here.

But the affair has become much larger than Walter White and his organization for the advancement of Negro rights. The administration here has seized upon the affair to demonstrate the tolerance which it is felt properly belongs in a Democratic nation.

The idea for having Marian Anderson sing on the steps of the Lincoln memorial came from a southern-born administration official, Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior. He sold the idea to his chief, Secretary Ickes. The White House is sympathetic, Mrs. Roosevelt having brought the whole affair to national attention by her resignation of protest from the D. A. R.

Chapman's idea of using the Lincoln memorial grew out of an incident in his childhood. He was born in Virginia, and as a lad in grade school had a stern lesson in intolerance. His eighth-grade graduating class had a small fund and wished to give a present to the school. He bought a picture of Lincoln. His teacher was tolerant and accepted the gift.

Color Hasn't Anything to do With Her Ability

But when the children carried word home to their parents, and the news got around, the school board was in a rage. The picture was ordered taken down. Oscar was suspended, but through the intercession of a Methodist Sunday school superintendent who was for that reason allowed on the school board although a Republican, he was restored to class. Bewildered by the angry feelings aroused in the school board, Oscar began to ask questions. From that time he has taken the side of tolerance in every showdown that has come his way.

What does the color of Marian Anderson's skin have to do with her ability as an artist? What is the difference between the nazis driving opera singers off the stage because they are Jewish, and Americans in Washington closing their concert halls to a recognized artist because she is of the Negro race? The difference is this: We don't expect anything better in Germany now. But in Washington we have a shrine for Abraham Lincoln. In the long run, we can be proud that this shrine has been made available for this Easter Sunday gesture of race tolerance. It's the principle of the thing, and it won't even matter much if Marian turns up with laryngitis.

Extension service specialists reported livestock made greater progress in North Carolina during 1938 than in any other year of the last decade.

Proposed Law on Tree Planting Is Read to Council

Aldermen are Expected to Approve Ordinance At Next Session

Kaukauna — Regulation of the planting, care and removal of trees, under the supervision of an official to be known as the City Forester, is provided for in an ordinance read before the common council Wednesady evening. Recommended by the city planning commission, aldermen are expected to approve the measure April 18.

The ordinance provides that except upon order of the forester it shall be unlawful for anyone to remove, destroy, break or injure any tree planted in or growing on any public highway or any public place. If a resident wishes to do work on such trees he must submit an application outlining the changes and receive a written permit.

Owners are required to keep trees trimmed which extend into the public highway, under the supervision of the forester. The lowest branches must be at least 10 feet above the ground. Newly planted trees may be allowed to stand untrimmed if they do not interfere with persons using the sidewalk or obstruct the light of street lamps. If the owner neglects to do the trimming the forester will see that it is done and charge it to the owner.

Must Have Permit

No one may plant a tree in any public place without getting a written permit. The land between sidewalk and curb is considered public highway. The forester will furnish blanks to be filled out describing the variety, size and precise location of each tree, and will then investigate the locality before approving the permit. No charge will be made for the permit. If the planting of more than 25 trees is contemplated the forester may request a planting plan drawn on tracing cloth in ink.

The measure says that trees on public property must not be less than one inch in diameter one foot above the ground; that trees from one to three inches in diameter a foot above the ground must be protected and supported by tree guards; no trees may hereafter be planted at the intersection of two or more streets or within 20 feet of each intersection; stumps must be grubbed out when trees are cut down; trees must be planted at least 40 feet apart unless a special permit is obtained; no tree shall be planted on any street except of the variety selected by the foresters for that street.

The entire cost of protecting, trimming, spraying, planting, renewing and removing of trees and shrubs in front of or on any lot or parcel of land abutting on a street, avenue or boulevard shall be chargeable to and assessed upon such lot or parcels of land.

Violators of the ordinance are liable to a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $10, plus the costs of prosecution, and in default of payment will be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than 10 days.

Electric Utility Now Has 3,387 Customers

Kaukauna — One new customer was added to the electrical department rolls during February, making 3,387 now receiving service, according to the monthly report. Residential sales in the city were $8,133, with commercial sales $18,000. Total revenues were $34,000.

The total investment on February 28 was $798,695, with $3,429 added during the month. Kilowatt hours generated and purchased were 4,268,000.

Rotarians, Lions to Attend Scout Dinner

Kaukauna — A special table will be reserved for Kaukauna's two service clubs, the Rotarians and Lions, at the twelfth annual dinner and meeting of the Boy Scouts of America, valley council, here April 20. The two clubs will not hold regular meetings that week. Other invitations for the affair have been mailed out by the Kaukauna committee, in invitations printed in red, white and blue and mailed out in cardboard tubes.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered

Disorderly Conduct Heads Charge List For March Arrests

Kaukauna — Disorderly conduct was the most common cause for arrest in March, with 5 taken in on that charge, according to the report of James E. McFadden, chief of police. Three were fined on charges of reckless driving, one on a charge of speeding and one for keeping his tavern open after 1 o'clock. Nine summons and two garnishees were served.

Fines levied amounted to $46, with fees totaling $37.20. Of this total $54.60 is pending, with $28.60 paid into the city treasury. Disbursements were $4.40.

Thirty-one street lights were reported out for March.

IN 'BLACKWELL'S ISLAND'

"BLACKWELL'S ISLAND," the Warner Bros. picture opening today at the Appleton Theatre, is based, as the title indicates, upon the prison scandal which amazed New York City several years ago. It gains additional interest from the fact that it presents John Garfield, who came to public attention in his debut as a screen actor in "Four Daughters," and more recently as the star of "They Made Me A Criminal." Also featured are Rosemary Lane and Stanley Fields.

"You Can't Cheat An Honest Man" is the other feature in this gigantic program and stars W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergan and Charlie McCarthy with "Mortimer," and Constance Moore.

Relief Expense Lower in March

Kaukauna—A decrease of $238 in relief expenditures for March under February was reported today by Joseph V. Krahn, relief director Expenses last month were $2,347.60, compared to $2,585 in February and $2,468 in January. At the beginning of April there were 124 receiving relief, compared to 125 on March 1 and 121 on February 1.

Sixteen cases were opened in March and 17 closed. The city is taking care of 33 county charges, making a total of 157 under the supervision of the local department. Reimbursed county expenses for March were $727.

Sixty-three WPA workers with legal settlement in Kaukauna are busy at the new power project Twenty-nine are working on the Strassburg sewer and 6 are employed out of the city. Eighty-nine with county residence are also on the power job, which employs in all 157. Eleven county WPA workers and one non-relief employe make 41 on the sewer, a total of 192 WPA workers busy in Kaukauna.

Eight more have been certified and are waiting assignments, Krahn reported. Three are waiting for further investigation, while 5 have been certified but suspended. Twelve boys and 5 girls are on NYA.

The city relief budget for March is broken down as follows:

Groceries, $564; meat, $81; milk, $158; board and care, $354; rent, $313; clothing, $58; fuel, $367; medical care, $180; drugs, $51; office expense, $39; non-residence, $175; miscellaneous, $3.

Lack of Boron in Soil Is Cause of Cabbage Disease

Characterized by Breakdown of Core, Study Reveals

Madison — Another step has been taken to maintain the high quality of Wisconsin sauerkraut. Three University of Wisconsin investigators, J. C. Walker, J. P. Jolivette, and J. C. McLean have found that the lack of boron in the soil causes a disease of cabbage which has never been identified before as to the boron deficiency.

The investigators report that boron deficiency in cabbage generally results in a disease characterized by a breakdown of the core. Often the presence of the disease is not noticed until the heads are split open. Where the disease is present, it reduces the quality of sauerkraut made from the cabbage, for in kraut manufacture, the core is shredded along with the head.

Walker and his associates are recommending that twenty pounds of borax to the acre be applied to reduce the percentage of diseased plants to a very low figure.

In trials with various other members of the cabbage family, it was found that cauliflower is the most seriously affected by boron deficiency, with 87 per cent of the plants showing disease symptoms. With kale, 27 per cent of the plants were diseased, and Marion Market cabbage, collard, and broccoli were almost as badly affected as kale.

FIREMEN CALLED

Agricultural Industry Has More Than 100 Commodities

Agriculture is commonly regarded as a single industry, but there are more than 100 separate commodities, all more or less competitive, according to the federal bureau of economics in a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

Public attention centers upon the great cotton, corn, and wheat industries. To hundreds of thousands of producers, other products are more important. All are affected by the same broad underlying economic forces but each in differing degree, influenced by the special conditions which may affect individual commodities.

The cash income from all crops combined was $3,160,025,000 in 1938 as compared with $3,845,614,000 in 1937. But within these figures were several industries which had the largest cash income in several years. The cash income from corn (a major crop) was $271,659,000 in 1938 compared with $221,757,000 in 1937. The 1938 figure was the largest since 1940. Principal reasons for the increase in 1938 were the marked increase in sales and the quantity of corn placed under government loan, proceeds are included in the estimate of income.

Peanut Crop

Peanuts were another crop showing larger income in 1938 compared with 1937. The $39,951,000 of income received by producers in 1938 was the largest in several years. The 1937 income was $36,295,000. Principal reasons for the increase in 1938 were increased sales of peanuts and relatively stable prices when compared with 1937.

Soybeans are rapidly increasing in importance as a contributor to farm income and in 1938 yielded a cash income of $31,933,000. This compared with $28,030,000 in 1937. The 1938 income from soybeans was the largest on Government record. The increase in 1938 over 1937 was due principally to the marked increase in output more than offsetting lower prices.

The 1938 cash income from clover seed (red and alsike) totaled $15,664,000 in 1938 compared with $9,862,000 in 1937. Lespedeza seed yielded $5,363,000 of cash income in 1938 compared with $4,757,000 in 1937. The producers of maple sugar and sirup had a cash income of $4,281,000 in 1938 compared with $3,808,000 in 1937, and the growers of sweet sorghum for forage received $2,760,000 compared with $2,112,000 in 1937.

Foreign Strains Of Red Clover Not Suitable in State

Stands Unable to Stand Hard Winters, Heat And Drought

Foreign strains of red clover, except Canadian, have been found generally unsuitable for Wisconsin conditions, according to a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent. Most foreign strains were unable to stand the heat, drought and leaf-hopper infestation of the 1937 summer and as a result they showed sparse stands and were largely overgrown with weeds when fall came.

Counts made in the spring of 1938 by O. S. Aamodt and J. H. Torrie, of the University of Wisconsin, showed the stand of foreign red clover then averaged 69 per cent as much as in the preceding fall, in comparison with 75 per cent for the domestic clovers. Although this is not regarded as a large enough difference to be significant, it is likely that a more severe winter than that of 1937-1938 would have revealed greater differences in hardiness.

The European strains average only 31 per cent as large a yield of dry hay as did American clovers in the first cutting of 1938, and 25 per cent in the second cutting. These large differences, it is explained, were brought about partly by the poorer stands of European varieties, and partly by their less vigorous growth.

Aamodt and Torrie found that one strain from Chile did better than the average of those from Europe, but yielded only 54 per cent as much as domestic clovers. On the other hand, Canadian red clover did very well, comparing favorably with American varieties in both stand and yield.

The state agronomists reported the average yields of cured red clover hay as follows for the seed from different sources: for Canadian, Wisconsin, and the average of all United States seed, about 3 1-3 tons per acre; Hungary, 1 ton; Poland, ⅔ ton; and the average for all European seed, 1 ton.

Charlestown Farmers Adopt Weed Program

Chilton—Farmers in the town of Charlestown at the annual town meeting Tuesday voted to hire a man and provide the equipment for carrying on the war in the eradication of Creeping Jenny. The chemicals used will be charged back to the land owners in proportion to the quantity used.

SILENT PROPELLER

Folsom, Calif.—(AP)—The convict newspaper at Folsom prison has announced that a noiseless propeller invented by an inmate has attracted favorable attention from the war department. The army has written Bob Kersten that he "apparently has a good idea," the paper reported.

Kersten, a World war flyer, said he got his idea while tinkering with an electric fan.

Three Farm Auctions Will be Held Monday

Three farm auctions are scheduled for April 10. One will be held at the George Spay farm three miles south of Sherwood starting at noon. A. L. Schoenike will conduct the sale at the Harvey Herman farm located 3½ miles north of Black Creek and starting at 9:30 in the morning. A. J. Thiel will be in charge of the auction at 12:30 in the afternoon at the Elmer Clune farm a mile southeast of Kaukauna on County Trunk Q. Thiel also will conduct a farm auction at the Henry Dunker farm a mile north of High Cliff at 9:30 Saturday morning

Frank A. Van Veghel will be in charge of an auction at the Ed J. Murphy farm on County Trunk E two miles northeast of Freedom starting at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, April 11. Charles Artz will conduct an auction at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, April 13, at the Nolan farm located 11 miles southwest of Antigo. A. L. Schoenike will hold an auction at the Walter Kluever farm eight miles east of Wausau on the Smith road at 9:30 Friday morning, April 14.

Clarence Peters Buys Town of Freedom Farm

Clarence A. Peters has purchased an 80-acre farm in the town of Freedom from Arthur Graf. The real estate transfer has been filed with Stephen Peeters, Outagamie county register of deeds. The following transfers also have been filed:

J. N. Bechard to Ernest Page et al, part of two lots in the village of Bear Creek.

Joseph Schmidt to Anna Gratzel, half interest in a half acre of land in the village of Combined Locks.

C. J. Selig to Louis Blinder, part of a lot in the Fourth ward, Appleton.

Inez M. Stillman to George J. Ritten, a lot in the Sixth ward, Appleton.

Track Candidates To Begin Outdoor Drills Next Week

37 Aspirants Report to Coach Stacy for Initial Workouts

New London—Thirty-seven boys have turned out for track work at Washington High school this week but unseasonable weather and poor ground conditions have limited the boys largely to conditioning work. A new sand pit has been constructed by the boys while awaiting favorable weather and concentrated practice will get under way next week.

Coach D. N. Stacy plans to organize his squads next week for the first dual meet at Wisconsin Rapids on Saturday, April 15. It will be an indoor affair. A triangular meet is scheduled at Marion April 29 with Waupaca as the third entry. The conference meet will be held at Neenah on May 20 and the state contests at Madison on May 27. The location of the district meet on May 13 is still undecided and the dates of April 22 and May 6 are still open.

Only three lettermen of last year are returning to the squad but they are outstanding in their fields. New records will be sought this year by Douglas Hoier in the high jump and hurdles, and by William Schmidt in the mile and half mile. Marvin Sommers is another miler who earned a letter last year.

Driver Is Fined for Failing to Get Plates

New London — Max Everts, New London, was fined $5 and costs in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers, with an alternative of 20 days in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty of driving a car without 1939 license plates in the city yesterday afternoon. He agreed to pay.

Also arrested by New London police late yesterday afternoon was K. B. Downs, Madison, who paid a fine of $1 and costs for failure to stop at the arterial at S. Pearl street and Beacon avenue. Downs was driving east on Beacon avenue.

New Foot Bridge Will Be Ready for Weekend

New London — Work on the all-important foot bridge over the Wolf river at the end of Smith street progressed rapidly yesterday and is to be completed this evening and ready for pedestrian traffic for the Easter weekend, according to the construction superintendent. New London residents were without the use of the auxiliary bridge for two weeks since the original structure was washed away by the flood waters of the Embarrass and Wolf rivers.

Adopt New Schedule At Northport Church

New London — Services at the Northport Methodist church will begin one hour earlier Sunday afternoons hereafter, with Sunday school at 10 o'clock in the morning, according to the Rev. H. P. Rekstad, pastor. Afternoon services will be held at 2:30. A special offering will be taken up Easter Sunday for the church debt.

Launch Organization of New City-Wide Sport Association

New London—Organization of a community - wide New London Sports association for the general promotion of sports and recreational activities in the city was started at a meeting of 30 sports-minded business and professional men at the American Legion clubhouse last night.

An immediate membership drive was planned by a special organization committee named by D. N. Stacy, high school athletic coach, who has been a strong advocate of such a city organization and acted as chairman at the meeting.

Dr. M. A. Borchardt, W. T. Comstock, E. M. Donner, Lester Werner and Harry Allen were appointed to draw up a declaration of the purposes and aims of the association, and to present the general set-up of the organization before an open meeting at the clubhouse again next Thursday evening, April 13, at 8 o'clock, when the organization will be definitely settled. It is planned to incorporate.

Purpose is Harmony

The purpose of the organization will be to bring all the resources of the community into harmony and cooperation for the promotion of all sports and recreational activities in the city for men, women and children in all walks of life, and to sponsor city teams in various sports to advertise the name of New London about the state.

While the pressing need for the organization is the immediate difficulty of placing two baseball teams in competition this summer, one in the Northern State league and another in the Fox River Valley league, the association will stress local competition in localized activities like softball, tennis, swimming, basketball, hockey, and others. Controlled by a proposed board of eight directors, chosen from the leading men of the community, the association would provide a strong influence to secure improved sports and playground facilities and in general to pep up recreational habits. Pressure on the city administration for completion of the tennis courts at the Hatten Recreational park was cited as one example of its possibilities.

Membership Drive

With such community-minded purposes for encouragement, the promoters hope to enroll everyone in the organization. Industrial and business memberships were set at $5 by the special committee after the meeting last night, with $1 for all other individual memberships. Cards will be issued to paid-up members and certificates of sponsorship will be supplied all business and industrial boosters. A staff will be organized for a concerted membership drive early next week to insure an enthusiastic turnout at next Thursday's meeting.

Business and industry will be encouraged to support the plan for the good of the commmunity and the ultimate benefit to all. The consolidation of all sports interests is intended to eliminate the frequent donations requested of business men for various promotion projects.

The plan will bring New London's two baseball teams under the same management and remove all source of possible friction and a more successful financial season as all receipts and expenses of both will be handled by the one body. It is also planned to use all home talent players on the ball teams, both squads working out together as one and shifting players from one to other as their ability varies.

Begin Play May 7

Both teams are scheduled to open their respective seasons on May 7 and as yet no organization of players has been undertaken. The problem of managers will be a matter for the board of directors of the new association to solve. The grounds at the city athletic park have been reported in good condition for use now and practice is expected to get under way no later than next week.

W. H. Row of Seymour, manager of the Seymour baseball team, was present at the meeting last night and explained a similar set-up which has proven successful at Seymour and urged the group to get strongly behind the proposition.

Since the population of New York City is expected to reach a total of 10,800,000 by 1960, the hospital system must replace 24,300 beds and provide 25,500 new beds within the next 25 years.

Refreshment League

Standings:	W.	L.
Miller High Lifes	26	16
Verifines	25	17
Orange Kists	20	22
Eggers Log Tavern	12	27

New London — Two records fell in the Refreshment league at Prahl's alleys last night when Lester Meshke grooved the maples for a high 245 game and the Miller High Life team totaled a 929 count for team honors. The High Lifes broke into first place, with a week of play remaining, when they gathered two games from Eggers Taverns. Frank Miller's 216 and Carl Ebert's 193 line contributed to the high team mark. Meshke paced the Kists in two wins over the Verifines and his series count of 543 was high.

Black Creek of the Borden league beat Royalton three games in a post-season challenge match last night after the latter had sported the Creekers 75 pins. They took the last game by only three pins, 767 to 770. For the winners Jimmy Graham rolled a 505 series and R. Wolff a 504 count with a 198 game.

40 Voice Chorus Sings For Student Assembly

New London — The Washington High school a cappella chorus of 40 mixed voices entertained the student body with selections at the regular Thursday assembly in the auditorium yesterday afternoon. The numbers they sang will be part of the spring concert scheduled for April 16. They were "Lord of Spirits" by F. A. Reissiger; "O Praise Ye God" by P. I. Tschaikowsky; "An Evening Pastorale" by Ayrton-Shaw; "The Playroom on Parade" by Luvaas. Community singing also was conducted by Miss Mary K. Donohue, director of the chorus.

New London Personals

New London — A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Eberts of this city at Community hospital yesterday morning.

Admitted to Community hospital yesterday were Mrs. Catherine Danks, E. Beacon avenue, and Roy Schmit, route 1, Hortonville.

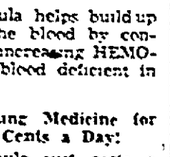

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davidson yesterday moved into an apartment at 608 Dorr street.

SLUGGISH ATTACKS CAUSE OF MUCH PAIN AND DISTRESS

Using Hard, Harsh-Acting Pills—Says Sluggishness Relieved with Muscle-Strengthening LIQUID known as WILLIAMS FORMULA—which Stimulates Removal of Poisons from Sluggish Stomach and Bowels.

MRS. K. KNATZ

WISCONSIN LADY EXPERIENCES RELIEF

Many Prominent Men and Women All Over the United States are writing To Us About Their Amazing Results with Williams Formula. Just a short time ago, Mrs. Katherine Knatz, 2327 North 15th St., Sheboygan, Wis., used This Medicine and Rejoices. Read Carefully Her Statement and Judge For Yourself why this Medicine Has been so Widely Accepted.

AMAZING EXPERIENCE

(Mrs. Katherine Knatz—Resident of Sheboygan, Wis., for 25 years.)

"I have been having attacks with a sluggish stomach and bowels. Some times, certain foods give me much trouble as the food seems to just lay in my stomach and turn sour and I bloat something awful.

"A friend told me about Williams Formula, so I tried it, and I am very glad to say I am feeling a great deal better in many ways. I can eat so many more things now without that bloated feeling, and Williams Formula helps relieve those gassy attacks which enables me to sleep better.

"I have also received considerable benefits from the mild laxative effect of Williams Formula. I am glad to be able to recommend Williams Formula for I know how much relief it gives me."

STOMACH—

Williams Formula acts within a few MINUTES to help relieve acid, burning stomach pains. Many people report wonderful relief from common gas and acid pains.

BOWELS—

One of the many splendid ingredients in Williams Formula is a Pure 100% Vegetable Laxative. No habit-forming drugs whatever—no harsh mineral physics to irritate mucus lining of your bowels. This vegetable laxative will help clear old, decayed waste matter out of BOTH INTESTINES, so you can feel fresher and cleaner inside.

KIDNEYS—

Williams Formula acts as a mild stimulant diuretic to increase the flow of urine and the elimination of waste material from the kidneys.

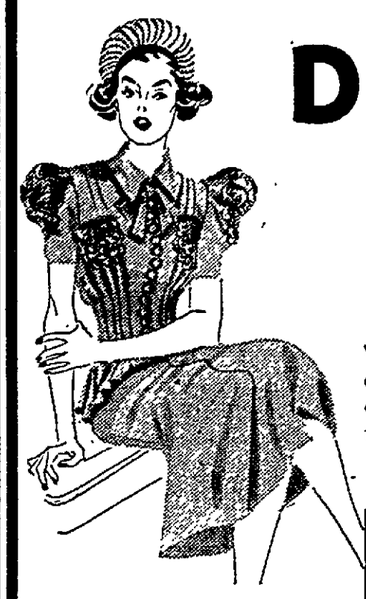

BLOOD—

Williams Formula helps build up the quality of the blood by containing iron for increasing HEMOGLOBIN of the blood deficient in iron.

USE This Amazing Medicine for Just a Few Cents a Day!

Williams Formula just costs a few cents a day to use, but it may be worth $10 a BOTTLE TO YOU — because it will help clear burning acid and gas out of stomach organs, flush your kidney tubes, strengthen iron deficiency in your blood. THOSE WORDS OF DOLOR—"WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN"

If we could conjure up a man endowed with all power over the lands upon this earth and their boundaries and the nations and their peoples how could he best exercise that power so that thereafter peace might prevail?

He would observe at the outset that the affairs of the world are governed by the great powers. A great power is a nation with such intelligence, courage and numbers as to be recognized as a factor too powerful and important to be cast aside. These great powers, admittedly, consist today of America, Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Japan, and possibly Russia.

If they would preserve peace among themselves the lesser powers must, at their behest, preserve peace too.

But the all-powerful man would certainly be a sufficiently close student of human nature to know that economic conditions are a very great factor in war. True it is that pride is another factor and that hate and jealousy are also factors but the dominant one relates to men's work, comfort and satisfaction with what they have. So it has always been.

Would the all-powerful one, for instance, in dividing up the lands of the world so as to provide as much room for peaceful endeavor as possible to all, limit the 130 million people we call Americans to a few states along the Atlantic seaboard? And what would we think of the all-wise if in this division of the earth's lands California, Washington and Oregon were torn from us, corridors were cut between what was left to us, raw materials were denied us and as a result we had no oil and little bread?

Would the all-powerful one, really aiming for peace, have ever done to a great nation like Germany or a great people like the Austrians, what Britain and France, who ran the Treaty of Versailles, did to those of Teutonic blood?

Supposing instead of stripping Germany of her colonies, depriving her of Memel and Danzig, ripping her with the Polish Corridor, giving a chunk of her even to Belgium, making her sail her navy in humiliation to Scapa Flow and quartering alien troops upon her soil but at her cost, the victors had returned her colonies to her, left her empire untouched excepting that part she purloined from Denmark and which voted to return to the rule of Copenhagen, where would we be today instead of where we are? That is the burning question.

The victorious allies had, during the war, propagandized the German people until they were brought to believe that their ills were all monarchial. And so they threw off their numerous kings and their kaiser with them and became a republic. But they could no more exist under the circumstances, and particularly the fearful wounds to their pride, than could Austria after losing Hungary and other lands whose products it required in order to make a rounded nation.

America had no part in the wrongs done to Germany at Versailles. This country refused to take over any of the German colonies. And our senate finally declined the Versailles Treaty.

The error, indeed the blunder, of expecting peace in this world when one of the great powers is trampled under foot merely because it lost the war, is attributable largely to Britain and France.

The Memoirs of Clemenceau and Lloyd George, the proceedings of the deputies and the parliament, all reveal a studied purpose to destroy Germany as an economic force in this world.

These nations—great democracies they call themselves—had little of the exaltation of purpose that accompanied the American effort.

We have no complaint to make of them at all if we must accept the rule that a victor is necessarily so full of hate at the bloody losses he has endured that he cannot be just to the vanquished, however courageously or stubbornly that vanquished may have fought.

But we do assert that Hitler, Nazism, and world unrest today are attributable in no small measure to the selfish terms that Britain and France exacted of a fallen foe.

And now that the foe has laboriously gotten to one knee, and finally to his feet, and washed his wounds and recovered his strength we hear again the siren songs of Britain and France calling to us for help.

And we vision a president who abandons the work of looking after Americans to answer the call for help and to throw down the gauntlet and shout defiance in far, far places.

The phrase attributed to Puck about the fools mortals make of themselves cannot be scoffed. Wasn't Puck, in fact, pulling his punch?

WHAT PRICE, LIBERTY?

Roy W. Howard, head of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, a string of liberal journals, writes from Italy that "Fascism has been sold to the Italian masses."

He remarks that, viewed from a distance, it is hard to understand a fact of this character because the American cannot conceive how a people will embrace a system which destroys the liberty of the individual even as it eventually is expected to destroy the individual himself. But Mr. Howard insists that it is the intelligentsia in Italy who are discontented with the prohibition against liberty's basic rights, whereas the masses of the people support a system which, in turn, has provided them steadily with work, with wine, and with a colorful and endless cavalcade of entertainment and thrills projected by supershowmanship.

Mr. Howard questions whether the great immigration to America that started in earnest a century ago was so largely induced by the love of liberty as Americans have constantly assumed. He suggests that the millions left Europe then mostly because they were looking for economic security, a thing that seems more difficult to find in America today than any place else. He recalls that the Europe of those days was a land of unemployment and that America held forth that immeasurable promise of "land and work for all."

It is hard to accept Mr. Howard at par upon these propositions. Of course economic security is a mighty factor in anyone's life just as food is an essential to existence. Neither can it be said that a rule of thumb can be established by which to divine men's thoughts since the thoughts are too variant for any possible rule. Very often economic insecurity and the loss of liberty go hand in hand. Such was the fact a hundred years ago with Europe. Such is not the fact there today.

Yet it has always been noticeable that when liberty was denied America's gates were crashed from abroad.

And if we could trade some people we have who think they like foreign isms for those abroad who crave to get here for the freedom we have we would never have occasion to complain at the bargain.

AN ENGINE OF LONG AGO

On its way to the New York World's Fair the William Crooks, a locomotive engine that was the pride of its day, stopped at Paterson, New Jersey, to look over the town where it was riveted together 78 years ago. Then with a sigh, and perhaps a bit of snort, it was on its way.

The William Crooks is 51 feet long and weighs 18 tons. It will be placed alongside one of the modern locomotives nearly three times longer and fifteen times heavier. The William Crooks burned wood. But the modern engine with the roar of its oil burner need not swagger and look down upon the achievements and the antecedents of the lord of a bygone day.

For the William Crooks could show a pedigree that would set the modern engine back on its haunches as a parvenu. Grant was hammering on the gates of Vicksburg when the William Crooks started on its first run from St. Paul to that distant place called Minneapolis. And since that day it has proudly hauled the elite of the land as well as vast trains of immigrants who could hardly tell the conductors where they were going but spread out through the great northwest to build a nation. The William Crooks was one of our most effective empire builders.

And even today the William Crooks needs no help, thank you. Hooked up to an ancient baggage car and an equally ancient passenger coach it traveled the 1200 miles and more from Minnesota to the Atlantic seaboard, and for any who are given to smile at its appearance it could remind that the men it knew wore boots and the women it knew wore bustles but they were regular people just the same, and if they drank their liquor straight they knew how to carry it, too.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

HER CHILDREN
(For Ruth)

She writes into her children's days
Lines of pure happiness.
She makes them confident with praise
Her smile is a caress.

Her sonnet walks about and speaks;
Her lyric has bright hair.
Their rhythm every poet seeks,
Their glad looks banish care.

To strive to write a perfect line.
To form, letter by letter,
A singing lyric may be fine—
To build a life is better!

POWER TO PRINT GREENBACKS

The president is quoted as having declared at his last press conference that he saw no reason why congress should repeal his authority to permit the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks as provided under the original AAA law. He is said to have remarked in this connection that it is a good thing to have a club tucked away in the closet sometimes.

Let us hope that this comment does not represent the president's considered view. But if this means what it seems to mean, then Senator Taft has made the proper answer. Against whom could this club be used if not against the congressmen who refuse to increase the legal debt limit to $50,000,000,000, and who are urging reasonable economy in government? The very existence of this power is a source of uneasiness to business. Insistence by the president on retaining it would be a serious deterrent to recovery. We have not issued irredeemabl paper money of this character since our disastrous experience in the Civil war.

Regardless of what the president actually meant, the case against his discretionary power to issue $3,000,000,000 in flat money is clear. If he does not intend to make use of this power, then there is no need for him to have it. If he does intend to make use of the power, then the case for taking it away from him is overwhlming.

Of all the "emergency" powers conferred upon the president, this one is the least excusable.—New York Times.

—DALE HARRISON'S— In Old New York

New York—Jim Riley has watched the passing parade of Greenwich Village for nearly a quarter of a century. He has seen the long haired men and short haired women—the self-styled geniuses of art and letters—come and (almost) go.

Riley, proprietor of the Greenwich Village Casino, got into the restaurant business by accident. Many years ago there was much activity around the Greenwich Village Theatre, and because there was no convenient place for the actors to eat, Riley and some associates took over operation of the Greenwich Village Inn.

Time went on and the Inn became a gathering place for the Villagers. They loved to sit about for hours, talking. Those were the halcyon days when conversation was an art; when it was considered a gay and successful evening if one mingled with congenial comrades chatting and laughing.

Riley remembers those early days of the Inn when Eugene O'Neill, who was to become America's First Dramatist, slaved over his first play there. He speaks, too, of Mary Lewis' struggles at the Village Theatre and of the many times she came over to the Inn and gave free recitals after appearing as a show girl for evening performances at the theatre—the same Mary Lewis who was to become a star at the Metropolitan. Jeanette MacDonald started her career down there; and Robert Montgomery was a chorus boy.

Riley remembers the night when the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, dropped in with his party. On that same evening there was a group of about 50 telephone girls having dinner at a long table at the Inn. There were few women in the Prince's party, and his equerry asked Riley if introductions might not be accomplished so that the gentlemen might ask the girls to dance.

So it came about that the telephone girls danced away the evening with British Royalty, the Prince and the gentlemen of his party dancing in turn with each of the girls.

To this day, Riley will tell you, not one of the girls knows she was dancing with the most romantic and historic lover of our time—the man who was to become King of England and Emperor of India and then surrender those thrones for "The Woman I Love"—a Baltimore divorcee.

Sightseers always find the Village interesting, and Riley confesses that he sometimes is shocked to hear the fantastic things visitors expec to find there. On one occasion a sightseer bus stopped in front of the Inn and about 40 men and women disembarked and trooped into the dining room. Without checking hats and coats, all of them sat down. When waiters went to serve them, the visitors said they wanted nothing to eat or drink.

Riley went over and wanted to know why they came to the restaurant if not to eat. "We are here," they said, "to see the freaks." They were under the impression that the various Village geniuses, long haired and strangely garbed, would wander in; and to the visitors such people were "freaks."

Times changed. Genius became more businesslike and less conspicuous. The art of conversation waned. People were no longer able to entertain themselves with talk. Orchestras were installed. Jazz, crooning, hotcha and swing came to meet the entertainment needs. Even the name—the Greenwich Village Inn—was outmoded. Thus today it has become the Greenwich Village Casino, rich in memories but with little time for them.

MY YESTERDAY

Alone for the day, I decided to make Rusty extra special happy, so fed him heaping portion of meat and such edible trivia as the icebox afforded. It served only to make him sick, which I construed as a Sign that Great Kindness is not always Great Kindness.

Toiled lustily from noon until midnight, the labor being broken only by brief excursions with my weak-bellied pal. At midnight there was a clanging of the doorbell, and I called out to the people there: "Go away! This is no time to come a-calling!" But they were the ruffian type of friends, and put up such a clatter I was obliged to let them in, else the neighbors would have complained. It was four a.m. before I yawned them out.

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, April 10, 1914

Dr. I. D. Steffen, a Lawrence college graduate, was elected mayor of Antigo that week. He was the first mayor to serve under the commission form of government.

The city engineer was instructed by the council that day to prepare tentative plans for a new bridge across the Fox river at Lawe street, the structure being in such an unsafe condition that it had been closed to all traffic except pedestrians. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids on a stand pipe for the water works which would have a capacity of from 300,000 to 500,000 gallons.

Announcement had been made of the resignation of Miss May Esther Carter, dean of women and associate professor of English at Lawrence college. Miss Carter was the first dean of women at the institution.

Motor boat enthusiasts were overhauling their craft in preparation for the coming season. Carl Gerlach had purchased Wilmer Schlafer's launch and Carl Tennie had purchased the launch belonging to Policeman John Wagner.

10 YEARS AGO
Friday, April 5, 1929

Neenah had been presented with another gift of land, located at the north part point. The gift included two lots which formed the last connecting link for the continuation of the lakeshore road to connect with the end of N. Park avenue. Mrs. Helen K. Stuart was the donor.

The Congress hotel at Kaukauna was to go on the auction block at the courthouse on May 21 to satisfy a mortgage foreclosure judgment granted in circuit court March 29. The sale was to be conducted by Sheriff Fred W. Giese.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Strategists studying German efforts to get at raw materials and food become more and more aware that England has not wasted her time in these past 300 years getting her hands on strategic points in the world's geography.

Grover

The net result of this is that Germany has either to fight England at a disadvantage to herself—or head east if she wants to get at food and supplies. Of course she can be peaceable and trade, but that does not seem to be the way to do things these days. Another thing—Germany can go only so far to the east until she strikes England again.

England's control of key points is felt most keenly just now by Germany. A map of Europe shows why. At no point can Germany get across to the open sea without England's permission, or without overcoming England.

It also explains why England continues to build up her already superior navy to enormous proportions. She wants to protect her key points.

A Half-Drawn Cork

England stands like a half-drawn cork at the outlet of the Baltic. Germany is behind the cork. To reach the open ocean, she must travel either through the English Channel between England and France, or northward between England and the Scandinavian peninsula. England blocked both those passages during the World War. Her navy is being built up to be able to do it again.

At present Germany is headed eastward. She has vastly increased her raw materials resources, but it is still doubtful whether she has reached enough food to be self-sustaining in case of war. If she hasn't she has two courses, and they may not work. First she can try to get food from Russia by seizing the Ukraine, and second, she can try to get out to the ocean by way of the Balck Sea, the Dardanelles and the Mediterranean.

Through her economic pact with Rumanian, Germany already has a footing of some sort in the Black Sea. Perhaps Turkey will let her go from there through the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean. But there again appears England, in command of the strategic spots, Gibraltar at the west and the Suez Canal at the east.

Air Strength Important

But if it really comes to a battle for food, as it did in the last war, England herself is not invulnerable. Strategists point out that Germany, in command of the air, could well nigh starve England to her knees.

It may be true that a well armed navy can defy an air armada. That is yet to be tested in war. But it is certain that merchant vessels can be destroyed from the air. Many a British merchantman has been sunk in the Atlantic and the Mediterranean by insurgent planes during the Spanish civil war.

In command of the air, Germany could shut off England's food supply as effectively as she did with submarines during the World War. The English public was frightened last fall at the prospect of bombs falling on the big cities. Strategists say the real danger lies in the bombs that would be carried over the top of England to be dropped on merchant ships out in the Atlantic.

Even without a base at sea, long range bombers could operate comfortably from Germany. And if spots of Ireland should prove rebellious and permit enemy planes to come down for refueling, the task would be much simpler.

All of which reminds us that it is still nice to live 3,000 miles away from it all.

WELL I'LL TELL YOU

I guess some people are born to one thing and others to another. It's just what you get accustomed to I guess. This was brought home to me not long ago when I took a trip back home. We stopped at one of them paradises for city hunters and a bunch of them fellas got off the train, they were sure dressed to kill. They wore the latest modern hunting clothes, they carried all kinds of decoys and pearl-handed knives and the very latest kind of guns.

Well, I got to thinkin' about my Cousin Bead-Eye. There's a boy who use 'ta go huntin' and he'd come home every night with the limit. And all he ever used was rocks what a sensation he'd be if he had one of them new guns. So at the next stop I got off and I bought him the best up-to-date rifle that money could buy.

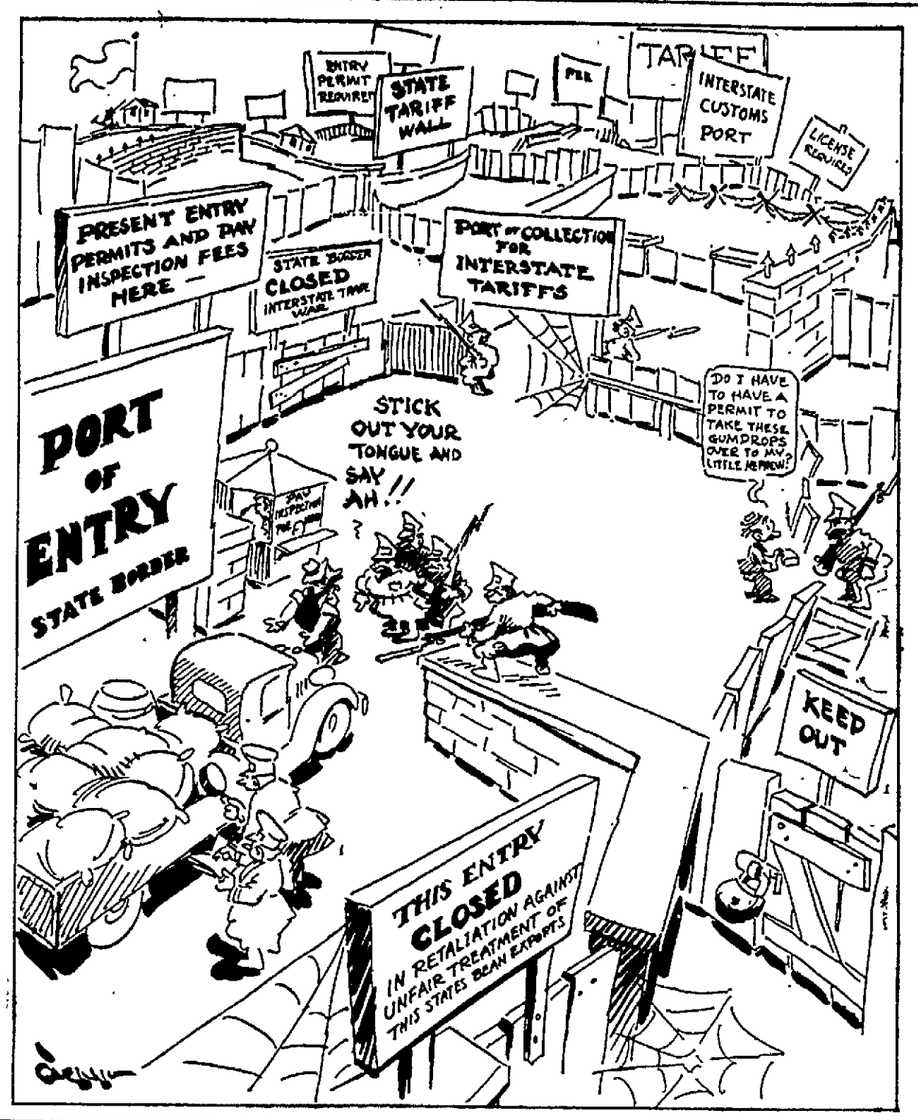

When I got home I gave it to him. Well, he was so excited he wanted to start out huntin' right away. So we started out. We hadn't gone through the woods fifty feet 'til he spied a squirrel way up in the top fork of a tree. He brought his rifle to his shoulder and I waited for the report but nothin' happened. Finally he threw the rifle to the ground and he says, "Dogginit, Robin, that squirrel's a beauty, I got to get him—give me a rock."

THESE DIS-UNITED STATES

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The 100 odd men and boys who constitute the state legislature's assisting personnel popped into the limelight this week with hints from Norris Maloney, Dane county district attorney, that there was some evidence of a "shake - down" among the messengers, clerks and page - boys who are hired from civil service lists.

Wyngaard

Because some of the favorites didn't get jobs, it appears, those who did made an arrangement to contribute a part of their earnings to them.

The publicity about that unique arrangement puts the spotlight on a situation which is an excellent illustration of the patronage system in action.

No one can seriously dispute the statement that the employes of the legislative houses are hired on a political basis, the civil service standing which they have is entirely nominal. Nor does the situation now differ from that under a Progressive or Democratic administration. Legislative employes for years have been a part of the state spoils system.

One effect of the situation is that the payroll is top-heavy. There isn't nearly enough work to go around; everybody knows that, but successive legislatures appear to need 107 jobs for organization purposes, so 107 jobs there are, year after year.

Committee clerks idle away their afternoons in empty committee rooms, particularly after the session is well organized and most of the bills have had hearings. Page boys and messengers, about three times as many as are needed, dot the corners of the chamber and sometimes aren't stirred for an hour at a time. During adjournment—such as the ten day recess voted last Friday—the staff stays on. At each entrance of the state senate today and tonight, and tomorrow and tomorrow night will sit two young men who look extremely bored. In the legislative clerk's office, a dozen stenographers will be poring over the sports pages. Their pay goes on, work or no work.

The provision in the Goldthorpe civil service bill which will remove the farcical civil service standing which the legislative employes have held for 25 years, it may be said, bears the virtue of frankness.

POT POURRI

A significant feature attending the current session of the state legislature is the lobbying of public employes for greater chunks of the tax dollar. Policemen and firemen want easier hours, bigger pensions. County board supervisors want to get more pay. State employes want pensions, many others have demands of various kinds . . . Information continues to trickle out on the sales tax bill which is being prepared for introduction in the legislature. It will raise in excess of $22,000,000 a year, it is said, and will probably contain a property tax reduction feature through the return of 50 per cent of the proceeds to counties who will be compelled to reduce their levies a corresponding amount . . . Governor Heil's meeting with representatives of north Wisconsin counties at Rhinelander recently on a rehabilitation program for the distressed areas was a "complete flop," R. W. Gustafson of the Ashland county board, and a leader in the northern relief project, said recently . . . National Republican headquarters has kept a close watch over progress of the Republicans now in control of the state government . . . Mrs. Isabelle LaFollette is helping out with the stenographic detail at National Progressive headquarters. . . .

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

PREVENTION OF HERNIA

Beware of the physician or specialist who proposes to hospitalize you for removal of tonsils, operation on hernia, removal of hemorrhoids, and then, when you mention the diathermy method of extirpating tonsils, or the injection or ambulant method of treating hernia or the injection treatment of piles, methods which do not require any loss of time from your regular work or any confinement to hospital or bed, says oh, yes, of course, if you prefer that method he can treat you that way. That, my friends, is a pretty good indication that the doctor is not very skilled in any method. I find that four out of five complaints of unsatisfactory results from these modern methods come from patients who have accepted the crude treatment of that type of doctor.

If a doctor really knows his business, if he has really mastered the difficult technique of diathermy (electro-coagulation) of the tonsils or injection treatment of hernia or hemorrhoids, he will advise the method most suitable for his patient. Only when the patient refuses to take the doctor's advice does the qualified physician consent to the alternative method. Conceivably it may be a toss up which method to choose in some circumstances, but in any case it is strictly a question for the doctor in the individual circumstance to decide which method he would prefer if he were in the patient's place.

Fifteen years ago few doctors of standing would admit that injection treatment was safe or efficacious for hernia. Twenty years ago I branded such treatment as sheer quackery, in this column. Ten years ago many doctors were still condemning injection treatment as dangerous and worthless, altho the very language of their blasts against it betrayed their ignorance of the method. Even five years ago there were still echoes of that same spirit reverberating in the oracle columns and editorial pages of that organ of medical intolerance, the Jour. of the A. M. A. under the control of the omniscient, but inexperienced, Dr. Fisabein.

Today the ambulant or injection treatment of hernia is recognized as a valuable method in a large share of cases, and well informed patients elect this method because (1) it requires no hospitalization, (2) no anesthesia, (3) no absence from usual work, (4) no loss of pay for several weeks. In skilled hands the per cent of cases in which recurrence of hernia follows the injection treatment is no greater than the per cent of recurrences following the radical operation for hernia in skilled hands.

A certain number of hernia cases are cured eventually by simple support with a carefully adapted truss or other support. Such treatment is indeed standard for umbilical hernia in infants, but proper support alone will cure a few hernias in adults.

A good many small or recent hernias are curable by support plus exercise. We'll describe the exercise treatment later.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Migraine

I am 44 years old. Since my early twenties I have suffered migraine attacks, an average of one a week. Following your suggestion about a year and a half ago I began taking calcium, and within the first few weeks I noticed improvement, and later the attacks became less frequent, scarcely one in five weeks, and comparatively mild. For several months now I have been quite free of them. (Mrs. W. S. A.)

Answer — Thank you. Glad to send on request (no clipping, please) monograph on migraine headache and calcium. If you inclose stamped envelope bearing your address. Calcium treatment is not a sure cure, but it seems to give much relief in many cases and can do no harm in any case.

Night Driving Easier

I am much indebted for your suggestion of vitamin A for night blindness. For several years even dim headlamps of approaching cars left me groping . . . but now I am not at all bothered. (C. R. N.)

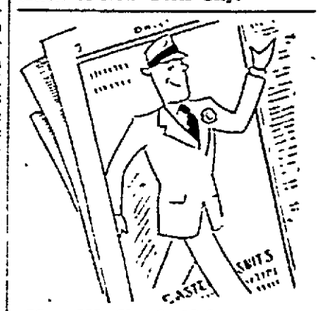

Answer — Thank you. Two or three capsules of vitamin A (50,000 to 75,000 units) daily for a week or two should give many drivers new confidence and security, if they are unduly blinded by the glare of approaching headlamps.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

Washington—To his Senate colleagues, there was something rather mysterious about Senator Frazier's speech criticizing the appointment of William O. Douglas to the Supreme Court.

The Senator from North Dakota held two or three manuscripts in his hand, and stumbled through them like a blind man in a bog. It was obvious that he had scarcely looked at them and was trying to read something that someone had just thrust into his hand.

Also, Frazier had never known Douglas, had shown no sign of opposing his appointment until just before the Senate was about to confirm it. He seldom addresses the Senate, and then only on Indians or agriculture. This time, however, he suddenly rose and announced his intention to speak.

Burden of the fumbling talk which followed was that the new Supreme Court Justice was not a real liberal, was not sincere in his campaign to regulate Wall Street.

All of which considerably mystified Frazier's Senatorial colleagues and gave them the impression that he had merely repeated a written diatribe against Douglas which a friend had composed for him.

Apparent confirmation of this came a little later, when it was reported that instigators of Frazier's remarks were Max Lowenthal, counsel for the Senate railway finance investigating committee, and Orben Litchfield, a member of the brokerage firm of Hibbs and Company.

Far more interesting, however, was the remark of Litchfield when accused of inspiring the Frazier speech. It indicated that some of the boys are taking the Douglas presidential talk more than seriously.

"We weren't interested in Douglas as Supreme Court Justice," said Litchfield. "All we wanted to do was to spike his guns for 1940."

Note—Max Lowenthal is an intimate friend of Senator Wheeler of Montana, one of the presidential possibilities on the Democratic quasi-liberal ticket. Some New Dealers see the hidden hand of Bert Wheeler in the Lowenthal-Litchfield-Frazier by-play in the Senate.

Capital Chaff

George S. Hellman, descendant of the well-known New York Seligman family, has been commissioned by the relatives of the late Justice Cardozo to write his biography. Hellman's son Geoffrey is an editor of The New Yorker. . . . For the first time in history, Gridiron Club invitations bear the notation "white tie." Reason is that at the last dinner, Orson Welles, who scared the entire Atlantic seaboard with his radio invasion from Mars, came in black tie, and was so embarrassed he left the dinner and hid in a hotel room the remainder of the evening. . . . Colonel Lindbergh once came in a black tie, but did not hide. . . . Woodrow Wilson used to say: "Carter Glass is the only man in Washington who can whisper into his own ear."

Monroe Doctrine in Air

German aviation penetration of Latin America was carefully studied at a secret meeting in the office of Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson the other day. Officials of the State, War, Navy and Commerce departments attended.

One War Department official reported: "It is an alarming fact that Germany and Italy have recently been making rapid advances which, if not arrested, might well end in virtually shutting the United States out of the Latin American aviation market."

It was also reported that Germany is developing its Focke-Wulf plane to be operated in South America by the Syndicate Condor, a subsidiary of Lufthansa. The route will encircle South America—from Natal, Brazil, to Buenos Aires, then across the Andes to Chile, and up the west coast.

The Germans have other subsidiary companies in Peru, and have just obtained a concession in Ecuador. Still more alarming was the presence of German crews operating the Scadta system in Colombia, where the lines reach to within a short distance of the Panama Canal.

The answer to this competition, it was proposed, should be an extension of U. S. airlines in the same areas, using a commercial version of the Army's "Flying Fortresses."

Wet Gift

Senator Morris Shepherd fathered the 18th amendment and still is one of the most devoted drys in public life. Each year, on the anniversary of the amendment's ratification, he makes a speech acclaiming its virtues and prophesying the return of prohibition.

Yet the gentle little Texan is the possessor of a set of handsome wine glasses. He revealed the secret when some unexpected guests turned up at a party given by a neighbor, who dashed over to Shepherd's house to borrow a few glasses.

"Certainly," replied Shepherd, laughing. But at that moment the neighbor recalled who Shepherd was, and started to apologize.

"Oh, that's all right," Shepherd reassured him, "we have had these glasses since we were married many years ago. A friend gave us a set of two dozen. We have never used them but my wife kept them. You're welcome to take them."

No Wagner Changes

The wise boys on Capitol Hill are predicting privately that this session will write no changes in the Wagner labor act.

They say the AFL and other advocates of amendment missed the boat when they failed to start the ball rolling in January. Now, with the session well past the halfway point, it is too late. Supporters of the law are in a strong position to stall action by delay-tactics.

The Senate Labor committee starts its first revision hearings next week. But it will be a month at least before the committee will be ready to report to the Senate, which will be about the middle of May—or just when floor leaders are laying plans for adjournment.

By prolonging debate in the Senate, Wagner Act champions easily can use up another month, which would eliminate any chance of a bill being considered by the House Labor committee in time for final action. The House committee has no intention of acting until the Senate has taken a stand.

Note—Several members of the Senate Labor Committee are considering offering a compromise. This would call for appointment of a Presidential committee, similar to the one which studied British labor relations last summer, to survey the operation of the Wagner law and make recommendations to Congress next January.

Kimberly Relief Costs Total $332 in March

Kimberly—Relief costs in the village during March amounted to $332.55 after a $30 county refund was deducted. There were 11 cases during the month. The major item listed was groceries, amounting to $117.07. Other items: room and board, $45; rent, $50; meats, $39.72; milk, $11.16; fuel, $74.10; light and water, $7, and medical, $18.50. The report was issued Wednesday by the relief committee, H. J. Kilsdonk, chairman and Leonard Goffard.

There were 1,561 books put into circulation at the library during March, according to a report issued Wednesday by Bud Harley, librarian. A total of 760 books were turned in while 801 were taken out. This is an increase over previous months. Out of the total amount 286 children's books were borrowed by juveniles while 37 non-fiction books were put into circulation.

There are 190 adult borrowers registered at the library and 221 juveniles. Forty-seven new books for juveniles were placed on the shelves during the month.

The three incumbent village trustee candidates reelected Tuesday, polled more than 1,200 votes. John Busch received 491, Joseph Kuborn, 419, and Henry J. Kilsdonk, 368.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiedeman and family and Emil Breir are visiting this week with relatives at Muscatine, Iowa.

Civil engineering students have surveyed part of the Tulane University campus more than 500 times during the last 18 years, driving approximately 16,000 stakes in the campus sod.

SUBMITS TO OPERATION

Weyauwega — Delores Zuberbier, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Zuberbier submitted to an operation for appendicitis at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Appleton, Wednesday.

The following were received as members of the St. Peters Lutheran church at the quarterly business meeting this week: Ferdinand Pufahl, Julius Trojan, Arnold Buchholz, Emil Prahl, Le Roy Laabs and and their families and Herman Nowak.

A son, John Edward, was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Hinchley at their home April 3. Mrs. Hinchley formerly was Miss Irene Webb.

Appleton Officers, Delegates Will Participate in State Parley of University Women

"THE Relation of A. A. U. W. to the Local Community" has been chosen by the Wisconsin division of the American Association of University Women as the theme of its twentieth annual state conference, which will be held April 28 and 29 at La Crosse. Miss Kezia Manifold, Appleton, who holds the office of state treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Wilson plan to attend the whole convention, and other members of the Appleton branch probably will attend at least part of the sessions.

Registration will take place at 11 o'clock Friday morning, April 28, at Hotel Stoddard, La Crosse, and the opening session is scheduled for 2:30 that afternoon at the Congregational church hall.

The program at the opening session will take the form of a panel discussion on the question "What are the financial problems of students today and how can A.A.U.W. help?" Those participating in the discussion will be President Lucia R. Briggs, Milwaukee-Downer college; Dean Susan B. Davis, University of Wisconsin; and Dr. Ruth I. Walker, University of Wisconsin Extension Division.

A tea at 4 o'clock, also in the church hall, will follow the discussion. The La Crosse branch of the association will act as hostess.

Convention Banquet

Dr. Dora V. Smith of the University of Minnesota faculty will give the address at the convention banquet at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Stoddard hotel. Her subject will be "New Ways of Teaching Old Subjects." Mrs. Carl Neess, president of the La Crosse branch, will preside at the banquet. Miss Myrtle Trowbridge of La Crosse Teachers college will welcome the delegates, and Mrs. Wyeth Allen, Milwaukee, state president, will give the response.

Scheduled for 7:45 Saturday morning at Hotel La Crosse are nine round table breakfasts, the discussion at each dealing with a different phase of A.A.U.W. dork. The subjects will be drama, economic and legal status of women, education and legislation, fellowship, fine arts, international relations, social studies, youth and branch presidents. Delegates will attend the round table discussion in which they are interested.

At 9:30 that morning there will be a business session at Hotel La Crosse, Mrs. Allen presiding. Annual reports of state officers and state chairmen will be given at that time, and new officers will be elected.

Mrs. H. K. Painter, director of the Northewst Central section will speak at 11:15 Saturday morning on "The What and Why of Branch Programs."

Close With Luncheon

The convention will close Saturday noon with a luncheon at Hotel Stoddard. The address, "Where Can We Take Hold?" will be given by Dr. Esther Cole Franklin, associate in social studies on the A.A.U.W. headquarters staff.

State officers of the association, in addition to Mrs. Allen, president, and Miss Manifold, treasurer, are Mrs. James Goodman, Marinette, vice president; Miss Theresa McDonough, Kenosha, recording secretary; Mrs. Hugo Kuechenmeister, Milwaukee, corresponding secretary; and Dr. Irma Voight, Athens, Ohio, sectional director.

2 Commandery Units to Hold Joint Session

PLANNING to make it an annual custom, members of Appleton Commandery No. 29, Knights Templar, will join with members of the Twin Cities Commandery No. 39 and their families for an Easter morning service and breakfast. Both will be held at the Neenah Masonic temple. Templar Sir Knights and their families have always gathered for a sunrise service Easter morning, but last year was the first time the Appleton and Neenah groups met together.

The service will begin at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, with Frank W. Kellogg, prelate and past commander of the Twin Cities Commandery, in charge. Mrs. Ernest Rhoades, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Buehner, Neenah, and Mrs. Lacey Horton, accompanied by Mrs. Vilas Gehin, Appleton, will furnish the music. Immediately following the service a breakfast will be served in the dining room of the Neenah temple.

Fraternal Order of Eagles will have class initiation Wednesday night at Eagles hall, with the Neenah Aerie degree team in charge of the work. Story night is planned for the same meeting. The member who tells the best story will receive a prize.

The Eagles Bowling league will have its annual banquet Tuesday night. Election of officers will take place, and prizes for the team events, single events, double events and high single scores will be awarded. After the banquet there will be dancing.

Anton Liesch is chairman of the Eagles dance to be held Friday evening, April 14, the lodge's first dance after lent. Both old and modern dances will be featured.

Bridge Prizes Will Be Given at Banquet

Prizes for this season's play in the contract bridge tournament sponsored annually by the Appleton Contract Bridge association will be awarded at the annual banquet Saturday night at the Conway hotel. The banquet will follow the post-season playoff tournament which will be held at the hotel in the afternoon, beginning at 1:45. Forty-four persons participated in the tournament this year.

Former Neenah Girl To be Bride in Fall

The Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Reykdal, Milwaukee, formerly of Neenah, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carol Reykdal, to Leif Johannesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johannesen, Clintonville. Miss Reykdal is a graduate of the Milwaukee County Hospital school of nursing. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Bride-to-be Honored At Shower at Shawano

Miss Anita Krahn, Oconto Falls, who will be married this month to Martin Downs, 1003 N. Appleton street, was honored at a shower given last night at Shawano by members of a sewing club to which she belonged when she worked there. Until recently she was employed in the Bachhuber clinic at Kaukauna.

Woman's Club Hears Discussion on Birds

Chilton — At the regular meeting of the Woman's club Monday afternoon in the city hall, the speaker was John Egan, Manitowoc, conservation warden for this district. Mr. Egan spoke on birds, on which he is an authority. He discussed the different varieties of birds found in this part of Wisconsin, and described their habits. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. O. Piper and Mrs. William Stauss. At the next meeting, April 17, Mrs. C. R. Nutt of Plymouth will talk on the physiography and geology of Wisconsin's scenic features.

The funeral of Fred Menke, who died at his home in Potter Sunday evening, was conducted from Peace Reformed church in Potter at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the Rev. Julius Rosenau. Burial was in the church cemetery. Mr. Menke, who was born in Germany, Nov. 15, 1853, had been a resident of Potter for nearly sixty years, coming to America at the age of 15. His wife died six years ago. Surviving are four sons, Hugo, Washington, D. C.; Max, Nekoosa; Otto, Plymouth; and Walter, Potter; one brother, Ernest, Kiel; ten grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

A meeting of Calumet county insurance men was held at Hotel Chilton Thursday evening, starting with a dinner at 6:30. An organization was started, the following officers being elected: R. C. Hugo, Chilton, president; R. P. Madler, Hilbert vice president; L. Schumacher, Chilton, secretary-treasurer. State agents who were present were Thomas A. Hites, Milwaukee; R. A. Kenzel, Milwaukee, and Jerome Strassen, Oshkosh. The next meeting will be held at Hilbert April 27, when by-laws will be presented and acted upon.

A committee appointed by the county medical association, composed of Dr. John Goggins, Dr. N. J. Knauf and Dr. John Minahan, met with the county health committee at the courthouse Wednesday evening, at which plans were perfected for the organization of a tuberculosis program to be conducted in Calumet county, to become effective May 1.

As in other years, the first day of May, which was designed by the president in 1926 as child health day, will be observed.

Three Persons to Speak at Easter Sunrise Service

Speakers at the young people's Easter sunrise service at 6:30 Sunday morning at First Methodist church will be Mary Fiedler, Milburn Reitz and Wesley Schroeder, each of whom will give a short talk on the meaning of Easter. The service and the breakfast which will follow it are open to young people of all denominations, and young people's societies of a number of Protestant churches are participating.

The call to worship will be given by Robert Bailey, and the Scripture lesson, by James Hensel. Special music will include a soprano solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Myrtle Lecker, and a cello solo by Herman Ecker. Frank Abendroth will be in charge of the prayer. The choir which will lead the singing is composed of representatives from several churches.

The program was arranged by the interdenominational committee of the M. S. M. club of the Methodist church, composed of Sidney Ottman, chairman, and Miss Miriam Moser, with Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Culver and Phil Ottman, adult advisors. Mrs. C. C. Bailey and Mrs. Blanche Moser are in charge of the breakfast which will follow the service.

One of World's Best Choir Leaders Heads St. Olaf Choral Unit

Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, director of the St. Olaf choir which will appear at Memorial chapel Wednesday night, April 19, is recognized as one of the greatest choir leaders of the age.

Born in Norway, he came to America when he was 17 years of age. He taught music at Washburn and Marinette in Wisconsin and later at a conservatory in Minneapolis.

He returned to Europe to study at Leipzig for two years, learning choral music and conducting under the late Gustav Schreck, one of Bach's most illustrious successors as cantor of the historic Thomaskirche.

Dr. Christiansen was appointed to the faculty of St. Olaf college as director of music in 1903, relinquishing a promising career as a concert violinist. He organized the first choir at the Lutheran college in Northfield, Minn., in 1912.

One of his greatest qualities is the vast patience that has done much to make him America's outstanding choir leader. There is no detail of the work too trivial to engage his whole attention. No score is accepted for rehearsal until its every phase, verbal and musical, has been scrutinized and approved.

Two Weddings are Slated for April 15

Two weddings of interest to resident of Fremont and the vicinity are planned for April 15.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kobiski, West Bloomfield, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Lorna, to Raymond Wendt. The wedding will take place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 15, at Christ Lutheran church, West Bloomfield.

Announcement also has been made of the approaching marriage on April 15 of Miss Neva Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, town of Wolf River, to Norman Hoeft, Redgranite, Waushara county.

Bake Sale. Pettibone's, Saturday morning 9 A. M. Catholic Daughters.

CHOIR DIRECTOR

Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, a native of Norway, is rated one of the world's most able choir leaders. He will direct the choir of St. Olaf college in its appearance at Memorial chapel Wednesday night, April 19.

Song Dedicated to MacDowell Chorus

Albert A. Glockzin has just received information that a new number by Boris Levenson has been dedicated by him to the Appleton MacDowell Male chorus, Albert A. Glockzin, director.

The composition is "Heart's Ease," an English folksong of the sixteenth century, which Mr. Levenson has harmonized and arranged for men's voices, a cappella.

The song is mentioned by Shakespeare in "Romeo and Juliet," Act VI, Scene I, and in an older play, "Misogonus," by Thomas Rychardes, produced about 1560.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Application for marriage licenses has been made at the office of John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, by Garland S. Eickhoff, Appleton, and Ernestine Gitter, route 2, Hortonville; Edward J. Vollmer, Appleton, and Genevieve Gambsky, Appleton.

New Woman's Club Officers Will be Named

ANNUAL election of officers of Appleton Federated Woman's club will take place at the April meeting next Thursday afternoon at the club house. Delegates will be chosen to the Eighth district federation convention at Two Rivers May 2 and 3. Final arrangements for the meeting were made at a board of directors' session Thursday morning.

Mrs. Stewart Scrimshaw, Wauwatosa, state chairman of education for the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs, will be the speaker at this meeting, her subject to be "Adult Education." Mrs. R. J. White will be chairman of the hostess committee for tea which will follow the program.

At the board meeting Mrs. Walter Hoppe, community service chairman, issued a call for discarded or damaged dolls which the women might find during their spring housecleaning. Dolls are being repaired and dressed for redistribution to needy children next Christmas time.

A program in observance of Grand Army day followed the Woman's Relief corps business session Thursday afternoon at Elks hall. It was arranged by Mrs. John R. E. Miller, patriotic instructor of the corps, who spoke briefly on the history of the Grand Army of the Republic, organized April 6, 1866, at Decatur, Ill., and read a poem, "The Blue and the Gray." Jake Meyer sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "When the Boys in Blue Are Gone." A short history of the Civil war was given by Richard Sykes.

Mrs. Patrick Ferguson presided at the business session which preceded the program. Plans were made to attend the Grand Army ball next Monday at S. A. Cook armory, Neenah, an invitation was read to an open house birthday party in honor of Comrade Thad Sheerin, Neenah, on Easter Sunday. The corps voted a contribution to the National Grand Army fund.

The Sunshine club, it was announced, will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Hoffman, with Mrs. John Wagner as assistant hostess.

Study Plans Will be Distributed Monday

Study plans for the next six weeks will be available to state graded and rural school teachers of Outagamie county at the distribution centers Monday, according to Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools. The distribution centers are the state graded school, Black Creek; McClone store, Bear Creek; Sigl Filling station, Freedom; Behrendt store, Hortonville, rural normal school, Kaukauna; Miss Nellie McDermott residence, New London; Frank Service station, Seymour, Greenwalt store, Shiocton; and the superintendant's office in the courthouse.

Conduct Examinations For Highway Workmen

Physical examination of employes of the Outagamie county highway department are being made by Dr. Stephen Konz, county physician. The examinations were ordered by the county board upon recommendation of Arnold Krueger, county highway commissioner. Proper knowledge of a man's physical condition before an accident may result in a saving to the county on compensation claims, Krueger said in advocating the plan.

Hollywood—In the current issue of a certain fan magazine is an article which contends that the careers of screen actors—thanks to talkies— have gained permanency; that intelligent stars, like Ol' Man River, can go on and on forever, staying near the top of the popularity ladder in spite of increasing age and the fickleness of fans. I read it with a skeptical. Oh, yeah"— and finally generated enough curiosity to drag out the files of that same magazine. In an issue just six years old, I found a story analyzing the standing of that year's stars.

Fidler

At the very top, with a 100 per cent rating, were: Marie Dressler, Maurice Chevalier, Greta Garbo, Will Rogers, Marlene Dietrich, Clark Gable, Norma Shearer, Ruth Chatterton, Janet Gaynor and Joan Crawford. Two of them, of course, are dead, but of the other eight only two can still be given rating in the first-flight. In that six-year old article sixteen other stars were rated at 95 per cent. Today, one is dead, three are still near the top, eight have dropped far back into the ranks—and four have disappeared from the screen. There were twenty-four names in the next group, which rated 90 per cent. Two (Spencer Tracy and Paul Muni) have gained in value; two (Carole Lombard and Joan Bennett) have held their own; eleven have fallen to far lower rank, though they are still active—and nine have gone into complete eclipse. In the next two groups, rated 85 per cent and 80 per cent were fifty-four stars. Two are dead; four have improved their standing; twenty-two are still active but depreciated in rank! twenty-six are OUT!

Such figures speak for themselves.

Nancy Kelly's just had an object lesson in the "Power of the Press." Yesterday morning her door-bell rang and she found herself confronted by a bevy of youngsters who demanded autographs. A few minutes later another delegation arrived . . and a third . . and a fourth. Mid-afternoon brought a party of fourteen high schcol girls with the same request—and Nancy's curiosity, by then, was really fired. "I'll give you autographs if you'll tell me how you knew I lived here," she offered. And one of the girls promptly displayed a newspaper clipping. The writer, without giving the address, had identified the Kelly manse by describing its unusual weather vane— a cut out of Ferdinand the Bull.

BELLS AND NO-BELLS — Best picture of the week is: "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," with Don Ameche and Loretta Young hitting new highs, yet overshadowed by the really amazing performance of eight-year-old — Bobs Watson . . For your "must see" list: "Dodge City," a blustering, virile tale of the days when the West was young, and be sure to take the kids—they'll love it . . . Also recommended: "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers . . . and Broadway Serenade" if you're a music lover—a weak, shop-worn story, but Jeanette MacDonald's singing is tops . . .

Spencer Tracy, after attending military school and college, visited the American Academy of Dramatic Art. Here he began studying to be an actor. After appearing in several Broadway shows and stock companies he ventured into movies where the screen still claims him as a top notch performer. His next picture will be with Hedy Lamarr in "A New York Cinderella."

Be A Careful Driver

Progressives, Inactive Since Defeat, Will Go Into Action With Naming of Party Chairman

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison— The watchful waiting which has characterized the policy of the official leaders of the Progressive party organization since its numbing defeat last fall will soon give way to a concerted program of organized activity which will carry through the summer and fall months it was said at the party's state headquarters here today.

Former Governor Philip F. LaFollette will return to Madison, it became known today, sometime next week. With his arrival, it is expected that the organization which has purposely remained quet during the last four or five months will bestir itself again.

One of the first tasks will be the reorganization of the party machine, which has taken some stern punishment during the last year. First order of business will be the selection of a new party chairman, to replace John Reynolds of Green Bay, who resigned last December.

Younger Men Mentioned

Little has been said in party circles thus far about potential candidates for that important position, but there is basis for the belief that an attempt will be made at the next meeting of the party's central group, which will be held very soon, to elevate a member of the younger crowd in the party to the chairmanship of the organization.

Two names boomed quietly thus far are J. K. Kyle, late secretary of the state labor board, and John Thiel director of the state tax commission. Of the two, Thiel is regarded as the most likely choice since he will probably soon be removed from his post in the state tax commission by the Heil administration through its reorganization project, which will supercede the LaFollette reorganization which furnished Thiel his job originally. Moreover, Thiel has been more prominently identified with party organization activity over a long perior than has Kyle.

It seemed likely today that there would be objections to both candidates from some of the older heads in the party because neither is sufficiently known to the party's workers, and to the public.

Evjue May Get Job

In some capital Progressive quarters it was believed this week that the old-timers would succeed in putting over W. T. Evjue, long a thundering influence in the party's councils, and a man who would steer a vigorous and independent course as the party's official commander.

Evjue has certain disadvantages, however, although the reports that he would like the chairmanship are given considerable credence. He has quarreled often and bitterly with important elements in the party. His activities in the last party primary have left wounds which will require time to heal. His was the most eager support, and the earliest nomination, of Herman L. Ekern, when many of the party men wanted other candidates. In addition, there is a good question whether the LaFollettes would be satisfied with Evjue, and despite the resentful murmurings in the organization after Phil's defeat last fall, and his unpopular sponsorship of the new national party, the LaFollettes are still a dominant factor in the party.

There will be another element on the state central committee, other old-timers who know what a rigorous job it is to rebuild a party which took such a killing defeat as the Progressives took last fall, who will want a tried and experienced man to lead them out of the morass into which they have been driven.

Phil Is Possibility

Where such a man will be found is a delicate problem, however, unless LaFollette himself took the job. There are the defeated congressmen, but for one reason or another they appear to be ineligible. Most of them want to run for office again. Others have jobs. The popularity of a former chairman, E. M. Rowlands, has waned, according to Progressive opinion. It is unlikely that John Reynolds could be persuaded to tackle the job again, after his recent experiences. There are the defeated office-holders. But they too are perennial candidates for elective office.

One remaining possibility is Thomas Davlin, member, and until recently chairman, of the state highway commission. He is one of the oldest veterans in the organization, and one of the smartest generals on the headquarters staff. Popular, influential, and respected and widely known in the organization, he would get considerable support for the chairmanship. But it is unlikely that he would resign his position on the state highway body, unless the Heil administration proceeds with its reported plans to abolish the commission and substitute a new administrative setup.

Party policy, during the first three months of the Heil government in the capitol, has been one of deliberate inactivity. Confident that the Heil group would find troubles enough, high Progressive spokesmen have by pre-arrangement kept out of the spotlight. "Let well enough alone", as one of them put it. There have been no speeches by party leaders, except by members of the legislature during attacks on Republican proposals and defenses of Progressive laws.

That policy will shortly be changed for another, according to informed party men. Beginning in a few weeks organizational and speech-making work will be resumed. Phil LaFollette will get back into the oratorical harness. Local organizations will be pepped up, and the campaign to straighten out the prospects for the state ticket next year, and more important, Senator LaFollette's re-election campaign, will be underway.

Sen. LaFollette's reelection presents many problems, as the party captains are aware. Asked about the possibility of a New Deal alliance for the election campaign, they hesitate to commit themselves.

The best report available on the frequently discussed arrangement with the New Dealers to return LaFollette to Washington is that it is possible. Nothing has been settled, according to reports from insiders in the organization.

Nor is there any talk about the party policy on LaFollette's National Progressive policy. It was noted here with considerable interest that the former governor on his return from Europe last week side-stepped questions on the NPA put by New York liberals. Current opinion holds that the NPA will be played down for the 1940 campaign, with the idea that it is more important to return LaFollette to the senate and regain control of the Wisconsin government before the attempt is made to make another excursion into the national field.

The ever-popular shirtwaist and skirt bows in, this time for formal afternoon wear, and modeled by Rosalind Russell, heroine of "Fast and Loose," is seen in dark blue taffeta with the shirt plain and pocketed, the shirt pleated. Ropes of pearls intertwined into several strands are Miss Russell's only jewels.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP
If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.
BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.
So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

Beekeepers Name Jacobson Head of Valley District

New Chairman Succeeds Edward Hassinger, Jr., Greenville

George Jacobson, route 2, Kaukauna, was elected chairman of the Fox River Valley district of the Wisconsin Beekeepers association yesterday at the city hall to succeed Edward Hassinger, Jr. Greenville. Cornelius Meyer, route 3, Appleton, was elected vice chairman, and Leonard A. Otto, Forest Junction, was renamed secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was called to study habits of bees and the production of honey. In the morning E. L. Chambers and C. D. Adams of the state entomology department, Madison, discussed the control of bee diseases. Motion pictures also were shown by H. J. Rahmlow, secretary of the Wisconsin Horticultural society, on improved methods of introducing bees, spring feed and queen rearing.

J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, spoke in the afternoon on the clover situation in the Fox river valley. Practical talks on beekeeping were given by A. J. Schultz, Ripon, state president of the association: Otto Jacobson and Milton Ehrhardt, Oakfield.

Rahmlow discussed new discoveries in beekeeping, the pollen question and swarm control. Walter Diehnelt, Menomonee Falls, talked on honey packaging and marketing. About 75 beekeepers attended the session.

VALLEY BEEKEEPERS ELECT OFFICERS

Field Clinic for Crippled Children Planned April 15

Orthopedists Will Conduct Examinations at Morgan School

Arrangements are being completed for the orthopedic field clinic to be conducted at the Morgan school Saturday, April 15, under the joint auspices of the Outagamie County Medical society and the crippled children division of the state department of public instruction.

The medical society has invited Dr. Rober P. Montgomery and Dr. Herman C. Schumm, Milwaukee orthopedists, to conduct the examinations. The clinic will serve children in Outagamie and neighboring counties.

The Outagamie county unit of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled will assist with duties on the clinic day. Mrs. Louis Michelm is chairman of the arrangements committee and is planning to have workers at the clinic to assist in clinic activities.

Miss Lois Mitchel, field worker for the crippled children division, will be in Appleton and vicinity to interview parents and family physicians regarding clinic attendance of children. On the clinic day Miss Mitchell and other staff members of the division will be at the clinic to take histories and to interview parents. A member of the staff of the rehabilitation division, state board of vocational and adult education, also will be at the clinic to interview older boys and girls regarding training and employment.

DEATHS

MacDONOUGH FUNERAL

Funeral services for Hubert MacDonough, 87, who died Tuesday morning at the home of Walter Roche, route 1, Kaukauna, was held this afternoon at St. Nicholas church, Freedom, with the Rev. A. W. Van Dyke in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

MacDonough died at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning after a month's illness. Born in Ireland, he came to the United States when he was 40 years old. He worked at Fond du Lac for 23 years. He had lived at the Roche home for the last six years.

Bearers at today's funeral were Joseph Byrne, Joseph Roche, Stephen and Joseph McCormick, Mike Hartman, and Edward Garvey, all of Freedom.

STEGER FUNERAL

Funeral services for Frank X. Steger, 78, 1014 W. Eighth street, will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at Wichmann Funeral home and at 10:30 at St. Joseph church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery chapel.

The St. Joseph society will say the rosary at 7:30 Saturday evening at the funeral home; the Holy Name society at 3:30 Sunday afternoon; and the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Survivors are four sons, John, Frank, Jr., and Henry, Appleton; Joseph, Kaukauna; two daughters, Mrs. George Rippl, Mrs. Matthew Smith, Appleton; 26 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

WOLTER FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. B. C. Wolter, 85, pioneer Appleton resident, were held this morning at Wichmann Funeral home with Dr. Harry C. Culver of the Methodist church in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

AXIS GENERALS GET TOGETHER

General Alberto Pariani (left), chief of the Italian army general staff, and Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel (right), chief of the high command of the German armed forces, conferred in Berlin, in what Germans described as a counter-demonstration against consultations between the French and British general staff officers.

regular troops. This resistance was not offered by the regular Albanian army."

Seek Stronger Bloc

Intense diplomatic activity seeking to widen the European anti-aggression bloc by including Hungary and Rumania followed the first word of Italy's invasion of Albania.

Great Britain, at the insistence of Polish Foreign Minister Colonel Joseph Beck, was understood to have agreed to allow Poland to sound out Hungary on prospects of joining the mutual defense front.

(In Warsaw, the Budapest government was reported to have assured Poland already that Hungary would join Poland in resisting nazi influence and expansion if her military forces could be strengthened.)

If Hungary should come into the bloc, she presumably would contract a mutual defensive alliance either with Britain direct or with Poland.

Efforts to bring Rumania into a similar position with respect to the bloc have been under way for some days.

Informed sources said the earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, had been instructed to point out to Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano that the occupation of Albania contravened the 1938 Anglo-Italian agreement which stipulated that the status quo should be maintained in the Mediterranean area.

ALBANIAN PROTEST

Paris—(AP)—The Albanian legation strongly protested the "barbarous action' 'of Italy against Albania in a published statement today.

The legation asserted that Albanian troops had repulsed "up to the present" Italian troops attempting to land at Adriatic ports, and continued:

"Very large naval and aerial forces bombarded and are continuing to bombard unprotected cities on the coast, massacring defenseless women and children."

The legation asked "all civilized nations" to send aid to the Albanians, who "despite unequal numbers are baring their chests against the barbarous invaders."

King's Appeal

King Zog appealed to his people to fight "to the last drop of blood" against Italian invasion, Havas (French news agency) reported from Belgrade.

The monarch's appeal was broadcast from Tirana at 3 o'clock p. m. (8 a. m., C. S. T.,) in German, French and Italian. Shortly afterward the radio carried an attack against Premier Mussolini, charging he was sacrificing Italian youth to "imperialistic goals of empire."

The radio said Durazzo port was bombed six times, twice by Italian airplanes and four times by the navy, while Italian troops tried to land there.

Seven times, the radio said, the Italian troops tried to disembark but each time they were thrown back. During the seventh attack, the broadcast asserted, fascist troops reached municipal government headquarters in the city.

Durazzo was said to be in ruins after the bombardments. Another coastal town, San Giovanni di Medua, was also said to have been damaged seriously.

HANDS-OFF POSITION

Belgrade — (AP)—Yugoslavia held today a hands-off policy over Italian occupation of Albania, her little southern neighbor, but official Yugoslav sources expressed fear it would upset the Balkan equilibrium.

The government took the position that Yugoslavia and other signers of the Balkan pact had no obligation to Albania and would not interfere in her difficulties with Italy.

The foreign office had kept vigil throughout the night and the cabinet met today to deal with the Adriatic crisis.

The Albanian legation here declared "the fight has started.".

"Our people," it said, "will fight to the last drop of our blood for our independence."

Yugoslav troops have patrolled the Albanian border for some time to prevent any influx of Albanian refugees or armed bands.

"HEROIC RESISTANCE"

Sofia, Bulgaria — (AP)—The Tirana radio this afternoon announced that the Italian invasion of Albania was being "resisted heroically."

In a communication to all Albanian legations abroad, the radio said: "Italian forces are bombing the whole of the Albanian coastline. Fighting on our side is being carried on with great enthusiasm.

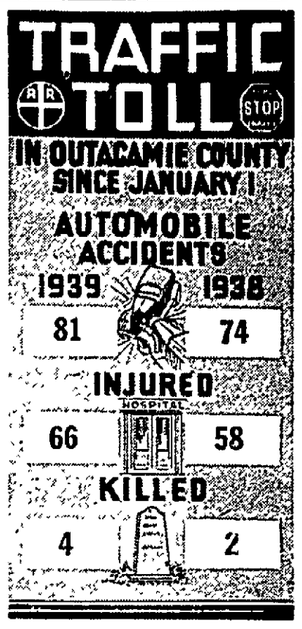

"The royal Albanian government has decided to resist the Italians to the bitter end."

The Albanian radio announcement said that Durazzo was bombed seven times today, Valona three times, while other points on the coast were subjected to sporadic bombardment.

Other reports from Albania asserted that hundreds of foreigners in the country were offering to serve in the Albanian army "against the common enemy."

King Carol, back in the capital from an inspection tour of the Hungarian frontier, kept in close touch with developments.

Italians Report Albanians Driven Back in Clashes

lowers which was vented "with provoking and significant acts of violence against Italian citizens living in Albania and against those Albanian leaders suspected of more authentic friendship for Italy."

The Italian government, he said, called Zog to account in attempting to clear up a situation which had become "intolerable" and to obtain "guarantees for Italians and the Albanian people."

Zog "avoided the pacifying attempts," he charged, and had "voluntarily renounced the Italian guarantee of Albania's political independence" by allowing the Italian-Albanian treaty of 1927 to expire on Nov. 27, 1931.

Italy entered Albania, Gayda continued, "not in a spirit of harsh domination by conquest" but with a "profound sense of respect" for the country's spirit, customs, and needs.

Pledges Collaboration

He pledged Italy's collaboration "to help the Albanian people along the road to work and progress."

(Semi-official sources at Tirana said Italians who landed on the beach at Durazzo were twice driven into the sea by Albanian patriots. They also reported hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Valona when Italians succeeded in landing there and encountered resistance from Albanian soldiers, gendarmes and volunteers.)

Four hundred Italian airplanes patrolled the skies over Albania with orders, the Italian government said, to refrain from bombing inhabited centers and to "spare the populations."

Italy's military action followed week-long negotiations between Italy and Albania in which Italians said they sought to strengthen their 1927 military, economic and political alliance with Albania.

Officials remained silent on the outcome of these negotiations but there were rumors the military occupation followed failure of King Zog of Albania to accept Italian terms within a time limit which expired last night.

Ultimatum Spurned

(A French news agency, Havas, dispatch from Tirana, said the Albanian chamber unanimously rejected the Italian ultimatum while Italian planes bombed the port cities of Valona and Durazzo and flew over the parliament building dropping leaflets saying Italian troops had landed.)

Before the troops landed, the airplanes scattered hundreds of thousands of leaflets over all Albania warning the inhabitants of the invasion and urging them not to resist.

An official Italian announcement that troops and naval forces had been dispatched to Albania said action was being taken to protect the lives of Italians in Albania which had been endangered by unruly bands of natives. Many Italians had been evacuated on Italian battleships, it was declared.

The occupation was started just as General Alberto Pariani, Italian under-secretary of war, returned from conferences with Colonel General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of the German armed forces, at Innsbruck, Germany.

Immediately upon his return, Pariani reported to Premier Mussolini on his talks.

Supported by Reich

Berlin —(AP)— Officials announced today Germany was backing Italy in Albania and would not "understand if western democratic powers attempted to interfere with Mussolini's action."

This "hands off" declaration followed press condemnation of the Anglo-Polish mutual defense agreement announced yesterady in London.

"Germany has complete understanding of il duce's action and regards it as within the spirit of the 1927 Italo-Albanian friendship treaty," one official said. He referred to the treaty by which Italy previously established a measure of protection over Albania.

"Italy naturally can not tolerate continued unrest so near to her shores and attacks upon Italian citizens," he added.

The two-day conversations at Innsbruck between Colonel-General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and General Alberto Pariani, Italian undersecretary for war, now are interpreted here as having been concerned principally with what joint action might be taken by armies of the axis powers in case Britain or any other nation tried to frustrate the Italian move against Albania.

The Innsbruck talks ended yesterday. (Pariani returned immediately to Rome and reported to Premier Mussolini.)

Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter led the German press in warning Poland of exposure to the fate of Czechoslovakia and Austria if she signed a permanent defense treaty with Great Britain.

'Big Show-Down' Is Yet to Come in European Situation

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Writer

New York — It is doubtful whether even the all-knowing Delphian oracle, with its varied experience reaching far back of the Christian era, would venture a prediction regarding the present volcanic status of the European crisis.

I consulted the oracle while in Greece last fall, but though finding thrill and inspiration way up there among the "shining rocks" of Mount Parnassus, came away without having been endowed with the gift of major prophecy. Still, while one wouldn't be rash enough to try to foretell the outcome of this issue, there are some facts which dovetail to help clarify the position. We can start putting the jig-saw together with three pieces:

First:—This is probably the most critical position yet reached in the clash between the dictatorships and the democracies.

Second:—While obviously almost any eventuality could emerge from the seething situation, observers generally believe that this isn't the "big show-down."

Third:—The greatest danger isn't that war may arise from any of the sensational developments which are popping up all over the place. It lies in the possibility that one side or the other may decide that, since the dispute must be ironed out sooner or later, it might as well be sooner.

In assaying the situation one of the first things to be taken into consideration is that only recently have England and France got "set" both mentally and materially to deal with the crisis.

Press in Italy Defends Action

Declares Invasion of Albania 'Right', Guards Vital Interests

Rome—(AP)—The Italian press unanimously argued today that Italian occupation of Albania was Italy's "Right" and necessary for the defense of her vital interests.

The step was taken "for the well-being of the Albanian people" as well, fascist newspapers said, and to preserve peace in Europe.

Editorials accused King Zog of having planned to attack Yugoslavia and "disturb the tranquil and cordial relations between Italy and Yugoslavia."

The Italian claim on Alabania was traced to 229 B. C., when it was part of the ancient Roman province of Illyria.

"Military measures which Italy has been compelled to take in Albania respond to the evident necessity of her vital interests," La Tribuna said, in an explanation which was typical of those in other papers.

"One merely has to glance at the 'Adriatic gulf' and the position of the Albanian coast, which almost touches Italian shores, to understand.

"In the face of certain underhand maneuvers in Albania, Italy had to act with the greatest firmness. . . .

"Our title to Albania is perfectly valid and anyone wishing to enquire into it will find that it goes back to 229 B. C., when Roman law was imposed on the Illyrian populations.

"The names of Azio, Dodona, Nicopoli, Scutari, Valona and Durazzo are glorious reminders, Venetian as well as Roman."

Mothersingers to Appear at State PTA Convention

A state Chorus of Mothersingers will appear Tuesday, April 18, at the evening session of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers at Madison. The concert given on the Tuesday program, in the Crystal Ballroom, Hotel Loraine, will bring together representatives from local chorus groups from every section of the state under the direction of Mrs. Frank J. Hahn, Jr., Ashland, State Music Chairman. In addition to the Madison group there will be chorus groups from Milwaukee, West Allis, Sheboygan, Marinette, Superior, Ashland, Stevens Point, Antigo, and Beloit.

The state chorus will meet Tuesday for an 11:30 luncheon and rehearsal. Throughout the year, various groups have been studying the concert numbers and it will be the responsibility of Mrs. Hahn to combine the groups and, in two brief rehearsals prepare to present the chorus for its convention appearance Tuesday evening.

County CCC Enrolment Will be Taken Monday

The next CCC enrolment from Outagamie county will be taken Monday, according to Miss Madlyn Newell, head of the Outagamie County Public Welfare department. The county's quota is not yet filled and applications will still be taken Saturday. Eligible applicants will be given physical examinations Monday and immediately will leave for camp.

Woman Is Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Mrs. Arthur Lintner, Chilton, Seriously Injured in Accident

Chilton—Authorities today were trying to establish identity of the driver of a car which struck and seriously injured Mrs. Arthur Lintner on N. Madison street about 9 o'clock last night. Mrs. Lintner, returning from choir practice to her home in the north end of the city, was walking on the right side of the street, Highway 57, when the car came from behind and knocked her into the ditch. The vehicle did not stop, it was reported.

Mrs. Lintner, a middle-aged woman, regained consciousness after laying in the ditch nearly an hour and walked in a dazed condition to a nearby garage where attendants took her to a physician's office. Examination revealed severe lacerations of her head, leg and foot, multiple body bruises and a possible skull fracture. She was removed to her home.

Sheriff G. B. Jensen broadcast a request to police in surrounding counties to stop cars with broken headlights or windshields because glass was found at the scene of the accident.

Reservations Number 300 for Scout Parley At Kaukauna April 20

More than 300 reservations have been made for the annual meeting of the valley council of boy scouts which will be held Thursday night, April 20, in the Kaukauna High school gymnasium, the valley council office reported today.

C. J. Carlson, regional executive, Dr. Thomas N. Barrows, president of Lawrence college, and Walter Dixon, resigning scout executive, will be among the speakers at the meeting.

Mowry Smith, council president, will preside. The executive who will succeed Dixon—who has accepted a position with Boy Scouts of America in Kansas—will be introduced at the meeting.

Weems Orchestra Will Appear at Nitingale

The Nitingale ballroom will hold its spring opening Sunday and Monday nights, it was announced today.

Skippy Anderson's orchestra, of Omaha, Neb., will appear Sunday evening and Ted Weems Monday night. Featured with the Weems band will be Elmo Tanner, Red Ingle, and the King's Glee club. Benny Goodman will appear at the Nitingale April 30.

Committee Will Act On Fund Investment

Members of the county executive committee, recently named the investment committee for the new courthouse trust fund, will meet at the courthouse Saturday morning to act on the reinvestment of about $65,000 of the fund. The money in the courthouse fund will be used when the county builds a new courthouse building.

Special Delivery Rate To Canada Is Lowered

Special delivery letter service to Canada will cost 10 cents instead of 20 April 15 and after, Postmaster Stephen Ballhet said today.

Canada recently made a similar reduction in the rate to the United States, the postmaster reported.

Utschig Is Given Permits to Erect Two New Residences

Al Utschig, 1202 N. State street, today was given a permit by the city building inspector to erect a residence at 1309 S. Alicia drive. The house will be 30 feet long and 26 feet wide and will be built of frame materials. The garage will be 20 feet square. Cost of the home is estimated at $6,000.

Utschig yesterday started work on a $6,600 residence and garage at 544 N. Durkee street. The house will be 28 feet, 10 inches wide and 32 feet, 10 inches long with a garage, 14 by 20 feet. The building will be brick veneered.

Asks That Rubbish be Stored in Containers

Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer, today asked property owners and renters not to rake rubbish into the street gutters but to store it in containers until the date for the regular rubbish pickup. Rubbish raked into the gutters makes the street look untidy, he said, and also plugs catchbasins in sewers after a rain.

It Is Said--

That Dean John Millis of Lawrence college unwittingly prophesied yesterday's snow flurries within a day. At an educational meeting several weeks ago he met Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of Rockford college, and when she told him that she was speaking in Appleton on April 5, he answered jokingly that that would be just about the time the city would be having its spring snow storm. Dr. Cheek told the story when she spoke before the American Association of University Women here Wednesday night.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The street and bridge committee of the city council will meet at 10 o'clock Monday morning in city hall to consider various requests for street improvements. The committee's report will be submitted at a meeting of the council April 18.

Snow May Spoil Pageant of Hats

Milady Worried Over Trend of Weather as Easter Approaches

Milady looked out the window at the snowflakes today, looked back at her perishable Easter bonnet, and wondered dismally if all this meant she couldn't break out in her new regalia Sunday.

The weatherman's outlook is none too encouraging, although there's a good chance Sunday may be clear, despite brisk temperatures. Cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with light snowfalls likely, is the forecast issued today by the Milwaukee bureau.

This afternoon, if you looked only at the falling snow and not at the ground, you could convince yourself the calendar had flopped back a couple of pages.

The mercury sagged down to 19 above zero at 5 o'clock this morning and couldn't get above 32 by 1 o'clock this afternoon. Meanwhile Los Angeles reported 90 degrees yesterday, the nation's high. Sault St. Marie, Mich., with four above, turned in the coldest reading.

Kiwanians to Have Divisional Meet at School at Seymour

More Than 200 Guests Expected at Gathering In Gymnasium

Seymour—An inter-club divisional meeting of Kiwanis clubs will be held next Tuesday evening at the high school gymnasium. More than two hundred guests from Chilton, Appleton, Neenah, Marinette, Green Bay, Oconto and Oconto Falls are expected to attend. A special program has been arranged for the visiting Kiwanians and their wives. The guest of honor will be George Hetherington of LaCrosse, district governor of Kiwanis.

"Down by the Old Mill Stream" will be the scene of the Junior prom held in the Seymour High school gymnasium, April 28. The spring evening atmosphere will pervade as one enters the gym and crosses a bridge under which flows a narrow stream. This stream will run past an old fashioned mill and then into a large growth of evergreen trees. Davenports and chairs will be placed among the trees to provide seats between dances. A stone wall separates the dance floor from these places. A full moon, just to sink behind the mountains on the stage will provide the light for dancing.

Special Easter services will be held in all of the Seymour churches next Sunday. In the Congregational church services will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. with the sermon by the Rev. Herbert Kelly. Special musical numbers will be sung.

Easter confessional services in the Lutheran church be in English and will begin at 10 o'clock. The main services for the days will be held at 10:15.

Easter worship service will begin at the Methodist church at 10:50 Sunday morning. Reception of new members with an Easter meditation will be held at these services.

Church worship service at the Evangelical church will begin at 10:45 a. m. with an Easter sermon by the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt. Music will be furnished by the choir. New members will be received into the church. An Easter pageant, "An Unshadowed Cross," will be given at 7:45 in the evening.

The next meeting of the Seymour Women's club will be held Monday evening. Mrs. E. Peotter will discuss the "World's Fair San Francisco" and Mrs. James Dunbar "Glacier Park."

The Seymour graded and high schools closed on Tuesday afternoon for the Easter vacation. School will be resumed next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller were at Madison Tuesday and Wednesday. The former attended the convention of bankers held there this week.

Babson Says Fear Is Only Drawback To Business Today

Points to Big Gains Over Year Ago; Claims New Deal Is Waning

BY ROGER BABSON

Babson Park, Florida—Business today is better than the average business man thinks it is. Actually, it is fairly good. It could, of course, be better. it could also be worse. In cold figures, business is 22 per cent above a year ago and only 12 per cent under the peak of two years ago. Excepting only 1937, activity this spring is the highest for any similar season in ten years! This does not sound quite so bad as the average person has been led to believe, does it?

BUSINESS SIGNS POINT UPWARD

1. Labor troubles dying out.
2. Political picture better.
3. No war this spring.
4. Raw materials cheap.
5. Inventories at rock bottom.
6. Profit margins good.
7. "Fear" only drawback.

Just to show readers how activity in various industries contrasts with the low levels of 1938 and the good volume of 1937, here are some simple percentage comparisons:

Today Compared with	Year Ago	2 Years Ago
Freight carloadings	+ 8%	—20%
Steel operations	+70	—40
Textile Activity	+36	—13
Elec. consumption	+11	+ 3
Building volume	+40	+15
Bank debits	+10	—15
Auto. assemblies	+70	—23
Retail trade	+ 8	— 5
Number of jobs	+ 3	—15
Farm products prices	— 4	—26

First Quarter Gain

On New Year's day, I predicted a 25 per cent increase for the first half of 1939 over the initial six months of 1938. The record shows the gain for the first quarter has been 21 per cent. However, I anticipated that business by Easter would have seen a slight rise over the year-end level. January business stood at 100 on the Babsonchart. Since then it has marked time. February was 99, March 99.5, and April is opening at 100. In 1938, the figures were 84 in January, 81.5 in February, and 81 in March.

Does the failure of business to rise since January mean that the encouraging predictions I made for the entire year should be revised downward? Definitely not! The improvement has simply been postponed by one war scare after another. Three out of every four investors, bankers, business men, and merchants whom I see say, "I'm not doing anything until I see what Hitler does next." Those who seem least worried of all are Mrs. and Mrs. John Q. Consumer. They keep right on with their retail shopping despite war hysteria. They are showing more sense than most "business men".

Retail Trade Better

We should be thankful that they are! By continuing to buy, they force stores to reorder merchandise; force manufacturers to buy raw materials; and force workers to keep employed. If they were as chicken-hearted as those who are scared stiff by sensational radio and news dispatches, trade would be as low as a year ago. As it is, retail sales are relatively good. Prices are well below last Easter season; yet profit margins in many lines are better than they were even in 1937. Those businesses that are lagging are being held back by "fear"—and "fear" alone.

The pet peeve of many business men has shifted from Washington to Berlin. Some, however, are still more worried about "what Roosevelt is going to do" than "what Hitler is going to do." These men do not yet realize that the New Deal, as such, is waning. The president could not get a new anti-business law through congress with a carload of crowbars. Moreover, we may get some tax relief even if there is no real economy at this session. So the Washington angle certainly looks better.

New Farm Plan

The one unhappy factor in the outlook is the low prices of wheat, corn, cotton, citrus, dairy products, and vegetables. Barring a severe drought this year, they will probably remain down—although there may be slight gains from current four-year lows. I'm not an advocate of high food costs—or any other high costs for that matter—but the farmer is entitled to a fair price for his labor just as is the union worker and the salaried employee. He may get a "break" in Secretary Wallace's new stamp method of distributing surplus farm commodities. The latest scheme sounds more practical than any experiment that has yet been tried.

Industrial raw materials are a real incentive to buyers at present prices. Those who are worried about the failure of commodity prices to rise should study what has happened in the past. The most prosperous eras in the history of the world have been in periods when commodity prices were low—and stayed low! The labor outlook is better, too. There have been less strikes so far this year than in any similar months since 1933. Inventories are down to rock bottom. Any further improvement in retail trade means that goods must be manufactured rather than taken out of stocks.

Hence, I cannot understand why business men should be so worried today. The stage is set for better business. There is not going to be a general war in Europe this spring. Why stew about it? If every uncertainty in the picture caused us to hesitate and worry, we would never get anything done! "Crises" from Europe will continue, but gradually we will become immune to them. Hence, I believe that as spring works along, our business gains over a year ago should become bigger rather than smaller. So cheer up, and get your share of the greater volume of trade!

Fine Arts Department at Lawrence Compares With Best Found in Mid-Western Colleges

This is the twelfth of a number of articles prepared by the Appleton Post-Crescent to discuss the opportunities offered by Lawrence college.

BY VIOLA HELLERMAN

To give its students the appreciation of beauty which it considers an important element of education, Lawrence college has made its fine arts department one of the best not only in Wisconsin but in the midwest. Its work in music, art appreciation and amateur theatrical work compares favorably with many colleges and universities of greater size and wealth.

Not only students majoring in the fine arts but every boy and girl enroled at the college is given the opportunity to develop sound aesthetic taste. This is made possible especially by the rental picture collection. Inaugurated under Dr. Henry Wriston, the rental picture plan provides for the circulating of good originals and fine reproductions of great paintings among the student body.

There are now several hundred pictures in this rental collection, which is patronized by the major portion of the student body, the fraternity houses, the sorority rooms and members of the faculty. These pictures are rented at a very nominal sum per semester, and the college feels it give the students an easy and painless opportunity to live with fine works of art. A large number of extra pictures are kept on hand so that a student tiring of the picture he has chosen may bring it in at any time and exchange it for something different.

Additions Each Year

The collection consists not only of the best available color reproductions splendidly framed, but also of a great number of originals, lithographs and etchings by many of the best contemporary artists. There is a large fund with which each year the college adds to the rental collection in order that it will never become stagnant. By constantly adding new pictures, it hopes to keep the collection a source of interest and stimulation to the student body.

For the large number of students who are interested in applied art and plan to do it both for credit and for their own pleasure, Lawrence college offers an opportunity to develop their talents in the fields of dry point, etching, oil painting, water color painting, pencil sketching, pastel and charcoal. Several students have developed a high degree of talent in one or more of these fields at Lawrence and have gone on to regular art schools such as the Art Institute in Chicago and the Academy of Art in New York, where they have received prizes and high honors in their fields.

The teaching of the history of art has been facilitated greatly by the tremendous collection of photographs and reproductions acquired not only through the generosity of the Carnegie Foundation, but also through gifts and careful selections of fine reproductions from current magazines and newspapers. These pictures, with the aid of one of the librarians, are available to the public.

Slide Collection

To supplement these, the college has been building for several years, and is still adding to it, a slide collection which now numbers about 5,000 pictures. These slides give opportunity for a broader, more detailed study of art. All art courses must by reason of the nature of the subject be of a visional nature, and the material which Lawrence college offers in this field far surpasses that of many of the colleges and universities of greater size and wealth not only in Wisconsin but also in the midwest.

At least once a month and sometimes twice during the month, exhibitions of the best quality are offered along the staircase and in the halls of the college library for the benefit not only of the students but of the entire community. From 200 to 300 visitors come every month to see these exhibitions and the college should like to see that number increased many times. It welcomes grade or high school pupils, either individually or in groups, to see these fine exhibitions of oil paintings, water colors, etchings, etc., produced by the best artists in the country.

Many of these exhibitions offer the public an opportunity to buy first class works of art at very nominal sums.

Fine Arts Club

Recently a group of students organized a Fine Arts club to familiarize themselves with places of cultural and industrial interest in the Fox River valley. Although it carries no academic credit, the club is one of the finest opportunities offered by the art department of Lawrence college to correlate the artistic and industrial elements into the entire cultural structure of this region.

Alternate weeks field trips are made to places of historic interest, such as old Fort Howard at Green Bay and the Grignon mansion at Kaukauna, and to places of industrial interest, such as the Banta Press and the Gilbert Paper company.

Alden Megrew, who is instructor in the art history and appreciation at the college, feels that the fine arts of the community lie in those fields which stimulate and promote culture. Members of the club shall also visit various examples of fine homes in Neenah and Appleton as part of the program of showing the manner in which one can actually live a cultural life. During the alternate weeks in which field trips are not made, speakers chosen from the faculty, the community or the student body discuss at their meetings matters of cultural interest in the field of fine arts as well as in the field of industrial development.

Mr. Megrew, who has been on the Lawrence college faculty since 1934, has a bachelor of science degree from Harvard university. He is assisted by Roger Sherman, who also works with F. Theodore Cloak in the college theater.

Sportwin Evinrude Tops Fishermen's Prizes

Pond Sport Shop Offers Motor as Outstanding Gift

Sale of Tickets Will be Announced Tomorrow On This Page

BY GORDON McINTYRE

AN Evinrude Sportwin outboard motor, the lightest and most popular "twin" made by the Evinrude company, will be the top prize—the one everyone will be hoping to get—at the Appleton Post-Crecent's third annual Fishermen's Party at the Rio Theater, Tuesday evening, April 25.

The motor is being offered by Charles Pond of the Pond Sport Shop, 133 E. College avenue, local agent, who has models of practically every type motor at his store.

And speaking of the motor and the family style Clinker rowboat which will be the second ranking award, the Post-Crescent this year will inaugurate a new method of selecting the winners. The number of the motor and boat will be drawn first and placed in plain view of the audience. When it comes time to award the boat the number will be taken down from the board and read. Likewise when the motor is to be awarded.

The plan has been adopted to enable every person in the theater to have a chance on the two big prizes. In past years winners of other prizes knew they didn't have a chance on the boat or motor. This year everyone will have the same opportunity. If you're not to be the lucky person you'll probably know by hearing your number drawn for some other gift.

Weighs 35 Pounds

The Sportwin weights only 35 pounds yet has a speed range of 1¼ to 9 miles per hour and has all the salient features incorporated in the best Evinrude motors. The flywheel is enclosed; there is free, automatic tilt-up; instant pivot steering; balanced power impulses; an easy-carry handle; propellor protection clutch; an Evinrude super magneto ignition; special flood proof carburetion; streamline gear housing and grease seals; two stage centrifugal pump; finger-tip lever controls; vibrationless steering handle with relief co-pilots and automatic exhaust relief.

At the moment more than 125 prizes have been secured for the party and there isn't one that you couldn't use if you are interested in fishing or out-of-doors activities. As a matter of fact there even will be a few with which you can bribe friend wife for an extra evening out, or perhaps an extra fishing trip along about the time the trout are biting and you remember you didn't have such good luck the first trip.

Take the Wife Along!

Which reminds us: Don't forget to take the wife to the party. Perhaps she'll have better luck with her ticket than you and we are assuring you that she'll enjoy the evening's program. Every year we have people asking whether the women are invited. Yes, sir! They are entirely welcome and as we said, they'll have a pleasant evening.

With the announcement this week of the big prizes and with the lists of smaller ones which have run for the last two weeks, we've been deluged with questions about tickets. Look on this page tomorrow. There'll be an announcement—and then make arrangements to get them in a hurry. While we'll be able to seat about 500 more persons than last year, indications are the tickets will be snatched up as readily as in past years.

DONOR "CRANKS" FISHERMEN'S PARTY MOTOR

Here's the Evinrude Sportwin outboard motor which will be the top prize at the Appleton Post-Crescent's third annual Fishermen's Party, getting a workout from the donor, Charles Pond of the Pond Sport Shop. The party is scheduled for Tuesday evening, April 25, at the Rio theater. And just in case you don't win the motor and are interested in Evinrudes, Ponds have a large number of models as you'll notice above. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Brews Lack Punch; Orioles Cop, 9-8

Hernandez, Milwaukee Catcher and Infielder, Gets 4 Singles

Daytona Beach, Fla. —(AP)— The Milwaukee Brewers lacked a punch in the pinch yesterday and lost to the Baltimore Orioles in 12 innings, 9 to 8.

Tex Carleton was the closing pitcher but gave up only one earned run in the last seven innings after he succeeded Ken Jungels. Each yielded seven hits. Jungels walked six. Carleton three.

Sal Hernandez got four singles in the Brewers' 15-hit attack, which also included a homer by Bobby Mattick. Gordie Foth and Eddie Hope, Brewer infielders, went hitless.

Annual City Pin Tourney to Begin At Arcade April 15

The annual city handicap bowling tournament will be held from April 15 to 24 at Arcade alleys. The event is sanctioned by the American Bowling congress and is open to all keglers who are members of the city bowling association.

The handicap will be based on a scratch score of 190, using 2-3 the difference between averages and scratch each game. The entry fee for each event will be $1 a man. Interested bowlers may register at the Arcade or with R. E. Schmidt.

Those bowlers who participated in more than one sanctioned league will be eligible to bowl with each league team. To be eligible for the all-events awards, a man must compete in the team, doubles and singles events.

Class C

8:30—12th ward Bears versus 9th ward Men from Mars.

Class D

9:20—2nd ward Hot Shots versus 15th ward Outlaws.

FIVE games were staged yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. ward basketball tournament as the semi-final round was completed and the stage cleared for the final contests on Monday evening, April 10.

The opener, at 7:40, will have the Fourth ward's Bloody Fourthers against the Eighth ward Flashes in Class B competition. At 8:30 the Twelfth ward Bears will tangle in Class B competition. At 8:30 the Twelfth ward Bears will tangle with the Ninth ward Men from Mars for Class C honors. The final game, in Class D, will have the Seconld ward Hot Shots versus the Fifteenth ward Outlaws at 9:20.

Men from Mars and the Ninth ward set a tourney record yesterday when they walloped the Twelfth ward Rebels by a 54 to 6 count. The score was 7 to 2 at the quarter, 19 to 2 at the half and 38 to 4 at the third quarter. Heid of the winners got 20 points while Lillge tipped in 11 and Rollins 10.

The Twelfth ward Bears were listless and out of the picture in the opening half of their game with the Fourteenth ward Dobbers but managed to grab a 25 to 23 victory in the final half. The Dobbers led 6 to 1 at the quarter and 11 to 6 at the half. In the third stanza the Bears clicked to a 19 to 16 lead and then

PIN TREASURER SENTENCED

Milwaukee —(AP)— Stanley Wojszko, 26, secretary-treasurer of two bowling leagues, was sentenced in municipal court yesterday to serve one to three and a half years in the house of correction on charges of embezzlement. He was accused of taking $802 prize money which was to have been distributed to leading bowlers in the league.

Touring Pros Enter Last of Winter Open Golfing Tournaments

Asheville, N. C. —(AP)— The touring pros went to the barrier today in the last of the winter open golf tournaments — Asheville's $5,000 "Land of the Sky" event.

Wind almost had dried out the Asheville country club course, where the first 18 holes of the 72-hole tournament will be played, after a heavy rain left it soggy yesterday.

The scene of competition will shift tomorrow and Sunday to two other courses.

Broad-shouldered Ralph Guldahl, in the face of his recent triumph over the "masters" field at Augusta, Ga., in a spectacular nine-hole finish, was a strong favorite.

Along with the national open champion in the line-up were some two dozen fellow pros, and a sprinkling of amateurs.

The second round of the tournament tomorrow will be played over the Beaver Lake course, and the final 36 holes Sunday, over the Biltmore Forest fairways.

Twin City Quint Loses to Superior In DeMolay Meet

Northern Quint Eliminates Neenah-Menasha By 34 to 24 Score

MILWAUKEE —(AP)— A fast breaking Superior five eliminated Neenah-Menasha from the Wisconsin DeMolay's fifth annual basketball tournament in the opening round of play Thursday night by posting a 34-24 victory in the Shorewood High school gymnasium.

Except for the first few minutes of play Superior led the entire route and withstood a determined Neenah-Menasha challenge late in the game to secure the decision. The Neenah-Menasha team experienced difficulty piercing the sturdy Superior defense until the final period when a desperate drive led by Rodger Kettering and Carl Burmeister fell short of its mark. The Superior squad employed a fast break to great advantage, catching the defensive guards napping on several occasions.

Paced by rangy Les Welch, at forward, and center George Lee, the shifty Northerners raced to a 9-3 first quarter lead and held a 15-11 advantage at the half. The Superior team uncorked a brief scoring spurt after the intermission and increased its margin to 24-13 going into the final period. At this juncture the Neenah-Menasha cagers staged their gallant comeback. With Kettering and Burmeister doing the heavy damage, Neenah-Menasha narrowed the gap to 28-22 with two minutes of play remaining. Superior again took command of the situation, however, and coasted in to victory. Burmeister dropped in a long shot to make the score, 29-24, but a free throw and two goals by the Northerners sewed up the decision

Welch and Lee turned in standout performances for Superior with 11 and 9 points respectively, while Kettering, Burmeister and Earl Block kept Neenah-Menasha in the game with sparkling all-court play.

Delavan 53, Stevens Point 23.

Superior 34, Neenah-Menasha 24.

Burlington 23, Waukesha 21

Delavan 40, Bay View 22.

Washington Park (Racine) 22, Malta Blacks (Milwaukee) 5

Malta Whites (Milwaukee) 37, Longvic Raon (Milwaukee) 26.

CAPTAIN SETS EXAMPLE

Columbus, O. —(AP)— Ohio State university's golf team captain, Charles T. Carl, sets a good example. In a practice round yesterday he shot a hole-in-one with a No. 2 iron on the 180-yard No. 17 green on the university's course.

Yankees, Boston Red Sox Appear to Have the Best Crop of Rookie Ball Players

BY JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK — (AP) — Like the flowers that bloom in the spring the bright-eyed rookies are being plucked from the major league rosters in great clusters these days.

It is a pleasure, therefore, to reassure baseball fans that the paens of praise written in the last month about mushroom Ty Cobbs and Walter Johnsons were not entirely fiction.

At least a dozen freshmen still look like stars in the darkness before the 1939 season's dawn and if half of them fulfill their promise they will have equalled last year's bumper mark.

The world champion Yankees who maybe need them least of all, have one of the smartest assortments of rookies. Marse Joe McCarthy is going to keep the batting champion of the International league, Warren (Buddy) Rosar, riding the bench just to relieve durable Bill Dickey with the catching chore.

The Yanks aren't a club to cover their rookies under a bushel, however, so McCarthy probably will have a neophyte in left field. Right now it looks like Joe Gallagher, an honor candidate of Kansas City. Charley Keller may catch up to the job.

If there is a brighter assemblage, it is that of the Boston Red Sox. Ted Williams, the American association batting king, is a "sure thing" for an outfield berth. Jim Tabor is being groomed for third base and Woodrow Rich may be a pitching standby.

Tigers Have Hutchinson

Detroit has the heralded Freddie Hutchinson, bearing a $100,000 price tag but there is some question whether all that is gold about his coast career will glisten in the American league. Barney McCoskey seems to have won an outfield assignment and Dizzy Trout might become the pitching hero Hutchinson would like to be.

Every club counts on at least one newcomer.

The New York Giants have Manny Salvo, Pacific coast strikeout monarch, whom Bill Terry plans to use in a starting role.

The Cincinnati Reds have Gene (Junior) Thompson, who already has participated in a no-hit grapefruit league maneuver for the Rhinelanders.

Eddie Miller looks like the starting shortstop for the Boston Bees; the Chicago Cubs count on Gene Lillard as a pitcher, although three years ago he failed as an infield candidate; if the Pittsburgh Pirates get any southpaw pitching it'll have to be from young Ken Heintzelman.

The St. Louis Cardinals for the first time since Dizzy Dean came up stand to get some pitching strength from their farmhands. Tom Sunkel, Mort Cooper and perhaps one other flinger may be culled from the crop.

And of course Connie Mack is shuffling his hand-me-downs in his customary calm but mystifying fashion. There'll be a rookie at third base replacing Bill Werber, and probably Dee Miles will be in the outfield.

Baseball obviously needs its freshman class.

Young, Canadeo On Oshkosh Card

Lutz, Toonen, Wiese and Lamers Will Also Perform

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh—Two St. Norbert College students headline the fight bill scheduled here for Thursday evening, April 13, the Amateur Sports association of this city announced today.

Cornelius Young, Chicago Golden Glove Champion of 1938 and Savior Canadeo, another Golden Glove champion, and both students of St. Norbert College, will be featured in the main events here on that night. Young will oppose Larry Chatman, United States Diamond Belt Champion for this year at Detroit, in the 175 pound class. Canadeo will meet Leroy McAdams, Milwaukee Golden Gloves champion, in the 147 pound class.

In the preliminaries, Al Robins, Oshkosh, will meet Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute, 140 pound class; Jim Coyne, Fond du Lac, will meet Forrest Gee, Milwaukee at 155 pounds; Jerry Gutman, Fond du Lac versus Joe Johnson, colored Milwaukee youth at 147 pounds; Eddie Troxell in the 145 pound class meets Cliff Lutz, Appleton; and Tuffey Toonen, Appleton, versus Ray Wiese, Appleton, at 126 pounds.

VERIFINE Ice Cream bowlers dropped two games to Liethen Grains but won the Grocers league championship during final matches at Elks alleys last night. The Liethen squad wound up in second place and Elm Tree Bakery took third.

Individual honors went to E. Schabo with a 243 game and A. Daniels with a 629 series while top team totals were registered by Spilker's Bakery with 988 and Elm Tree Bakery with 2,740.

A. Daniels paced Liethen Grains as he crowded the maples for games of 205 and 228 for his high triple. H. Liethen collected a 231 game. High for the losers was H. Bushman with a 213 single and 561 series.

Elm Tree Bakerys took the odd game from Puritan Bakery as E. Schabo banged his high game, C. Damon smacked 584 and Grishaber uncorked a 226. C. Otto topped the losers with a 559 count.

Spilker's Bakery made it three straight over Outagamie Milks as H. Daschlett grooved 228 and 571. J. Bosch showed 220 and 551 for the losers.

Wisconsin Distributing company downed Cohen Fruits in two games as L. Cohodas drilled 214 and 209 for a 584 triple. Krautkramer mainstayed the losers as he battered games of 221 and 208 for a 622 total.

Quality Biscuits won two from Jelke "Good Luck" as Schwan hit 529. J. Stelpflug tallied 539 for the losers.

played even ball in the last quarter to win.

First ward Goons staggered around for three quarters with the Fourteenth ward Blue Noses and then captured a 38 to 35 decision in the final quarter. The Blues took a 15 to 18 lead in the opening quarter and held a 25 to 19 edge at the half. In the third quarter the Goons went ahead by a point and by continuous firing at the hoop grabbed a 38 to 35 win. Frank Hammer of the losers had 17 points and Bob Van Ryzin of the winners 13.

Second ward Hot Shots were held practically even in the first half of their game with the Sixteenth ward All-Stars but then stepped out and won, 30 to 17. The first quarter score was 6 to 5, the half score 10 to 7, and the third quarter count 18 to 9. Shannon and Wolser featured Hot Shot play.

First ward Goons found two games in one evening too much and bowed to the Fifteenth ward Outlaws, 43 to 30. The Outlaws led 9 to 5 at the first official rest and 19 to 16 at the half. In the third quarter they managed to grab a 25 to 23 lead but in the fourth failed badly.

Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Lose Four Dozen Balls

Battle to 18-18 Tie in Dust Storm; Snow Stops Bucs, Cubs

FLORENCE, S. C.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds struggled through eight innings of a ball game yesterday in a 40 mile breeze that rolled great clouds of dust over the newly laid out diamond. Then they had to quit, with the score 18 to 18 (verified by expert statisticians).

Harry Craft, second man up in the Reds' half of the ninth, fouled the last of a supply of 48 baseballs into the gathering of 2,285.

46 Hits in All

Ival Goodman was on first because he singled. He might have scored to put the Reds in the lead once again. But they couldn't play ball any more so the score, the record, and all sentiments reverted to the eighth.

Up to that time the Reds made 24 hits and three errors and the Sox 22 and two. Four home runs were hit. Any number of hits went into the crowd for ground rule doubles. Seven pitchers tried in vain to fight the wind and dust and opposing batters.

The field was completed just a week ago and there wasn't a blade of grass on the diamond. The fire department hosed it down just before game time, but the gale quickly dried it out and the dust rose again, completely obscuring left field at times.

Cap Flies Off

In the third the wind blew off Billy Myers' cap and they called time to let him chase it. That inning the Red Sox got their first bundle of seven runs. In the seventh, L. Berger of the Sox popped one out the left field foul line but the wind picked it up and gave him a double. The Sox got three runs that inning to take the lead briefly.

This sort of thing went on and on until the bobtailed end.

Cincinnati	303	361	02—18	24	3

Batteries—Weaver, Livengood (4), Barrett (8), and Lombardi, Hershberger; Galehouse, Bagby (2), Dickmn (4), Kerksiek (7) and Berg.

MACKS IN TIE

Little Rock, Ark.—(AP)—Big Leroy Parmalee gave up six runs in the first two innings yesterday then steadied to pitch the Athletics to a 6-6 tie with Little Rock of the Southern Association. The game was called at the end of the ninth to allow the A's to catch a train for Memphis.

Frang Dasso, who pitched for Hazleton of the Eastern league last year, held the A's to one hit and two runs in five innings, but a four run rally off Chick Sayles in the sixth enabled the Athletics to tie.

Philadelphia (A)	101	004	000—6	9	4
Little Rock (SA)	420	000	000—6	5	1

(Game called end of ninth allow Athletics catch train for Memphis.)

SNOW HALTS GAME

Sweetwater, Tex.—(AP)—Snow and a biting cold wind caused cancellation yesterday of the scheduled game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Americans.

If the wintry snap lets up the Buccos and White Sox will clash today at Abilene, where some 50 brass bands are engaged in a championship contest for high school musicians.

Jim Tobin and Ken Heitzelman likely will pitch for the Pirates and Jack Knott and Johnny Whitehead for Chicago.

PHILLIES

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Opportune hitting gave the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association a 6 to 3 victory over the Phillies yesterday.

Hugh Mulcahy yielded four hits and three runs in the three innings he pitched. Harry Matuzak, the Phils' new right hander, gave up four hits and three runs in the five frames he worked.

Philadelphia (N)	000	100	020—3	6	3
Memphis (SA)	210	200	01x—6	8	0

TIGERS

Lakeland, Fla.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers broke camp last night and started a leisurely journey northward that will end when they oppose the Chicago White Sox at Briggs stadium in Detroit April 18 in their opening American league contest.

Before departing Del Baker, starting his first full season as leader of the Tigers, said he was completely satisfied with the results obtained in spring drills.

"I don't know what we'll do in the pennant race," he said, "but I do know one thing—we're in shape."

The Tigers will meet the Brooklyn Dodgers at Sumter, S. C., today.

Bruins Shake Off Maple Leaf Jinx

Boston Hockey Titlists Win First Game in Stanley Cup Series

Boston —(AP)— The play-off spell that the Toronto Maple Leafs had cast on the Boston Bruins appeared broken today and those National Hockey league titlists were one game up and three more to go to gain the prized Stanley cup that has eluded them for 10 seasons.

By unfolding an almost airtight defense in front of goalie Frankie Brimsek the Bruins gained a 2-1 triumph in the rather drab opening contest last night at the Boston garden.

While never in apparent danger, the Bruins appeared destined to go through some more sudden-death play until their tiny right-winger, Bobby Bauer, came to their rescue about five minutes before the regular time-limit.

Less than two minutes previous, Red Horner had nullified Woody Dumart's first period goal by taking full advantage of the Bruins' only defensive lapse. While Doc Romnes carried across the Boston line, Horner and Gus Marker broke fast and slipped inside the Boston defensemen.

The Bruins took their initial triumph over their Toronto nemesis, who have knocked them out in the first rounds of four previous playoffs, in stride and radiated confidence they would not have long to wait to take possession of the battered trophy.

And to the last man, the Maple Leafs refused to regard their initial setback as significant. They vowed to get into the running here Sunday and, if again out-scored, to even matters in Toronto next Tuesday and Thursday.

Be A Careful Driver

Murphy Wins Match To Knot Series for 'Y' Handball Title

Leo J. Murphy tied up the count in the Class "B" double elimination Y. M. C. A. hand ball championship by defeating Tom Mullen in their match last night by scores of 21-15, 13-21 and 21-19. As the score stands now, each player has been defeated once. The final playoff will take place at 8 o'clock next Wednesday night.

In gaining another crack at the championship, Murphy played excellent hand ball while Mullen was having trouble with his service.

In the second game, Mullen got away to a good lead. His front wall play was improved over the first game.

The third game was anybody's until the final marker. The lead changed hands several times during the encounter. At the half way mark, however, Mullen started working on a lead again and soon had the score run up to 18 and 13 in his favor. Murphy braced and soon had the score tied at 19-all, scoring the winning points on two well timed volley plays.

Depend on Riggs, Sabin and Mako to Retain Davis Cup

Wood, Cooke and Grant Are Prospects for 4th Member of Team

BY DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Walter Pate, the little man who brainwaved the Davis cup back to these shores two years ago, has issued a clarion call for volunteers to step one pace to the fore and lend a hand in retaining the elegant silver bird-bath.

Pate is captain of the Davis cup team, which means he manages it much in the manner of a fight manager coddling a stable of welterweights. His task which in 1937 and 1938 was just a breeze is something else again this year.

Don Budge used to shuffle out on the court and blow down all opposition. This simple method won the cup from Great Britain in 1937 and retained it against Australia last year.

Budge Now Pro

Budge now is a professional and the chances of keeping the trophy depend largely on what Pate can stir up between now and September when a foreign outfit, probably Australia, will check into Philadelphia for the challenge round.

Pate, who developed Budge, has no star pupil on hand who won't rattle around in Budge's brogans as the nation's first singles player. Nor has he a doubles combination comparable to Budge and Gene Mako. The list of possibilities runs something like this:

1. Bobby Riggs.
2. Wayne Sabin.
3. Gene Mako.
4. Elwood Cooke
5. Sidney B. Wood, Jr.
6. Bitsy Grant

Riggs and Sabin are the best bets for the singles posts and Pate is toying with the idea of teaming Wood with Mako as a doubles companion.

Riggs Must Improve

These four form an able enough combination, but one player, Riggs, will have to improve if the team is to beat Australia. Australia has Jack Bromwich, probably the best singles player in world.

Riggs and the United States Lawn Tennis association don't see eye to eye in many matters but there is no doubt Bobby has the stuff of which great players are made.

Cooke and Grant are prospects but little more. The former is coming and Grant is slowly going. He is a game little guy, but gameness is of little use when the legs fade.

Brooklyn Beats Washington by Score of 5 to 3

Wet Grounds, Cold, Snow Force Several Teams To Cancel Games

ORLANDO, Fla. —(AP)— Getting three runs off Rookie Joe Haynes in the seventh, the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday defeated the Washington Senators, 5 to 3.

Washington also picked up a couple of runs in the seventh off Vito Tamulis, but from then on he kept them away from the plate. Tamulis knocked in two of Brooklyn's runs with a double.

CARDINALS

Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—Tom Sunkel, St. Louis Cardinal rookie, was deprived by cold weather and wet grounds yesterday of a chance to face his 1938 mates, the Atlanta Crackers, but they failed to keep the spotlight off the young hurler.

For his help in winning a pennant here last year, Earl Mann, Atlanta club president, presented Sunkel with a check, and an Atlanta newspaper gave him another for being voted the outstanding member of the 1938 Crackers. He won 21 games and lost only five.

BROWNS

San Antonio, Tex. —(AP)— Rumors that Don Heffner, regular second baseman last year with the St. Louis Browns and a holdout this season, might be traded to Cleveland or some other club were spiked here yesterday.

Bill DeWitt, general manager of the club, said: "Heffner can do anything he wants to about signing, but he will not be traded or sold to any other club."

INDIANS LOSE

New Orleans —(AP)— Syd Cohen, a veteran southpaw who pitched for Washington two years ago, and Rookie John Beazley held the Cleveland Indians to four hits yesterday and the Tribesmen lost their fourth game in six exhibition contests with the New Orleans Pelicans.

Willis Hudlin hurled the first six innings and was touched for five hits. Bob Feller and Floyd Stromme twirled an inning apiece, each giving up one hit.

The Indians have made only 15 hits in their last three games against minor league opposition. Yesterday only two of them reached second base.

Cleveland (A) 000 000 000—0	4	2
N. Orl'ns (SA) 020 100 01x—4	7	2

Batteries—Hudlin, Feller, Stromme and Pytlak; Cohen, Beazley and Redmond.

GIANTS

Baton Rouge, La. —(AP)— The New York Giants yesterday optioned three players to its Jersey City farm in the International league. They were Lou Chiozza, outfielder and second baseman; Tom Havey, third baseman, and Tommy Padden, catcher.

The coldest weather of the training season cut short yesterday's practice and Manager Bill Terry motored to Memphis, Tenn.

CUBS

San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—Chicago's Cubs enjoyed time off yesterday, reflecting on their .318 batting average established in 17 exhibition games to date, 15 of them against major league opposition.

Joe Marty has batted .441, followed by Hank Leiber's .397, Augie Galan's .388 and Billy Herman's .348.

Today the Cubs face the St. Louis Browns at Corpus Christi.

YANKEES

Oklahoma City, Okla. — (AP) — There's one man in this town who takes no sass from the world champion New York Yankees. He's the weather man.

A year ago today the Yanks pulled in here in the worst snow storm of a decade. Snow and cold kept them from their scheduled appearance again yesterday—their second successive postponement.

The squad is billed for a game in Tulsa today.

Reach Semi-Finals in North, South Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C. —(AP)— Two more victories stood before Frank Strafaci, of Brooklyn, N. Y., former public links champion, and his second straight North and South amateur crown today.

Strafaci, defending champion, gained the semi-finals of the annual tournament yesterday with three other seasoned players, Richard Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., Charles Whitehead of South Orange N. J., and Bobby Dunkelberger of High Point, N. C.

The semi-finals pitted Strafaci against Chapman, and Dunkelberger against Whitehead. The finals will be played tomorrow

Outline Rules of Play for Marbles Tourney in County

WPA Recreation Department Plans District Meet in Appleton

RULES of play for the statewide-WPA marbles tournament, announced today by local officials, are as follows:

The lag is the first operation. To lag, the players stand toeing the pitch line, or knuckling down upon it and toss or shoot their shooters to the lag line on either side. Players must lag before each game. The player who wins the lag shoots first. The others follow in order as their shooters were nearest the lag line. The same shooter that is used in the lag must be used in the game following the lag.

On all shots except the lag, a player shall knuckle down so that at least one knuckle is in contact with the ground, and he shall maintain this position until the shooter has left his hand. Knuckling down is permitted but not required in lagging.

Outside Ring Line

Starting the game, each player in turn shall knuckle down just outside the ring line at any point he chooses, and shoot into the ring to knock one or more marbles out of the ring.

A player continues to shoot when he knocks one or more marbles out of the ring, provided his shooter remans inside the ring. When a player's shooter passes outside the ring, whether or not he has scored on the shot, he shall cease to shoot, but he shall be credited with the marbles he has scored. After a miss, a player picks up his shooter wherever it lies, until his next turn, when he is permitted to take roundsters and shoot from any point of the ring line.

Gets All Points

Marbles knocked out of the ring shall be picked up by the player who knocks them out. If a shooter knocks out two or more marbles in a combination play, he shall be entitled to all points on the shot.

Whenever a marble or shooter comes to rest on the ring line, if its center is outside the ring or exactly on the ring line, it shall be considered inside of the ring.

Whenever a shooter slips from a player's hand, if the player calls "slips" and if the referee is convinced that it is a slip and the shooter did not travel more than 10 inches, the referee may order "no play" and permit the player to shoot again. The referee's decision is final.

The game shall end when one player has knocked seven marbles from the ring.

Scoring

For each marble knocked out the player shall be credited with the score of one. The player having credited to him the largest number of marbles at the completion of the game, shall be the winner of that game.

In games where more than two players are engaged, if two or more players lead with the same score, those in the tie shall play a new game to break the tie.

A player refusing to continue a game after it is started, shall be disqualified, and if any two players are engaged, the game shall be forfeited to the offended player. The score of a forfeited game shall be 13-0.

H. S. Tracksters Will Compete at Madison Tourney

Roland Vogt Betters Indoor Mile Record at Alexander Gym

APPLETON High school tracksters, well along in their chores as result of several workouts in the indoor track room of Alexander gymnasium, will invade Madison tomorrow for their first meet, an invitational tourney which will feature 12 schools. It will be held in the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse.

The Terrors have been asked to be at the high school not later than 8:30 tomorrow morning to secure suits and be ready to leave. The meet is scheduled for 1:30 in the afternoon.

Although none of the Terrors has been in competition this spring, several have turned in outstanding exhibitions. Roland Vogt is expected to make the milers step after turning in a 5 minute and 20 second jaunt at the Viking gym. His time was a second better than the Lawrence indoor record.

Another sensation is Bob Bohn who is entered in three events despite the fact it will be his first competition. Sonny Filz will be depended upon for points in several events and Don Heinritz and Chuck Rollins should do things in the shot.

Entrants as listed by Coach Joseph Shields follow:

880-yard relay — Team of Filz, Bohn, Rohloff and Koletzke.

Distance medley — Team of Vogt in mile, Schmidt in three-quarter mile, Burke in half and Trezise in 440.

Shot—Heinritz and Rollins.

High jump—Larson and Werner.

High hurdles — Rohloff, Filz and Larson.

Dashes—Bohn and Filz.

Pole vault—None.

12 SCHOOLS ENTERED

Madison —(AP)— Madison West High school will defend its championship against nearly 300 athletes from 12 schools in the second annual invitational track and field relays at the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse tomorrow.

The entries include two Green Bay schools, West and East, Oshkosh and Appleton, all of the Fox River Valley conference; three Madison schools, West, Central and East, and Janesville and Beloit, all of the Big Eight loop; Wauwatosa and Shorewood of the Milwaukee suburban league, and Port Washington of the Eastern Wisconsin circuit.

Green Bay West, whose thinclads scored 52 points in winning the Wisconsin Rapids invitational last week, apparently was the team to beat for the title.

Ray Wisozki, of Janesville, is the only title defender. He won the 60 yard high hurdles last year in :08.3 seconds.

Ten events, starting at 1 p. m., are on the program.

Charles (Chuck) Fenske, former Wisconsin Big Ten mile champion, and Milt Padway, Wisconsin's pole vault star, will give exhibitions.

Madison Duo Fourth At State Pin Tourney

Janesville —(AP)— L. Higbie and W. Lazarz of Madison, rolled into fourth place in the state bowling tournament regular doubles division last night with a score of 1,196. Higbie toppled 607 pins, Lazarz 589.

The only other change in the standings was made in the 350 doubles. I. Ogilvie and L. Pease of Oregon, counted 1,152 for fourth place. Ogilvie scored 611, Pease 541.

ARMY SCHEDULE

West Point — (AP) — The Army baseball squad will play a 16-game schedule this spring. Included in the program is a game with the New York Giants on April 17, and a game on May 30 with Colgate at Cooperstown, N. Y., in connection with the 100th anniversary of the origin of baseball.

BOXING

By the Associated Press

New York — Walter (Popeye) Woods, 166, New York, stopped Paul Mahoney, 161½, Buffalo, N. Y. (3).

El Dorado, Ark—Bob Sikes, 188, Pine Bluff, Ark., outpointed Ted Cotton, 202, Tulsa, Okla., (10).

LITTLE CHUTE—De Groot Tavern keglers went on a scoring rampage in the Little Chute Businessmen's pin league and walloped Duce's Tavern crew for three straight games during recent matches at Wonders alleys. Gabby Jansen paced the winners with a big 646 triple on games of 220, 217 and 209. A. P. Rock led the losers with a 545 triple, and a 222 high game.

Hanegraaf's Grocers, loop leaders, were bumped off in three straight games by Little Chute Bottling company, but the leaders still have a 5-game lead on their second place rivals, Mellow brew. Cy De Groot of the Bottlers had a series of 567 and was tied for game honors with Jack Hietpas, at 203. Paul Verstegen of the Grocers had a series of 555 and a 206 game.

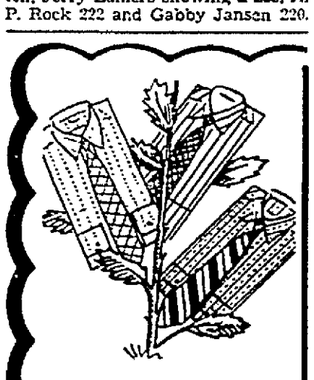

Van's Oils, cellar champs, upset Hammen Hotel with a twin victory. Ed Speirings pacing the Oils with a 507 series, and a 182 game. Cooney Hinkens led the losers with a 601 series on games of 212 and 203, while Bob Vanden Heuvel had high game of 240 and a 559 series. Jerry Lamers had a 595 triple and games of 233 and 202.

Van Zeeland Chryslers won the odd game from Mellow Brews with Bob Gloudemans rolling 557 and 190. John Van Offeren of the losers had a series of 514.

High team marks were kegled by De Groot's Tavern with a 2,933 series and a 1,002 game.

Gabby Jansen led in individual series with a 646 score, Cooney Hinkens had 601 and Jerry Lamers had 595.

Bob Vanden Heuvel kegled high game of the week with a 240 singleton, Jerry Lamers showing a 233, A. P. Rock 222 and Gabby Jansen 220.

American beauties of shirts to go with the Easter Lilies.

Would you really like to see Easter shirts that were totally different than the shirts you wear on other Sundays?

O. K. . . . we thought you would and we have them for you.

Not just different but daringly so. Not just a lot of color here and there but shirts that will, without unpinning, put their arms around your neck and hold on.

Yes . . . we have the Easter shirts . . . the neckwear and all you need is the time.

Bidding Was All Right Up to Certain Point

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand occurred in a team-of-four match yesterday, and I give you my own comments on the bidding and play. I should very much like to have yours, not to settle any bets or arguments, but to know whether my own figuring was entirely wrong or whether it was just one of those 'hard luck' deals.

"North, dealer.

"North-South vulnerable.

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 clubs	2 diamonds	2 hearts
3 diamonds	4 clubs	4 spades	5 clubs*
Double	Pass	5 diamds.‡	Pass
Pass	Double	Redouble§	Pass
Pass	Pass

"*I naturally regarded this as a sacrifice bid, made by nonvulnerable opponents to stop our vulnerable game.

"‡Holding a 'fit' in two suits with partner (and I suspected him of a heart stopper, which suspicion was justified) it looked to me as though there would be a good play for game and 600 points, while I couldn't possibly count on more than 100 or 300 points from setting the opponents. Nor, from my hand, could I suspect the freak distribution around the table.

"§The redouble was particularly ill advised, since there was little to be gained in proportion to the penalty which actually accrued. I offer no apology for this, and deserve the censure offered by my partner, which will be seconded by yourself.

"West led the heart ace, which disclosed partner's void in that suit. A heart was continued and ruffed by East, who then cashed the ace of clubs and shifted to a spade, giving West a ruff. Result, down two.

"I should very much appreciate your comments on the bidding, particularly in regard to South's five diamond bid. When played the other way, North-South were doubled at a four spade contract and set one.

"W. A. W., Illinois."

The bidding was all right up to and including the four spade bid, but from that point, South's judgment took a nosedive. South overlooked several salient features. First, North was presumably just as much aware of the relative importance of going game versus setting the opponents as was South himself, and if North chose to double five clubs, it was obvious that he felt the North-South limit had been reached. Second, South had for part of his values a card that figured to be worthless, or almost worthless, at a five diamond contract, whereas it had a splendid chance to take a trick against a club contract. I refer, of course, to the club king. South had based his own aggressive bidding to some degree on the possession of that card, but when the five level was reached, should have revised his estimate of its offensive value. South had bid diamonds freely and had then raised spades to the four level. Surely, he could not hold less than he actually held, to be justified in these bids. Though South's spade assistance was quite adequate, he had no right to feel that the combined spade suit in the North-South hands would be solid, hence should have feared the possibility of losing one spade, one heart, and one club at a contract of five odd.

As to South's remark that, from his own hand, he could not suspect the freak distribution around the table, I must point out that the opponents could hardly have bid so vigorously, even when not vulnerable, if their hands had been of balanced distribution. I concede that such extreme freakishness—no spades in the West hand and no hearts in the East—could not be foreseen. But even with more normal breaks, five diamonds might well have gone down one trick, and North-South still would have found themselves on the wrong end of the score.

Care must be taken to sow the delphinium seed at the same time as the seed of annuals, otherwise the delphiniums will be spoiled for the coming season. A very few plants of zinnia Eldorado make a fine showing and these will allow light and air to come through for the seedlings. In late Summer, too, a little bloom may be expected from these Spring sown delphiniums.

Butter burns easily. Consequently it is a good plan to use other fats, such as lard, lard substitutes or oils, for browning purposes.

Easter Menus

The Easter parade begins at breakfast. Few Easter breakfasts are complete without eggs, the traditional symbol of the childrens Easter. Bacon and eggs are the foundation of the Easter breakfast and there's nothing better, whether you're entertaining guests or just the family. I'd start a guest breakfast with a fruit cup of orange and grapefruit sections, serve hot muffins and jelly with the bacon and eggs and finish with crisp hot waffles and maple syrup.

Miss Schneider

The Easter dinner should be gay, and an occasion of real celebration for it marks the beginning of a new season when the world and everything in it seems to take on new life and color. And so, this year let's give some thought to our dinner and present it with a new "Easter Bonnet" in the form of this tasty, appealing, menu suggestion.

Baked Ham
Sweet Potatoes in Orange Cups
Vegetable Platter
Water Lily Salad
Hot Rolls Marmalade
Daffodil Cake Gelatine Easter Eggs

Baked Ham

1 ham 8 to 10 lbs.	2 tablespoons flour
1 cup brown sugar	1 cup pineapple juice

Whole cloves

Place the well washed ham in roasting pan, with the fat side up. Place in a slow oven 325 degrees F. and bake 25 minutes to the pound. Baste frequently with pineapple juice or other fruit juice. About 45 minutes before ham is done take from oven and carefully remove rind. Cut diagonals across the fat to form diamonds. Moisten brown sugar and flour with some of the fat drippings and rub on the ham. Stick a clove in each diamond. Return to the oven to finish cooking, increasing heat the last 15 minutes to brown the ham. Serve sweet potatoes in orange cups on the platter around the ham.

If desired the ham may first be boiled 1 hour in water to cover. Let stand in water until cool, drain. Remove rind, and then bake in a slow oven.

Daffodil Cake

6 egg whites	½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar	½ cup cake flour
½ teaspoon vanilla	Pinch of salt

Separate eggs, add salt to whites and beat until frothy. Add cream of tartar, and beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar, then fold in sifted flour and vanilla.

6 egg yolks	½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cold water	½ cup cake flour
½ cup sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder

Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored, add sugar gradually, and continue beating. Add cold water and vanilla. Sift flour and baking powder together and add. Pour white mixture into ungreased angel food pan. Pour yellow mixture on top and bake 1 hour in a slow moderate oven 325 degrees F. Spread orange icing over top and sides of cake.

Gelatine Easter Eggs

Make a hole about as large as a lead pencil in small end of egg. With long needle mix yolk and white so they come out easily. Rinse shells with cold water. Dissolve different flavors of gelatine, using one pint warm water for each package. Fill eggshells with gelatine, using funnel. Set on end in egg container. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, break away shells. Serve in nests of whipped gelatine or coconut. Garnish with small candy eggs or fruits cut in small pieces, if desired.

My Neighbor Says—

Tea rose bushes should be cut back in the Spring and throughout the Summer and Fall. Each flower should be cut back to the main stem.

Spread small rounds of white bread with cream cheese mixed with butter. Then top the rounds with a thin layer of pineapple marmalade or crushed pineapple. The latter should be well drained.

Diced leftover baked or boiled ham combines nicely with peas, beans, mushrooms, rice or macaroni in croquettes.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

To those of the Christian faith the Easter season is meant to be a period of meditation. Churches tell us of the significance of meditation, the searching for and questioning of one's soul. Our inner self, if you would rather. For ages passed we have been taught that tranquility of mind is essential to a happy life. Through meditation we are supposed to find ourselves without the brash interferences of our hectic worldly life.

There is no question in my mind that if one can achieve such a repose of soul that new beauty is revealed on our face and through our eyes.

A few years ago, when I was in the Cologne Cathedral I was struck with the beauty of two sisters who were kneeling praying. They were women over fifty, I judged, and when they rose I rose and followed them, wanting to see them in the true light of day. They stood at the entrance with little baskets soliciting donations for some charitable work. I noticed that as others passed into the cathedral they too looked at the women, and even those who passed by without contributing usually returned to toss a coin into the modest baskets. Their beauty, the serenity of their faces was compelling.

I questioned the guide who was with me as to which order they belonged. He explained they were Sisters of the Poor, and for years had solicited funds for the distressed. One was in her late sixties, the other was over seventy! He went on to tell me tragic histories of their families and as I listened to what I believe was a most authentic story, I marvelled at the peace these women had found within themselves. One day I shall write the story of their lives so that many harassed women may take courage from the tale.

I mention them today because I feel a great many of my readers could strive for greater peace of mind. Women throughout America should slow up, take time out from hectic living to enjoy much that the world offers free.

We as a nation are inclined to burn ourselves out at an early age. Something seems to drive our women, using up energy too quickly. Restless minds create restless bodies and instead of enjoying the lovely tranquility of age, our women in late fifties, sixties and seventies suffer from numerous illnesses.

Take today, which is Good Friday, and think. If you are young try to separate clearly the essentials from the non-essentials. It will not be easy, but try to do it. Then determine a more peaceful course of living minus many of those freakish mental upsets which youth seems to encourage.

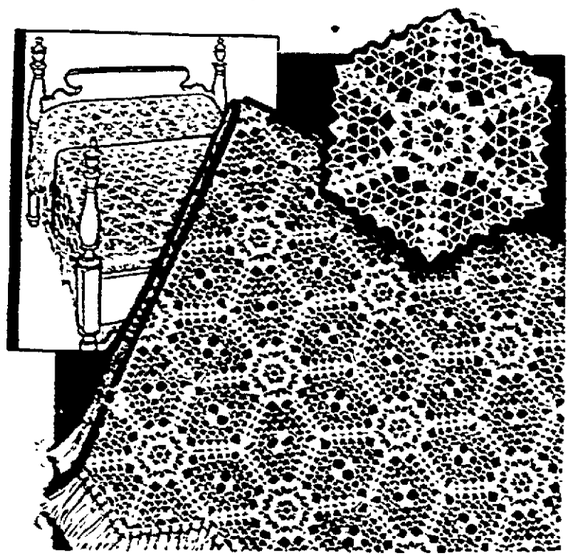

If you are older strive for a serenity in the face of the trials and tribulations which may face you. Cease fretting about things which cannot be and be considerate of those around you. Many older women are too self-pitying, discontented, quarrelsome. Take each day as it comes, live it as fully as you possibly can, and do not fret about stars which cannot be reached!

Tranquility of mind does make you more beautiful and you may master it without becoming the least bit stagnant!

"Beauty After Fifty" is a leaflet older women will enjoy. If you desire it, send a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. Write me in care of this paper.

Friendship With Others Is Not Affront to Home, Mother

BY ANGELO PATRI

Children are not flatterers. They have little interest in people's feelings save were those feelings concerns themselves. One of the most unflattering of all their ways with us is their preference, at times, for the company of other people, strangers to the family circle. Mothers especially, resent this and often make a mistake by doing so.

Billy struck up acquaintance with Mrs. Lily, who lived in a pretty garden place that had a greenhouse and cold frames and gold fish and flowers by the hundreds. Mrs. Lily was a gardener and recognized a kindred spirit. The garden fraternity is a closely knitted one and strong for one other.

Billy's fingers itched to plant the seeds in the flats of sifted and smoothed soil, and Mrs. Lily helped him to have the pleasure. When the seeds came up he had the joy of transplanting them, and he couldn't wait until school let out so he could see how his treasures were growing. Every afternoon found him heading to the garden down the street. His mother lost patience and one afternoon descended upon Mrs. Lily accusing her of "using" her boy.

Billy had to stay home after that, although Mrs. Lily had made no reply whatever to his mother's attack. Instead of racing in happily, getting his bread and jam sandwich and rushing out again Billy moped. Just sat in the corner and moped until his mother could not stand it and put him outdoors. Then he sat on the doorstep like a cat, which, thrust out in the cold, sits in a mournful huddle winning the sympathy of the passers-by. Mother couldn't stand that long, either. "Go out. Go somewhere. Do something. I don't care what it is, but do something."

"Can I go to Mrs. Lily's?"

"Yes, you can. Why you want to leave your own mother to go to a strange woman—But go; go wherever you like."

Mrs. Lily listened to Billy's excited story, gave him his usual tools and let him go to work. He found his seedlings growing lustily. Everything just so, and one flat needed transplanting right away. Mrs. Lily saw him started on it and then she slipped away to call on Billy's mother. Just what she said, and what Billy's mother said, I don't know. But they were friends ever afterward, and Billy got great joy, and in time, much profit out of his experience in the little garden. For Billy was a gardener by right of birth.

Children always enjoy going visiting, at all stages of their growth. But at a certain stage, early adolescence usually, they seek the companionship of strangers, confide in them, form friendships with them. Many of these friendships are of great good to the children. Such an association ought to be encouraged unless there is a very clear reason against it.

This friendship with another family or stranger-friend, is not an affront to home and mother. It is the indication of the beginning of the maturity that leads a child away from home and family out into the world as an independent, self-sustaining individual. There is a long road to travel still, but this is the start. It is well if the start is felicitous. Be grateful to the person who helps the child, remembering that it is the child who is using the other person, to his own advantage.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The Home Gardener

By Edwin H. Perkins

Few gardeners spend their fertilizer money intelligently. They buy fertilizer by brand or trade name and not by analysis and yet the analysis must, by law, be printed on the package. An analysis shows the percentage of the three principal elements contained in the mixture and their printed order is nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Nitrogen builds leaves and stems, phosphorus hastens flowering, builds root systems and promotes seeding, while potash gives strength to all parts of the plant, making them tough and disease resistant. A balanced fertilizer for garden use is generally composed of one part nitrogen, two parts phosphorus and one part potash. A mixture sold as 4-8-4 means that to every 100 pounds of fertilizer in the bag there will be 4 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphorus and 4 pounds of potash together with 84 pounds of other elements which go to make up the chemical compounds and any necessary filler material, generally sand.

Where a recommendation states "use four pounds of 4-8-4 fertilizer per 100 square feet of surface" and we have only 2-4-2 fertilizer at hand we should use double the quantity to obtain equal results. Likewise when purchasing we should expect to pay twice as much per pound for the 4-8-4 mixture. Some manufacturers are making 15-30-15 mixtures in order to save on freight and handling charges. These may seem excessively high in price but are generally cheaper than lower analysis fertilizers, when judged by actual contents of value to the gardener.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

How many of you realers have seen pictures of convicted criminals who were shown with a wide grin and apparently happy? No law breaker should ever be depicted as jolly and gay, for this error produces the emotional recoil phenomenon so ably described by Professor Dodge below.

CASE M-195: David, aged, 2, is our youngest boy.

Recently I was sitting in the dining room, eating some nuts. David always wants to eat with everybody, anytime and anywhere, so I gave him a kernel.

"More squirrelly," he begged before he had even bitten down on the bite I stuck in his mouth. "More squirrelly."

"What do you say when you want something?" I asked.

"More squirrelly, pease," he quickly added. He started saying "pease" some months ago in imitation of Danny, a year his senior, and now he retains this "pease" although he articulates the letter "l" very well in other words.

His mother likes to hear him say "pease" so he has continued with it.

My purpose in citing this example today is to point out a moral for religious education.

Among the oak trees in our back yard are several gray squirrels. They are so tame they come up to the porch, and even slip into the house if the door is left open.

How Children Learn Words

Almost every time we go to the farm in Indiana, we bring back a sack of black walnuts or hickory nuts. The children like to feed these to the squirrels.

Apparently the association of the hickory nut and the word "squirrel" has been made so often in David's mind that he thinks the word "squirrel" is the name of a nut. This simple example partially illustrates what Professor Raymond Dodge, my old psychology teacher at Yale, used to term emotional recoil. To quote him:

"We know only too well what will happen if we tell a boy all the things that he likes to do are 'bad' while all the things which he dislikes are 'good.' Up to a certain point the emotional value of bad and good respectively will be transferred to the acts as we intend.

But each transfer has an emotional recoil on the concepts good and bad. At the end a most surprising thing may happen. The moral values may get reversed in the boy's mind. Bad may come to represent the sum-total of the satisfactory and desirable, while good may represent the sum-total of the unsatisfactory and undesirable.

"To the pained adult such a consequence is utterly inexplicable, only because he fails to realize that all mental products are developments. There is always a kind of reciprocity in emotional transfer. The value of the modified factor recoils to the modifying factor."

Make Religion Gay and Jolly

Every clergyman and Sunday school teacher should re-read those profound paragraphs by Professor Dodge. Paraphrased briefly, they mean that pleasure should be associated with goodness and pain with badness.

They mean that we should make religion jolly and gay. They mean that newspapers should never run photographs of criminals who are smiling gayly, and thereby intimating to our youth and semi-literate immigrants that crime is a pleasant, desirable profession.

Convicted murderers, rapists and embezzlers should never be shown in debonaire attire, grinning from ear to ear. That is a grave violation of educational psychology.

Nor should the theaters and other educational sources depict policemen and detectives as snooping busy-bodies, or as long-faced Puritans, whose only interest seems to be killing joy and happiness.

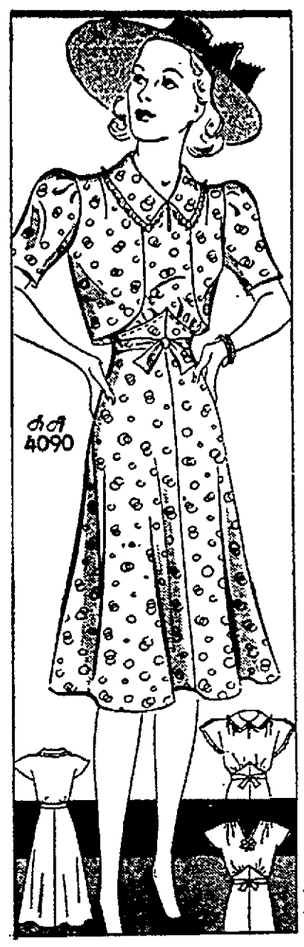

Consistency is one of the cardinal rules of pedagogy. If our magazines and newspapers, movies and the radio do not cooperate with the schools and churches to make sobriety and honesty desirable, and sin and debauchery as undesirable, how can our youngsters know what to think?

BOLERO FROCK

BY ANNE ADAMS

A style highlight everywhere . . the frock with a separate bolero! Anne Adams has interpreted the trend in a very flattering "Simple To Make." . . . especially practical in a wrinkle-resist cotton or synthetic since warmer weather is on the way. The Sewing Instructor enclosed with Pattern 4090 speeds up the cutting and stitching, as do all Anne Adams direction sheets. It shows, among other things: how to give a nice "hang" to the flared skirt—and how to manage the high waistline point. Have the dress with either V neck or collar—lace-edged for the new "feminine" smartness. Notice how cool the sleevelets are . . . they're left open on the top!

Pattern 4090 is available in misses' and women's size 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 4¼ yards 39 inch fabric and 3⅜ yards lace edging.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to Appleton Post-Crescent, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th St., New York, N. Y.

AN INVITATION IN SERVING

Dear Mrs. Post: Could not bouillon be served in the living-room instead of at the table as a first course? I have thought that this would give me a chance to get my food on the table, ready for my guests, while the rest of my family stayed in the living-room having bouillon with the others. I am not only Mrs. Three-In-One, but am also mother as well as hostess, cook and waitress.

Answer: Your suggestions brings back a charming picture of yesterday's custom of offering hot bouillon out in the front halls after parties before people went out into the cold weather. It also reminds me to mention a brand-new fashion, which is that of serving cold chicken bouillon in a decanter with the cocktails for those who do not care for alcohol. In other words, I think the idea excellent. Many of us would like a hot drink better than a cold one. At least we would until the weather grows warmer.

AN INVITATION TO DECLINE

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a wedding and before accepting I would like to have you tell me first whether my presence there might create the impression that I don't want to give to others. This wedding is to be a very intimate family party and I have been invited by the bride because I am a friend of the groom's brother. In fact, the groom's brother would like to be my husband. I like him very much and am very fond of all his family, but I shall never marry him. Will my presence at this wedding make the others think that we are actually engaged? I would like to go to the wedding, understand, but I would not like to create this false impression.

Answer: From your description it does seem as if you had been invited solely because of the brother's interest in you. If this is the case it is more than likely then that the other guests will draw the very conclusion that you want to avoid.

A HOSTESS COMPLAINS

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who upset me and I would like to have your opinion. After dinner when cigarettes were passed with coffee in the living-room, all my other guests seemingly found a brand of cigarette they liked from among those I proffered. This one guest looked over my assortment, said, "no thanks," and then left the room to get her own. I think she was rude.

Answer: Her way of refusing was rude, but not the fact that she smoked her own. Had she opened her own case without even looking to see the varieties on your tray, it would have been all right. In fact, people who care very much about a particular kind always carry their own cigarettes. Furthermore, those who smoke a great many cigarettes usually carry their own out of consideration for the hostesses—or hosts.

Women are Supreme Optimists Where Marriage Is Concerned

BY DOROTHY DIX

Women are certainly the world's greatest optimists, at least where marriage is concerned, because every mother's daughter of them is firmly and unalterably convinced that her marriage can never be anything but a heaven on earth.

DOROTHY DIX

When she looks about her and takes note of the disgruntled wives of her acquaintance she is bound to perceive that a woman is just about as likely to draw a sweepstake prize as she is to get Prince Charming for a husband. But this doesn't dampen her enthusiasm for the holy estate a whit, because, no matter how many other women have failed in it, she just knows that she is going to be gloriously happy. The possibility that her marriage might also go on the rocks never crosses her mind.

That is why girls are so anxious to marry. That is why they take the most hazardous chances in marriage and tie up with drunkards, roues and no-accounts. They are sold to the belief that immediately after marriage their husbands will change from examples of vice to models of virtue and that they will live blissfully together ever after. And it is why women who do not marry always feel that they have been cheated in life and missed the best thing in it, regardless of what other blessings have been vouchsafed them.

The other day a woman of 40, who is good-looking, intelligent, popular and so successful in business that she makes far more than the average husband could give her, was making her moan to me because she isn't married.

"It is not," she said, "that I want a man to support me. I have always supported myself, and like it. But what frightens me is the thought of the years of emptiness and loneliness that I will have to go through if I have no husband. I long for companionship and having a husband upon whom I can depend to lean upon."

"Well," I said, "without doubt a good husband is a prize package, but what makes you so sure you would have gotten one? How many husbands do you know who are the light of the home instead of its extinguisher? How many husbands do you know who stay lovers after the honeymoon is over.

"How many married women do you know who have as much money to spend on themselves as has the working woman with a good job? How many women do you know whose husbands are fireside companions? How many married women do you know who sit up evenings by their lonesome wondering what platinum blonde their husbands are entertaining? Believe me, sometimes marriage brings great happiness and sometimes it doesn't."

"I know my marriage would have been happy," said the woman. And that was that.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Do you recall the old song, "Mother Takes in Washing," and so forth, and so forth, that ends with the refrain, "everybody works at our house but my old man"? Human nature doesn't change, and isn't it possible that the reason that Father so often quits working is because Mother has a job? I have known many men who at the first suggestion of their wives turning money-earners violently opposed it; then, after the wife had worked for a while, they would be impatiently waiting for Wife to come home with her pay envelope. Guess I belong to the old school, which believes that woman should be protected and cared for by man, and that when a man loses that responsibility the greatest incentive for the creation and maintenance of home life is gone.

C. E. M.

Answer:

Undoubtedly you are correct. While the opening of the commercial world to women has brought them one of the greatest boons on earth, which is financial independense, it has weakened the moral fiber of many men. It is so easy to pass the buck and let Georgina do it that the men who were born with that tired feeling and who hate the sight of work, anyway, just slide from under the burden and let any woman who will shoulder it.

Formerly when a man married he expected to get up and hustle to support his wife. Nowadays only too often he slacks down because he knows that if he loses his job his wife will hold on to hers and provide him with bread and butter. In other days fathers expected to support their daughters. Now fathers expect their daughters to get to work when they are through high school and support them.

But, of course, whether it demoralizes a man for his wife to be the work horse in the domestic team depends upon the man. If he has the real spirit of manhood in him it spurs him on to make his greatest effort, because he wants to save her and to show his appreciation of her being willing to toil long hours to help him. And the other sort of man, the man who loafed in poolrooms or played golf while his wife ran a boarding house or took in sewing to support him has always existed. Nothing could weaken him, because he has no more backbone than a fishing worm to start with.

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to a wonderful man who adores me and thinks I am everything that is good and upright, but in my early youth I made one mistake for which I am bitterly repentent. Would you advise me to risk my future happiness by telling my fiance of this or go on and say nothing? BEVERLY.

Answer:

That is a question that you must settle for yourself, but I see no reason why a girl should rake up all of her past any more than why a man should. You may be very sure that your fiance will not tell you of all the follies of his youth, so why should you tell him of yours?

Many young couples have a morbid inclination to confess to each other on the eve of their marriage. They have an idea that it is an honest thing to do and that it starts them out on a clean platform. But it is a horrible mistake. All that it accomplishes is to destroy the ideals that each entertains of the other and to give each food for jealousy and subjects for recriminations when they get into quarrels.

Many men write to me on this subject, and I have never had one whose wife had confessed some past indiscretion to him who didn't say, "I wish she hadn't told me. I would have been far happier not knowing the things she told me." But if a girl is ever going to confess, she should do it before marriage, not afterward.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Zeb Chase, young Baked Bean heir.
Jane Warren, Mary Randall's ward.

Chapter Seven
'Keep It Quiet'

"She was sittin' in a chaise longue by the window," Asey said. "Apparently she leaned forward past the window. As she did, someone outdoors let go with both barrels of a shotgun. Deer ball. Marble size. Now, tend to that girl." He picked up the telephone. "Oh, she's comin' to? Well, get water. Is this a private line?"

"Billingsgate 327," Zeb said vaguely. "I guess so."

Asey cranked at the phone bell. "Hullo, Nellie? Hi. Say, get me Doc Cummings. He is? Get his wife—she out too? Oh. Know where they are" Oh. I see," Asey laughed. "Well, listen. Get him for me, will you? The Warren girl's—yes, up to the Hollow. She's fallen, and knocked herself out. That's right. Fine. Have him call me right back."

Zeb stared at him. "What is this?"

"Cummings' wife," Asey said. "is stuck on the ferris wheel up town. That is, the ferris wheel's stuck, an' she's up too high to get down. She's havin' hysterics, an' the doc's havin' a different variety on solid land. Nellie'll get him."

He strolled out into the kitchen and brought back an electric percolator.

"Plug this in, Zeb," he said. "When it seems done, feed Jane some. Okay, youngster? Lay there, an' don't think. You—eh, there's the doc."

He didn't bother with the formalities of saying hello, and asking who it was.

"Listen, Mary Randall's been killed. Shotgun. Deer ball. Through the window. Keep it quiet. Get that cop Lane, and Weston, and come over. Your wife?" Asey chckled. "She'll keep. Hustle."

He was still chuckling at the thought of the portly Mrs. Cummings aloft on the ferris wheel when he turned around to the white-faced couple by the couch.

"Asey," Zeb said, "you knew, back there on the road, that it was a gun? That explosion?"

"I wondered," Asey said. "Feel better, Jane? Look, you was here in the house. Didn't you hear the shots? You must have."

She shook her head. "I had the radio going. Not very loud, but it was on the table right by my ear. The static was awful on the short wave, and then the fire works kept banging. I did hear one awfully loud noise, but I thought it was the fireworks finale. Is she really dead, Asey?"

"Fraid so, Jane, did your aunt—"

"Godmother."

"Did she have any enemies?"

"Never heard of one. Dealers and customers both liked her. She—"

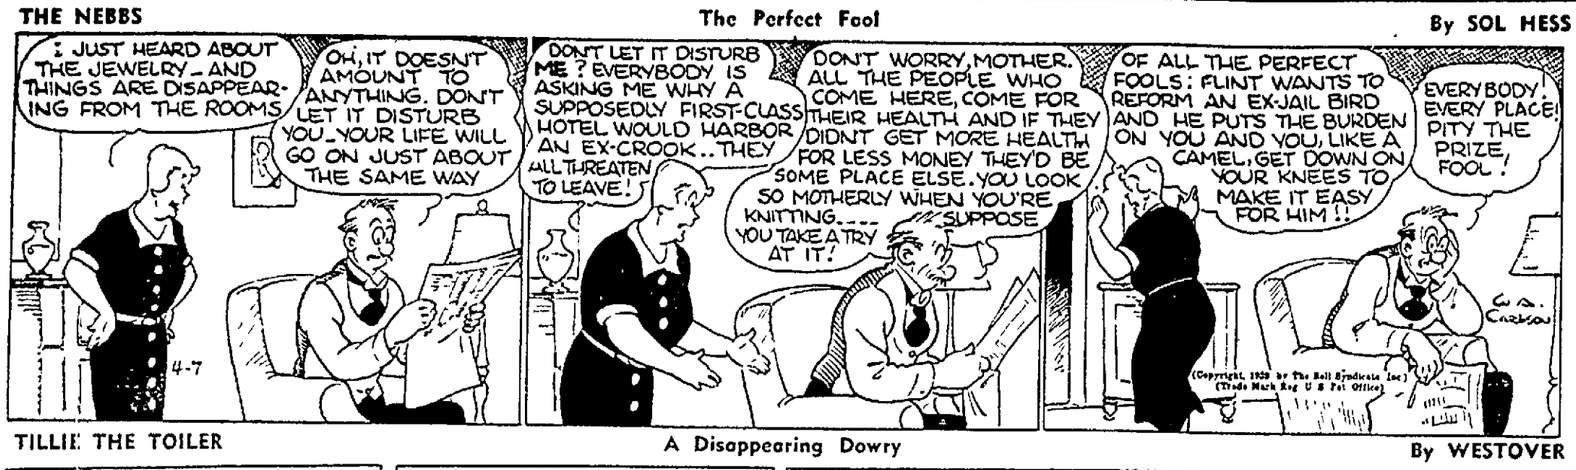

"Relatives? What about them?"

"Her husband's dead, her people are mostly in England, and the few over here live on the west coast. She has a daughter, Eloise.

People of the Philippines

V—Modern Filipinos

Bamboo is important in the lives of Filipinos. This tall grass has a woody stem which will stand a great deal of strain.

We are apt to think of bamboo as being an inch thick or less, because we see so many bamboo fishing poles. Very often it is thin, but bamboo may have a thickness of from four inches to a foot. Sometimes it grows to a height of 100 feet or more, and in that case is very much like a tree trunk.

Filipino houses are built largely of bamboo. So are some of the bridges on the islands. Many houses contain bamboo chairs, beds and tables.

Some Filipino houses are built on stilts, leaving an open space below the first floor. In country parts, the family's water buffalo is likely to be stabled in this space. The space also is used as a home for chickens and ponies. Bamboo ladders lead from the ground to the doorway of the dwelling.

As I have said, the true Filipinos are brown-skinned. They have a story to explain the color, and it goes like this:

"In the beginning, the Creator made three trials before getting the right result in creating people. First a lump of clay was modeled in the shape of a man, and was placed over a fire to be backed. It was baked too long, and out of the heat came a black man.

"Then clay was treated in the same way, but this time it was not baked long enough. The result was a white man, who was underdone.

"Finally there was a trial which came out well. A man with just the right shade of brown was produced, and that was the Filipino!"

We may smile over the idea of the Filipino thinking his shade is "just right," but the story has some meaning for us. Our white, or whitish skins seemed strange to people of the Orient when first they saw men from Europe. In their eyes, white was not the best color.

Forty years ago, the United States took the Philippines from Spain. A payment, of a sort, was time, there has been great progress in the islands. More than a million Filipino boys and girls now go to school. There are high schools as well as grammar schools, and at Manila is a University with several thousand students.

Manila is the largest city in the Philippines. It is the capital of the country, and is the home of close to 400,000 people.

The American government has granted the Filipinos the right to be entirely free in a few years. It is possible, however, that fear of Japan will lead the people to ask a change in the plan of freedom.

Want 150 Millions More to Purchase Surplus Products

Seek More Money to Buy Badger Dairy Produce

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Senators LaFollette, Wisconsin, Clark, Missouri, and Lucas, Illinois, today sought to unite all agricultural groups in congress to support the amendment they proposed late Thursday to the agriculture appropriations bill to increase the surplus commodities fund by $150,000,000 during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Their amendment, if passed, would make $240,000,000 available during the coming year to buy surplus commodities, as it is estimated that $90,000,000 will be available from customs receipts.

It is designed particularly to aid the dairy, fruit, livestock, and vegetable farmers. Not more than a fourth of the fund could be used for purchase of any one commodity, a provision favored by the dairy farmers to prevent excessive purchases of cotton and other basic commodities.

The customs receipts next year are estimated to produce, for surplus commodity purchase, $54,000,000 less than is available this year, thus adding to the acuteness of the situation, LaFollette said.

"The alarming prospects of the production of dairy products, meats, fruits, and vegetables this year make it necessary that something be done promptly," La Follette asserted.

"The fund was inadequate this year. It will be smaller during the next fiscal year, while the need will be greater due to larger production."

The La Follette-Clark-Lucas amendment follows conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on the crop prospects for this year, and the amount of money required. The additional fund, however, has not yet been approved by the budget.

The senate appropriations committee has not yet begun hearings on the agriculture appropriations bill, already passed by the house of representatives, and an effort will be made to obtain committee approval of the amendment. If the committee rejects it, a fight will be made on the floor.

Conflicts between the dairy bloc and the cotton bloc in the house prevented an increase of the fund there.

Sen. Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin Republican, has proposed an amendment increasing the fund by $100,000,000 but La Follette and the two Democrats have raised the ante.

The senators from the interested states are seeking to prevent such a conflict in the senate, so that all types of farmers will be helped by union instead of cutting one another's throats.

Author-Poet Wins Fight to Preserve Tree at Sauk City

Sauk City, Wis—(AP)—A magnificent old elm tree commanding the corner of Main street and Phillips boulevard was freed today from the danger of being removed by an oil company, and August Derleth, the author-poet, had scored a moral victory.

The company proposed to remove the elm and a nearby maple so that its station on the corner would be more visible. Derleth circulated a pamphlet condemning the proposal.

Yesterday, Walter Zauft, local representative of the oil company, authorized a printed statement that the company, anxious to keep "the good will of local citizens," would remove only the maple, which is defective.

Said Derleth: "I regret the removal of any tree, unless it is beyond saving. The elm, however, is the important tree insofar as the appearance of the corner is concerned."

U. S. Takes Lead in Efforts To Control Wheat Production

BY FRANKLIN MULLIN

Chicago—(AP)—The United States was the pace-setter today among wheat-producing nations in efforts to cut down the world's huge price-depressing grain surplus.

Surveys of this country's winter wheat belt showed that although favorable weather had revived farmers' hopes of harvesting good yields from their reduced acreage, domestic production would fall far short of the crops of the past two years.

This means, grain market experts here said, that American farmers cooperating in the government's wheat program are taking the initiative in efforts to control production. When representatives of a score of nations meet this year in the proposed world wheat conference, first since 1933, United States delegates can submit proof of the country's sincerity in its efforts to control wheat output, grain men said.

No definite date for the proposed world conference has been fixed. Two representatives of the United States now are enroute to London to attend a meeting next week of a preparatory group of the international wheat advisory committee.

No other nation has taken steps to control production, grain men said. In most European countries acreage sown to winter wheat was larger than last season. Argentina has just harvested its second largest crop on record. There is no indication as to the extent of planting in Canada but the Canadian government is expected to offer a price guarantee to producers.

Call Hearing on Proposed Cut in Prices of Milk

10 cents a quart and the wholesale price to producers was cut from $2.71 to $2.10 per hundred pounds. Despite opposition from producer groups the department refused to alter the reduction order, declaring that it was necessary to increase the consumption of milk.

In the Appleton area the retail price of fluid milk is 10 cents per quart while the wholesale price to the producers is $1.925 per hundred pounds. The retail price of cream is 18 cents per half pint and for coffee cream 13 cents per half pint.

While hearings already have been held in the Racine, Kenosha, Madison, Janesville and Beloit districts, their problems also will be considered at the statewide session.

The meeting will be open to the public and testimony will be taken from consumers, dealers and producers.

Communities given notice of the hearing were: Appleton, Ashland, Beaver Dam, Beloit, Berlin, Chippewa Falls, Columbus, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Green Bay and De Pere; Janesville, Kenosha, Madison, Manitowoc and Two Rivers; Marinette and Peshtigo; Marshfield, Merrill, Neenah-Menasha and New London; Oconto, Oneida and Vilas counties; Oshkosh, Portage, Racine, Rhinelander, Ripon, Shawano, Sheboygan, Stevens Point, Watertown and West Bend.

Owen, Wis.—(AP)—It took a little time for the news to leak out, but D. F. Briton, 92, Owen's oldest citizen, was the first to mark his ballot Tuesday. Briton said his first vote, in 1868, was for General U. S. Grant.

Hitler, Hoover and Mussolini Get Votes

Milwaukee—(AP)—Herr Hitler received three votes for judge of the family court, the county election commission's official canvass showed yesterday.

Others who got a vote were Mussolini, Man Mountain Dean, Herbert Hoover and Joe Doakes.

The job belongs to Judge William F. Shaughnessy.

Appleton's Jail Should be Closed, Inspector Says

State Official Also Condemns Neenah, County Jails as Unfit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The Appleton and Neenah police stations should be condemned for further use until they reach some standards of health, cleanliness and segregation, and the Outagamie county jail, with 59 others in Wisconsin is old, overcrowded, poorly ventilated and unsanitary, Miss Blanche Murphy, state inspector of jails, lock-ups and police stations said today in her annual report to the state board of control.

The majority of facilities maintained by Wisconsin local governments for the confinement of prisoners could stand improvement, the report said, but county jails particularly are out of date.

Appleton, Ashland, Superior, LaCrosse, Chippewa Falls, Green Bay and Neenah, maintain police stations which ought to be condemned forthwith, the state official declared.

There are 70 county jails and 320 local lock-ups in Wisconsin, the Murphy report said. With the exception of the larger cities, there are no jailors. Frequently the sheriff is forced to neglect his charges and the jail itself because of night duties, with the result that the buildings are unclean and unsanitary.

Food Deficient

Many jails are too small to provide separate rooms to segregate juveniles, the report continued. Sheriffs were urged to use their own living quarters for children, as is now done in Columbia, Oconto and Vilas counties.

Food given prisoners is sometimes deficient in quality and quantity, although sheriffs are allowed 75 cents a day for the food allowances of prisoners in their keeping, it was pointed out.

Curiously, the survey found that in those jails where religious services are available, most prisoners preferred the Gospel Tabernacle and Salvation Army services.

Among the best county jails in the state, said the report were those in Winnebago and Calumet counties, and the southern section of the state, including Milwaukee. Sixty others were unsatisfactory, according to the state inspector's findings, and had no facilities for the segregation of old from first offenders. Such segregation, cleaner buildings, work and recreation were recommended. It was found that only a few of the larger county jails have installed fingerprinting and identification systems.

Many Too Small

The majority of the 320 local police lockups, it was found, are unsanitary, and fail to provide toilet facilities. Others are inadequately heated, are too small. It was recommended that in the small localities the jails be closed and prisoners sent to the county institutions, and particularly transients, found to be an important problem for local jailors.

Many of the municipal jails in the Appleton area were given passing grades, but these were recommended for immediate closing and replacement: De Pere, Wrightstown, Brillion, Reedsville, Hortonville, Little Chute, Aniwa, Bonduel, Bowler, Tigerton, and Marion.

Statutes give the stateboard of control power to recommend improvements only. It has no authority to compel municipialities to improve or to replace their jail buildings, or police stations.

Want Dairy Products As Basic Commodities

Washington—(AP)—Representatives of a committee of the Farmers equity Union of Wisconsin conferred yesterday with Senator LaFollette (P.-Wis.) on the union's hope for congressional action to make dairy products basic commodities.

Kenneth Hones, president of the Wisconsin organization of Chippewa Falls and Einar Ness of Barron county, talked with the senator. They concluded, LaFollette said, to gather more statistics to support their request and confer with him later.

The union's plan is to have farmers complying with a reduction program receive a 5 cent a pound parity payment on butter.

Sentenced to Prison For Stealing 50 Cents

Milwaukee—(AP)—Convicted of stealing 50 cents, Richard W. Schoemann, 34, was sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Max W. Nohl to one to three years in state prison.

A jury found Schoemann had entered the apartment of Raymond Gariepy to take the money. Police said he had a record of several minor offenses.

Veterinarian Dies At Marinette Home

Marinette—(AP)—Dr. William Clark, 70, president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Veterinarian Medical association, died unexpectedly at his home here yesterday of heart disease. He served as an instructor at the University of Wisconsin school of agriculture before coming here 41 years ago. Burial will be at Beaver Dam.

Paulic Pleads Guilty To Bogus Check Charge

Harry Paulic, Seymour, pleaded guilty of cashing a worthless check for $5 in municipal court yesterday and Judge Thomas H. Ryan deferred sentence until April 10 when the defendant will face three similar charges to which he has pleaded not guilty. He is being held at the county jail in default of a $100 bond.

Keefe Attacks WPA Guide Book

Says Reference to Custis Is 'Communistically Inspired'

Washington—(AP)—Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.), describing the statement as a "communistically inspired" libel, read to the house today an assertion in a WPA guide book that George Washington Parke Curtis left a tract of land to "his colored daughter."

Keefe cited the guide book, a product of the federal writers project, while warning the house that communism had "wormed its way into high places" in the government.

Curtis was the grandson of Martha Washington and the father of Mrs. Robert E. Lee. The land, in Arlington county, Virginia, was bequeathed to a child of one of Martha Washington's slaves.

Keefe said the reference to Curtis in the guide book, "Washington city and capital," had no other purpose than to "tear down and destroy" the character of a noted Virginiain to to reflect on the Washington and Lee households.

He added that it was "but another evidence of the insidious influence that communism has prompted in cultivating racial prejudice."

Expect Over 200 for Meeting April 21 of Chamber of Commerce

More than 200 men and women are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce which will be held Friday evening, April 21, in the Conway hotel.

Governor Julius P. Heil will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

Five new directors will be named. Those whose terms are expiring this spring are R. H. Purdy, A. H. Wickesberg, Daniel P. Steinberg, Sr., Karl Haugen, and R. H. Marston. The officers will be chosen by the directors at a later meeting.

R. H. Purdy, president of the chamber, will preside at the annual meeting.

Sleeps Soundly as Car Runs Wild, Hits Pole

Turkey Alarmed Over Invasion of Albania

Ankara—(AP)—Turkey, in which Britain and France hope to find an ally in the eastern Mediterranean, viewed Italy's invasion of Albania today with alarm and misgivings.

Officials did not conceal their irritation. They feared that the ultimate objective of any totalitarian push in the Balkans would be the strategic Dardanelles, maritime gateway to Rumania's oil fields and Russia's wheat granaries in the Ukraine.

Italy's move against Albania which for a long time has been under Roman economic "aid" was considered by the Turks a possible first step toward the Dardanelles.

Trades Auto for Five Sheep, Soon Has Nine

Goldendale, Wash.—(AP)—Elmer Wilson, automobile dealer, is ready to concede barter may be better than a cash sale.

Bolles Waxes Eloquent as He Glorifies Wisconsin's Summer

Washington—(AP)—Representative Bolles (R-Wis.) who was an editor and writer before he became a congressman, looked out of his window the other morning, heard the birds chirping, saw the flowers blooming and began to think about summer in Wisconsin.

On the floor of the house, in his most flowing, flowering, springtime langauge, he painted a word picture of Wisconsin to lure other house members to vacations in the state.

"Washington, the national capital, is not always inviting even with its red brick slums and streets embattled with ancient scroll saw architecture amid a Greek and Roman scene of marble magnificence, equalled in modern times nowhere in the world," Bolles said. "Yet we forget this paradox of granite and marble glory of today over against the faded Fustian of yesterday, when spring comes and cherry blossoms are in bloom, when poetry and song fill the soul and sordid care begins to fade; when in the great scheme of nature new life begins.

"Unadulterated Joy"

"It is in this time that we think of the summer vacation. It is now that the glad song of spring has a far off echo in the souls of millions of people who welcome the day when they may fill the gas tank and start on the trip to a world of light laughter and a vacation filled with unadulterated joy along the highways of Wisconsin. So I speak for Wisconsin.

"From the state line, notably, where the Rock river, famed in Indian legend and history, breaks into Illinois, to the Apostle islands in Lake Superior with the ancient mission churches and the burial places, where lies 'Basil Struck by Thunder,' God's tremendous panorama is stretched.

"East or west as one may go the same intriguing beauty presents itself. Bucolic may be its scenery and rugged grandeur may be lacking, but it is restful without being oppressive with its overwhelming magnitude."

"Each hilltop brings a new picture, each valley a new fullness of beauty. Corot and Tyron and Landseer never painted anything to equal it. On a soft summer day with fields glistening in Green and with silver threaded streams cutting across the rolling lands, the soul of the traveler is filled to bursting with unspoken song.

"Scenic Sweetness"

"'The cattle on a thousand hills,' the sheep grazing among the pasture stumps, the barns and homes tell a story without words, of a once happy and hopeful people, now disturbed by economic bewilderment. Wooded dells and shaded glens into which the roadway winds, bring a perfume which no mortal may imitate and cool the traveler whose head still whirls from a surfeit of such scenic sweetness each turn of the motor wheel has revealed.

"Sapphire and emerald gems, set among trees or rocks, with sandy shores or long reaches of marshy pools within which lurk thousands of fish, so delicate in flavor that had they been carried to Rome in the days of Lucullus, would have urged him to trade a pillar of the temple of Jupiter for such a feast, are on every hand.

"This tumultous riot of entrancement lasts all the way. There is no end. Cherry blossoms in June, Apple blossoms too, the smell of the pine and hemlock and tamarack, the odor of the wintergreen, even the acrid smoke of the camp fire thrills with new and intoxicating delight.

"Where may one within the bounds of America get so much for so little? Not abroad can one have it so comfortable or be so satisfied. Ancient churches there may be but here are the 'groves,' which were 'God's first temples.' Here the sky is as glorious as at Amalfi; here the clouds of a summer day are as marvelous in futurist pictures as the gallery of the Louvre, and are shown without the sepulchral air of the art gallery.

"No forensic genius can paint in words, no skilled artist with the brush may place on canvas the share that nature holds in Wisconsin. Each horizon is a world; each world complete. It invites you."

Special Services to Be Held Sunday at Clintonville Churches

Clintonville—Special services will take place on Easter morning at all of the Clintonville churches.

An Easter program by the Sunday school children will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the Congregational church. The sermon by the Rev. Walter E. Schilling will be on the text, "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that sleep."

A communion service will take place at 10:30 Sunday morning at Salem Evangelical church, of which the Rev. E. W. Marks is pastor. An Easter service will also be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Marks at 9:15 at the Maple Creek Evangelical church.

Sunrise services will be held at 6 o'clock Easter morning at Christus Lutheran church, of which the Rev. E. C. F. Stubenvoll is pastor. Another English service will begin at 9 o'clock and a German service will take place at 10:30 Easter morning.

Two Easter services will be held Sunday morning at St. Martin Lutheran church. The English service will begin at 7 o'clock and the German at 10 o'clock, with sermons by the Rev. Walter O. Speckhard.

At St. Rose Catholic church, masses will be held at 8 o'clock and at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The Rev. Nicholas Diedrich will conduct the services.

Two services will be held at the Methodist church Easter morning. The first will begin at 8 o'clock, when the Rev. William H. Wiese will preach on "The Power of the Resurrection." The choir will sing, "Blow Golden Trumpets."

Members of the Order of Eastern Star and of the local Masonic bodies have been invited to attend the service at 10:45. The subject for the sermon will be "The Christian's Shibboleth" and the choir will render Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

There will be an Easter program at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at Bethany church, with the choir and Sunday school children taking part. The Easter message on "Four Results of the Resurrection" will be delivered by the pastor, the Rev. Erwin C. Westhause.

Milton Nelson, Carmen Campbell and Mary Jane Sanford, who attend Lawrence college, arrived home Wednesday to spend their Easter vacation with their parents.

Superintendent and Mrs. Harley J. Powell are spending this week with relatives at Milwaukee.

Mrs. Mildred Brill and son Billy are at Omaha, Neb., this week, where they are visiting at the home of the former's sister.

A daughter, Carol Ann, was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoffman at the New London Community hospital. Mrs. Hoffman was the former Miss Mildred Lucia of Bear Creek, who taught Elm Dale school near Clintonville.

Wisconsin Weather

Much cloudiness tonight and Saturday, probably light snow northeast portion and rain or snow southeast portion tonight; not quite so cold east portion tonight.

General Weather

The disturbance which was central over western Pennsylvania yesterday morning has moved northeastward and now overlies the New England states. This storm has caused general precipitation over all sections from the Appalachian mountains and over sections of the Lake region and Ohio valley. However, generally fair weather prevails over all sections west of the Appalachian mountains.

It is now colder over all sections east of the Mississippi river, but temperatures are rising over the plains states and Rocky mountains.

Mostly cloudy weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours with light snow and slightly warmer tonight.

Zephyr Gridders Start Practice After Vacation

Edgewood, St. John Military Academy Now are Foes on Schedule

Menasha — St. Mary High school gridders will start spring practice as soon as weather conditions permit following the Easter recess. With a large number of capable players to be lost by graduation and a difficult schedule coming up, Coach Marvin Miller will have to bring his squad a long way in spring drill.

Prunuske, Picard, Laux, Coenen, Schipferling and Schwarzbauer are among the senior stars. As a nucleus of his first team Coach Miller will have Johnson, Lingnofski, and William Resch along with a number of reserves who gained considerable experience last year.

The Zephyrs have won the Fox Valley Catholic conference title for two years in succession and next fall will branch out to meet opponents from other conferences. High point of the season will be the game with St. John Military academy of Delafield, Wis., on Saturday, Nov. 24. The game will be played in Menasha.

Game At Madison

Another intersectional foe will be Edgewood academy of Madison. The game will be played at Madison on Sunday, Oct. 8 Both teams are on the Zephyr schedule for the first time.

Another new opponent will be New London High school of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. The Zephyrs clashed with the Bulldogs in basketball this season, scoring a 34 to 32 victory with a basket by Griesbach in the last minute. The game, which will be played at New London on Friday night, Sept. 29, will be the first football meeting between the two schools.

The other four teams on the seven-game schedule are old foes. The Zephyrs will open on Saturday, Sept. 16, with Kaukauna High school, winners of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference championship, last fall, coming to Menasha. The Zephyrs dropped a one-point decision to the champions last year.

The Sept. 23 date will remain open while on Sept. 29 the Zephyrs travel to New London and on Oct. 8 they go to Madison. Neenah High school, another Northeastern Wisconsin conference opponent, will play against the Zephyrs in Menasha on Saturday, Oct. 14.

The Fox Valley Catholic conference games will follow on the two succeeding Sundays. On Oct. 22 the St. Norbert college high team will come to Menasha while on Oct. 29 the St. John of Little Chute team will come to Menasha. The Zephyrs defeated both teams twice last year to win the conference title. The season will be concluded with the St. John Military academy game on Nov. 4. Appleton and Kimberly High schools were dropped from the schedule.

Day School Will Present Operetta

Select April 21 for Performance of Show Postponed From March

Menasha—Students of Winnebago school will present an operetta, "The Smuggleman," on Friday, April 21, in the school gymnasium. The production originally was scheduled for March 10 but was postponed when the instructor, Mrs. Howard Aderhold, received a knee injury in an accident.

Rehearsals of the production have been resumed since the spring vacation. All students of the school are taking some part in the production. The operetta will feature the lower grade children with members of the upper grades in supporting roles. Those who do not have parts are active in designing costumes and scenery or in other work in connection with the musical show.

Mrs. Aderhold has general supervision and direction of the operetta as well as the music. The wings and other articles of scenery were constructed under the direction of Edward Matthes while the designing and painting of the scenery was under the supervision of Miss Gertrude Wendt, art instructor. Costumes were prepared under the direction of Miss Janice Thompson.

Fishing Licenses are Available at Oshkosh

Neenah—Fishing licenses for 1939-1940 are available at the Winnebago county courthouse, Oshkosh, it was announced today by A. E. Hedke, county clerk. Resident rod and reel licenses cost $1 and non-resident licenses cost $3.

The fishing season in this area opens April 20, and although last year's licenses will be good for the opening of the season, they will expire April 30.

The first to secure a license was Robert Kriz, Oshkosh correspondent for the Post-Crescent.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and display advertising departments is located at 510 N Commercial street, and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for display advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or telephoned. Orders for classified advertising should be placed by telephoning 543 in Appleton, and the cost of the telephone call will be rebated. The Twin Cities office closes at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Now It's Official—Sauter, Grode Canvass Results of Election

Menasha — Now it is official. Mayor W. H. Jensen appointed Aldermen Earl Sauter and M. J. Grode to canvass the vote of the April 4 election at the council session Thursday night and the two aldermen, after a brief consultation, reported that the following were elected:

City treasurer—C. A. Heckrodt; Justice of the peace—Ray J. Fink; First ward alderman—Paul Laemmrich; Second ward alderman—Edward Zeininger; Third ward alderman—John Pinkerton; Fourth ward alderman—Philip Michalkiewicz; Fifth ward alderman—William DeBruin; Second ward supervisor — James D. Howley; Fourth ward alderman—R. H. Heckner. The new aldermen will be seated at the next regular meeting of the council Tuesday, April 18.

Menasha Council To Issue $100,000 Refunding Bond

Take Preliminary Steps at Routine Session Thursday Night

Menasha — The Menasha council took steps to issue $100,000 in refunding bonds at the meeting Thursday night in the city hall. On recommendation of the finance committee, the clerk and mayor were authorized to advertise the bond issue. Approval of the issue was given by the voters of Menasha last fall.

The bonds are to be of $1,000 each and will bear interest at 2¼ per cent, payable semi-annually. Provisions for repayment of the issue call for $5,000 in 1940, $20,000 in both 1941 and 1942, $25,000 in both 1943 and 1944 and $5,000 in 1945. The date of issue is to be Aug. 15, 1939.

Other business at the session was routine and was completed in an hour. The low bid of the Jeske Lumber and Coal company for 2,000 barrels of cement, more or less, delivered at the job, for $2.15 was accepted by the council. Five bids were received.

Argue Over Coats

Alderman William Karrow objected to a bill in payment for raincoats for the city garbage collectors which had been authorized by the board of health. Karrow pointed out that probably 60 per cent of Menasha taxpayers receive less than the $100 a month paid the garbage collectors yet they must furnish their own equipment.

Karrow declared that the health commission should show how to save money, not only how to spend it. Alderman John R. Scanlon defended the purchase, pointing out that it was made in the interest of the efficiency of the department. He stated that the purchase was in keeping with the purchase of equipment for the firemen and policemen. The men are buying their own boots and Alderman C. J. Oberweiser said that the employes would be expected to buy their own equipment after this original purchase.

Mayor W. H. Jensen warned that the time may have come to cut off all purchases. He pointed out that conditions in the city are bad. Eighteen more men have been laid off the WPA work, a reduction of 25 per cent. "We can't expect to collect taxes from people who aren't working. The city will have to stop playing Santa Claus." The mayor also pointed out that the purchase was similar to that of raincoats for the firemen.

Alderman Karrow said that he would favor purchasing white uniforms for the street sweepers as a safety measure and Alderman Walter O'Brien pointed out that purchasing the raincoats was a safety measure in protecting the health of the employes for the city could not dispense with the garbage collection.

All Are Allowed

A bill for rock purchased by the park board also evoked some discussion but all bills were allowed. The mayor cautioned that the park board had been allowed a budget and would have to keep within it.

The aldermen deferred approval of part of the minutes of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission, requesting further information on the payment of some bills from the construction fund. An audit of the finances of the Neenah-Menasha relief group from Nov. 1, 1937, through Dec. 31, 1938, was accepted and placed on file.

Petitions for sewer installation and sidewalk were referred to a board of public works hearing scheduled for 7 o'clock April 18 at the city hall. The sewer request was for installation on DePere street from Paris street to the river while the sidewalk request was for installation on DePere street from Eighth to Ninth streets.

Claim Disallowed

City Attorney Edward C. McKenzie recommended that the claim of James Toman against the city for damages be disallowed. The attorney reported that Toman's claim arose because a shovel had been left in the road by a WPA worker. Because the city has no jurisdiction over the WPA workers, the attorney declared that he felt the city would not be held liable.

The claim of Mrs. Clarence Rose, Third street, for $250 damages to a baby carriage was referred to the attorney for recommendation. The communication from Mrs. Rose declared that the spring and a ure on the carriage were broken because of ice on Plank road.

A bartenders permit was granted to Milan Skrypczak on motion of Alderman Philip Michalkiewicz.

Service, Breakfast Is Planned at Temple

Neenah — A service and breakfast will be held at 8 o'clock Easter morning for the Twin City and Appleton Commanderies Knights Templar, at the Masonic temple. It is an annual event. The service is held early so that the members may attend their respective church services.

KIWANIS COMMITTEE PREPARES FOR THIRD ANNUAL TWIN CITY HOME SHOW

Neenah—Completing final plans for the Neenah Kiwanis club's third annual Twin City Home show, members of the committee and board of directors, shown above, are expecting a record attendance when the show is staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, April 13, 14 and 15, at the S. A. Cook Armory. All booth space has been sold, and more than 35 exhibitors will display their wares. Kiwanians shown above are, left to right, first row, James L. Kelly, Fond du Lac, district lieutenant-governor who was confering with the committee on the home show plans; Otto Steffenhagen, general chairman; Gaylord C. Loehning, club president; William Rather, club secretary; second row, J. M. Holderby, director; Richard Bell, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Henry Forbes, director. Y.W.C.A. to Have Quarters at Fair

National Organization Will Hold Weekly 'At Homes' in New York

Neenah — While strongly urging the local association to use its influence to keep girls and young women from coming to New York in search of nonexistent jobs, the National Y. W. C. A. has announced through Miss Laura Huber, general secretary, Twin City Y. W. C. A. that it will have a World's Fair headquarters in New York and will hold "at homes" from 3 to 5:30 every Thursday afternoon from June 1 to Sept. 14 at 600 Lexington avenue, New York City.

The National "Y", Miss Huber stated, hopes that business and industrial girls, Girl Reserves, board and staff members, will feel especially invited to attend the open house. Part of the first floor at the Lexington avenue headquarters will be used jointly by the National Board and the New York city association in order to serve as effectively as possible women and girls who look to the "Y" for assistance. A room registry service will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night daily. Anyone desiring accomodations should write well in advance.

An information desk will give general information about the city, the fair and sight-seeing tours. Young women members of the New York association will be available to accompany groups who wish to visit points of historical interest in city, the shopping and theater districts, museums and churches. Members of the association have been urged to take membership cards with them to New York. All activities, services, and facilities of the New York city association will be available to women and girls who present "Y" membership cards.

Births, Deaths Show Increase Last Month

Neenah—Births and deaths in Neenah during March increased, the former by six and the latter by eight, in comparison with February, according to the monthly vital statistics report of Dr. Frank O. Brunckhorst, city health officer. There were 32 births during March as compared with 26 during the preceding month, 19 deaths as compared with 11 during February, and one marriage as compared with two the previous month.

Tri-School Meet Is Rescheduled

Appleton, Neenah, Menasha Intramural Tourney to be April 15

Menasha — The intramural meet between students of Menasha, Appleton and Neenah High schools has been scheduled for next Saturday, April 15. The meet originally was scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed.

The contests will take place at Appleton and Menasha High schools on Saturday morning, afternoon and evening. The morning contests will be held at Menasha and will include swimming and volleyball.

The rest of the events will be held at the new Appleton High school Saturday afternoon and evening. Events scheduled include rope climbing, basketball, tug of war, checkers, chess, Chinese checkers, hand wrestling, badminton, shuffleboard, boxing, wrestling and other contests.

To preserve the intramural aspect of the meet, the entrants will not compete as representatives of their respective schools but the teams will include members of all three schools. The competitors are not to be the varsity squad members but instead are to be selected from those students who otherwise would not have a chance for interscholastic competition.

Squads to represent each school in the various events will be named next week. The meet is an outgrowth of the annual intramural meet which formerly alternated between Neenah and Appleton High schools. Leslie Ansorge of Menasha High school, Ole Jorgenson of Neenah High school and Joseph Shields and William Pickett of Appleton High school have been planning the meet.

Jack Dombrowski to Be Menasha Delegate At Firemen's Parley

Menasha—Jack Dombrowski will represent Menasha firemen at the annual state convention of the Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association which will be held Aug. 1, 2 and 3 in Oshkosh. The convention will be held in connection with the convention of the Wisconsin State Association of Fire Fighters which will be held on July 31 in Oshkosh.

Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh, representative in congress from this district, will be the principal speaker at the banquet which will be held at the Raulf hotel. The convention sessions will be held in the American Legion clubhouse.

The Paid Firemen's association has approximately 1,500 members from 35 cities. Connie Rippl represented the Menasha firemen at the convention at Eau Claire last year.

Fashion Display Will be Staged at Third Home Show

Women's and Children's Clothes to be Shown By 14 Mannequins

Neenah — The latest fashions in spring and summer women's and children's apparel will be shown at the two style shows which will be staged at the Neenah Kiwanis club's third annual Twin City Home show at the S. A. Cook Armory Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 13, 14 and 15.

The style shows will be held on Thursday and Friday nights, and 14 mannequins, including eight adults and six children, will model the apparel. Jandry's will put on the show.

Richard Bell, who is in charge of the entertainment program, reported that the complete list of acts will be booked within a few days. An "escape artist," Daredevil Art Kanson, Green Bay, the self-styled "human fly," already has been booked for the show, and he also may perform hazardous stunts, such as driving a car in traffic blindfolded and climbing the wall of the armory and walking along the ledge blindfolded, as promotion stunts. Because of the risk, the committee in charge of the show hasn't decided whether these stunts will be staged.

More than 36 exhibitors will display their wares in the show, an all booth space has been sold. Exhibitors are expected to start constructing booths either Monday or Tuesday.

Another feature of the display will be the exhibit of a miniature model city which has been loaned to the club by the State Architectural association. The model is 22 by 30 feet and it is a view of a residential street composed of nearly 30 miniature houses, each home showing a different style of architecture.

Neenah — Nearly 80 purchasing agents from the Milwaukee Association of Purchasing agents will be guests of the Kimberly-Clark corporation and the Neenah Paper company at a luncheon and dinner at the Valley Inn Friday noon and evening, April 14. Following the luncheon, tours of the mills of the two paper manufacturing concerns will be held. Kimberly Stuart, Neenah will give a talk at the dinner.

Girl Scout Troop at St. Thomas Church Is Divided Into Patrols

Menasha — Girl Scout Troop 1, sponsored by the St. Thomas Episcopal church, has been divided into four patrols, names and leaders for which have been selected, Miss Lucille Rusch, troop captain, has announced. As the troop crest, the sunflower has been selected, Troop leaders, assistants, and Miss Joan Graef, lieutenant, will meet with Miss Rusch Monday evening at her home to make plans for the year's program.

The Cardinal patrol will have as its leader, Marjorie Mc Mahon with Rita Suess as assistant. Mary Ellen Schmalz, Velda Reimer, Betty Bodway, Josephine Kimberly, Barbara Griffith and Elaine Eckrich. The Eagle patrol has as its leader Lois Merrill. Audrey Steinfort is assistant and other members are Lois Hardt, Emily Reimer, Eva Brooks, Marion Bodway, Evelyn Johnson and Joan Quinn.

Barbara Clinton is leader of the Bluebird patrol and Joyce Bailer, assistant leader. Betty Falvey, Blanche Terrill, Beatrice Schuyler, Margaret Nash, Nancy Dowling and Sally Ann Prattare are members.

The Flying Geese patrol has as its leader, Susan Spengler with Geraldine Whale as assistant. Elizabeth Stuart, Gloria Belle Schuyler, Delores King, Mary Pettingill, Betty De Long and Nancy Nelson are patrol members.

Young People to Study Religions

Cultural, Social and Historical Survey Is Planned

Menasha — With Janet Rike as chairman, the St. Thomas Episcopal church Young People's Fellowship is planning a cultural, social and historical study of the 11 living religious of the world under the direction of William Chapitis, Menasha High school faculty member and adult adviser of the group.

For the April 16 and 30 meetings, Letha Herrbold will present an account of and lead discussion on Mohammedism. Betty Yaley will discuss Hinduism, Barbara Hallen, Judaism and Gilbert Hill, Zoroastrianism.

The tentative assignment for the other seven religions includes Donald Grode, Shinto; Mildred Grode, Taoism; William Spengler, Jainism; Earl De Long, Buddhism; Mary Louise Johnson, Confucianism; Lois Leopold, Sikhism and Carol Stroetz, Christianity.

The brief history and growth of each respective religion, analysis of the religions, concept of deity-polytheistic, monotheistic, personal or impersonal; the geography, philosophy and architecture of each religion are some of the factors that will be discussed by each person as he develops his presentation.

Mr. Chapitis has planned an outline as a guide for the discussons.

Service Alone Is Duty of Doctors, Rotary Club Told

Dr. Williamson Talks on Medicine as a Vocation

Neenah — Service—nothing else—is the duty of a physician was the remark made by a Neenah doctor, Dr. George H. Williamson, in a talk, "Medicine as a Vocation," at the noon meeting of the Neenah Rotary club Thursday at the Valley Inn.

The doctor said, "If a young man planning to enter the medical profession came to me for advice, I'd advise him to definitely decide to give up his life for that profession, the greatest exemplary occupation for the matter of giving service."

"The doctor gives service and nothing else, and that service means self denial, devotion, constancy and all the other virtues of giving yourself.

"The Great Physician came to the world about 2,000 years ago, healing the sick, opening the eyes of the blind, curing the lame, calming tormented souls and giving peace to those who would follow his teachings. How more appropriate it would be if He came to the world today."

Best Education

Dr. Williamson said he would advise the young man to consider only the best education possible, after having suggested that he study the history of the profession." Before entering a medical school I'd suggest that he obtain an academic degree for this cultural education and contacts with others will give him an important background to build his character helping him in contacting his patients."

The physician outlined the hard life in the medical school and the internship pointing out that in all it amounts to 10 years of study without recompense.

During that time he will have made an investment from which he hopes to get a return and he answered the question "Why do the highly trained doctors sometimes fail while the less highly trained physician becomes a success?"

The physician should care for the mind and soul as well as the body, the doctor said. Sometimes the highly trained physician cares only for the body and thinks that is enough, while the other, having a pleasing personality heals all and his patients like him.

Dr. Williamson discussed ethics in medicine, and he outlined some of the rules guiding a doctor in contacts with his patients as well as with other members of his profession.

"Secrecy is an important ethical problem for the doctor," he said.

St. John Champs Beat All-Stars

Intramural League Titlists Score 13 to 11 Win in Feature Game

Menasha—Purdue, winners of the St. John school intramural basketball league, closed its season in championship form Wednesday by scoring a 13 to 11 victory over an All-Star team picked from the rest of the league. Gavinski captained the Purdue team.

The All-Stars rushed the champions in the first quarter and stepped into a 7 to 1 lead. The Purdue team rallied but was behind, 9 to 6, at the half. They kept on with their rally in the third quarter which closed with the All-Stars in front, 10 to 9.

In the last minute of the fourth quarter H. Sobieczick made two baskets for the Purdue team while the best the All-Stars could do was to collect one free throw.

The standings for the season:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Purdue	9	1	.900
Northwestern	6	4	.600
Wisconsin	4	6	.400
Indiana	1	9	.100

Seek Enrolments for C.M.T.C. From County

Menasha—More enrolments for the 1939 Citizens Military Training camps will be accepted from Winnebago county, according to C. A. Loescher, chairman of the county C. M. T. C. committee.

The county allotment is 20 while nine applications have been received. The deadline for applications will be the latter part of May with the camp period scheduled for July 11 to Aug 9.

Mrs. George Schultz, 715 S. Commercial street, Neenah, has been admitted to Theda Clark hospital for treatment.

Kellett, Strong Will Talk at Senior Class Discussion Meeting

Menasha—William Kellett, president of the board of education and an executive employe of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, and Walter E. Strong, personel director of the Marathon Mills plant, will be the speakers at the sixth of the series of discussion meeting for senior students of Menash High school next week.

A series of speakers has been secured by the executive committee of the class to lead discussion of problems which will face the students on graduation. S. F. Shattuck of Kimberly-Clark, the Rev. William Willinger of St. Mary parish, Clemens E. Lueck of Ripon college, Dean F. O. Holt of the Univeristy of Wisconsin, and Walter E. Myer, editor of several high school publications, have ben among the previous speakers.

Members of the executive committee which plans for the discussion periods are Jack Crockett, Betty Knight, Henry Landskron, Agnes Stolla, Julianne Peterson and George Verhoven.

Neenah — Engineers last night clinched the championship of the Kimberly-Clark Bowling league at the Neenah alleys and it will be the first time in 10 years that the Engineers will have won the circuit pennant.

Having won 57 games against 29 defeats, the titlists hold a 5-game margin over the second place Kotex five. Last night they won the one game necessary to assure them of the championship. The Kotex five made a strong bid for the top rung, having won three games from the Kimpaks last night. It was the only straight win.

The Kotex rolled high team series of 2,888, and Research was second with 2,779. Multi Colors spilled high team game of 995, and Tribals were second with 985.

Hammers 666 and 250

C. Zingler rolled individual honors, spilling a 666 series on games of 250, 233 and 183. His game of 250 was high. E. Harold rolled second high series of 655 on counts of 246, 223 and 186. His game of 246 was good for second.

Other top scores were rolled by F. Bremmer 623, G. Charle 611, G. Henebry 607, O. Heintzkill 606 and C. Hocking 602.

Epworth League Will Hold Sunrise Service

Neenah — The Epworth League of First Methodist Episcopal church will hold an Easter sunrise service and breakfast at 6:30 Easter Sunday morning with the young peoples societies of Whiting Memorial Baptist church, Our Saviour's Lutheran, First Fundamental and Immanuel Lutheran churches as guests.

Miss Frances Frederickson, Menasha High school instructor, will be the main speaker and will be director of the program. Miss Ethel Pearson and Miss Eleanor Smith are co-chairmen of the arrangements committee.

Emma Ahrndt Estate Is Valued at $28.000

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh—Petition for the administration of the estate of Emma Ahrndt, town of Clayton, who died March 24, was filed today in Winnebago county probate court.

The petition lists $28.000 in personal property, with no real estate. Beneficiaries listed were three brothers, August Zimmer, 1121 W Packard street, Appleton; Herman Zimmer, route 2, Appleton; Otto Zimmer, route 3, Neenah; two nephews, Robert Zimmer, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Walter Zimmer, 1103 W. College avenue, Appleton; one niece, Helen Zimmer Radtke, 1103 W. College avenue. August Zimmer is the executor.

New Electrical Supply Company Incorporated

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Corporation papers were filed here today in the office of George B. Young, register of deeds in Winnebago county, for the Badger Electric Supply company, a new corporation which will be located at Oshkosh.

Robert O Schmidt, Appleton, H. C. Schultz and R. F. Kuechenberg, Oshkosh, are organizers of the company. Capital stock of the company has been set at $10,000 consisting of 400 shares at $25.

The purpose of the company, according to the articles, is to "manufacture, sell, deal in, repair and install electrical wiring, supplies, machinery and equipment."

MOTOR BURNS

Neenah — Firemen were called at 12:45 this morning to the home of E. E. Lampert, 252 E. Franklin avenue, where a motor on a furnace fan burned, blowing smoke into the house through the hot air pipes. No damage was done except to the motor.

Ladies society of Trinity Lutheran church will sponsor a food sale at 11:30 Saturday morning in the Hallada market.

Delay Start of Work On Avenue Paving Job

Neenah—Paving of E. Wisconsin avenue from the North Western railroad tracks to the lake shore will not get underway until Monday, it was announced. The work was scheduled to start Thursday.

The contractors, Koepke Construction company, Appleton, decided that because of Holy Week, only a small amount of work could be completed before Easter but it would be enough to hamper traffic on the thoroughfare over the holiday weekend.

Only half of the street will be under construction at one time. Work will start near the tracks and on the north side of the street.

Auxiliary Pumps To be Purchased For Water Works

Neenah Commission Awards Contracts for Pipes and Hydrants

Neenah — Auxiliary pumping equipment will be purchased by the Neenah Water Works commission, it was decided at a meeting last night at the city hall.

City Clerk H. S. Zemlock was authorized to advertise for bids on two gasoline engines with direct connected pilot pumps as auxiliary equipment and a gasoline engine with a small generating equipment for operating the softening and filtration plant. The equipment will be used only for standby purposes.

It was pointed out that the commission expects to continue pumping by electricity, and because they are too large for power requirements, the present oil engines are being offered for sale.

Awards Contracts

The commission awarded a contract for pipes and hydrants to the James B. Clow and Sons, Chicago, the low bidder. The low bid consisted of 6-inch pipe 83 cents, 6-inch tees $8.40, 6-inch eddy valves $20.20, and 6-inch hydrants $60.90. Other bidders were the U. S. Pipe and Foundry company, Lynchburg Foundry company, Darling Valve and Manufacturing company, and the Mueller company.

The commission also instructed the clerk to advertise for bids on a three-quarter ton truck with open type body to replace the present truck. The commission voted to enter into a contract with the Cliffs Dow Chemical company, Marquette, Mich., for a year's supply of carbon at $84.60 a ton in carload lots, delivered to Neenah.

Fifty-six bills amounting to $3,272.66 were allowed, and the commission voted to purchase a mower at a cost of $235 for use at the station, authorized payment of the account of R. W. Sparling for 8-inch sparling main line meter for use on the back wash line for the filters at the plant at a cost of $192, and authorized payment of the balance of $332 to the Johnson Oil Burner company on the oil burners installed in the plant. Payment was withheld because the burners were not satisfactory.

The clerk was instructed to make application for membership in the American Water Works association at a cost of $15 a year. Membership includes a subscription to the association's magazine and other services.

Winnebago County Roads are in Poor Shape for Travel

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Black - topped and gravel roads in Winnebago county are in the worst condition that they have been in for years, E. M. Bird, county highway commissioner stated today.

Most of the county and town roads, exclusive of concrete surfaced roads, are still in bad condition, many of them blocked to heavy traffic and others are barred to traffic because they are impassable.

Soft muddy ruts, "boils," and broken surface are the reasons for restricting traffic on the highways.

These ailments, stated Bird, have not been evident in the past few years, the condition this year being due to the unusual weather conditions prevalent last fall and this spring.

"Last fall we had an unusually great amount of rain," Bird said, "and before the moisture had a chance to become fully absorbed into the soil, freezing set in and locked the moisture just below the surface.

"With the first few days of unusually warm weather two weeks ago, this moisture, in addition to the thawing snow, raised quickly to the surface. This upheaval caused the peculiar boils we are now experiencing."

Bird stated that gravel is being put on the worst spots and with a few more days of drying winds or warm sunshine, the county roads should be back in prime condition.

Officials Confer With WPA About Suspensions

Neenah—City officials this morning conferred with WPA officials at Green Bay on the suspension of Neenah WPA workers on local projects.

City officials who went to Green Bay were Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs, City Clerk H. S. Zemlock, City Engineer A. G. Prunuske, and Harry Bishop, relief director.

It was reported at the council meeting Wednesday evening that 15 WPA workers had been laid off jobs, while about 18 more are expected to be laid off next week. An effort is being made to keep Neenah residents at work and have the non-residents laid off. It was pointed out at the meeting that if local citizens are laid off they will have to go on relief, while if non-residents are laid off, the cost of relief will be charged back to their respective communities.

Five-Room Home

This modern five-room home, with garage, is located on a good-size lot, size 60 x 104, at 726 E. Summer St. It can be purchased for only $3,200 on terms of $500 down and the balance payable at the rate of $25 a month, including interest at 5%.

This is a good way to buy a house if you want to own your own home and don't have the money to build or buy one for cash, because you immediately come into possession of your own home and still pay no more than if you were renting, except for the small amount of taxes. You can rent a house for ten years at $25 a month and when you move out you have nothing except rent receipts and the landlord still owns the house. If you buy on an easy payment plan like this you can have the house paid for in ten years.

We also have other homes which can be purchased on similar easy payment plans. We invite your inquiry regarding them.

FIRST WARD HOME
One of the attractions of this home is in its wide screened porch from which you enter into a bright, large living room with fireplace, and at the extreme end of which is the open stair to the second floor. The dining room adjoining the living room faces front, is well lighted, and convenient to large kitchen. From this latter room a rear porch opens onto large lawn and garden. The basement is in separate rooms for laundry, storage and hot air heating plant. The second floor has three sleeping rooms and large bath. The master bedroom on the front has twin closets. This home is well constructed and insulated. It is priced low for quick sale. Owner might consider smaller home as part payment.

Health Board Adopts Rules For Temporary Eating Places

Strict regulations for temporary eating places at fairs, in parks or other places outside of public buildings were adopted March 9 by the state board of health and were released to the city health department yesterday.

Dr. John C. Troxel, city physician and health officer, and Claude N. Greisch, deputy health officer, are impowered under the law to enforce the regulations.

In general the rules are similar to those placed on eating and drinking places in permanent buildings including the stipulation that a non-transferable permit must be secured before a temporary eating or drinking place may be operated.

Stands where food and drink are sold must have a suitable cover or roof and suitable side walls to be used when necessary. Floors must be maintained in a sanitary condition.

Kitchen Rules

Kitchens maintained in temporary places must be enclosed or screened, with necessary exits or openings for service. All stoves and griddles at counters not properly enclosed, must be equipped with a glass or metal shield covering the front, the ends and a portion of the top, the regulations state.

Using the hands for rolling hamburger balls or patties is prohibited and all foods being prepared or on display must be protected against flies, insects and other unsanitary conditions. All perishable food products, cooked or uncooked, must be kept under refrigeration until used.

Ice boxes or chests must be properly insulated and the use of cracked dishes, glassware or worn out cooking utensils is prohibited under the law.

Sterilized Dishes

Dishes and cooking utensils must be thoroughly washed in hot water and sterilized or scalded. Dish cloths and towels must be thoroughly washed and kept clean. When hot running water is not available, additional stoves for heating water must be provided or discardable dishes or containers must be used.

Where drinks are dispensed and glasses or other washable equipment are used and there is not hot water provided, three rinse tanks are required, one for a rough rinse, one for a chlorine solution or other satisfactory sterilizer and one for a clear water rinse. Facilities for properly washing and drying the hands must be provided.

Water-tight garbage containers with covers must be furnished. Employes must keep clean, wear clean clothing and refrain from the use of tobacco while on duty. Cooks, kitchen helpers and waitresses must wear caps, head bands or hairnets while on duty.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Asey raised his eyebrows. "Mister Who?"

"Prettyman." Zeb said. "Tertius Prettyman. He's in the insurance business. Old Prettyman at the point's son. He's fifty-odd. Look, have you met Eloise, Asey?" He caught Jane's eye. "Oh, well Well, she's all the near relations Mary had, anyway."

"All and only," Jane said. "I —Asey, I appreciate the way you're beating about the bush, but let's have the worst What is it?"

'Shotgun In The Shed'

"Without meanin' the least disrespect to Mrs. Randall," Asey told her, "the worst'll be to blow this Old Home Week sky high, an' to put the town in debt so much it'll never recover. This sort of thing acts two ways Some few folks'll come to gape. But the majority'll leave as fast as their cars'll start, particularly when they learn how this happened. I'd say that ninety-five percent of the people who've planned to spend the week here, they'll look at the thickness of their walls, an' consider how many times they pass by a lighted window, an' promptly exit. Until we get to the bottom of this, the headlines'll be 'Madman Loose.' or 'Maniac At Large.' You, an' Miss Randall, you'll get headlines too."

"For me especially." Jane gulped down some coffee. "Because whereas you've not made a point of it—well, they'll arrest me, won't they? No one will ever believe in this world that I could sit here in this room, and not hear what happened. And there's a shotgun out in the shed, too."

"Whose, yours?"

"It belongs to Zeb. He left it here, once, and forgot about it." Jane said

"My heavens, Jane, did I?"

"You did, and I wasn't going to dash after you with it. You're so impulsive, you might have misunderstood. Anyway, the gun's there, and I'm here, and all the town heard me say up in the Club Parlor today that I hadn't a cent except what Mary gave me, and that I was afraid of being fired almost any time. I was joking, but it won't be a joke tomorrow."

"They won't," Zeb said. "They can't!"

"I'm used to headlines," Jane told Asey. "When father died, I was five hundred miles away at school, but you might have thought I pushed him out of the window. When mother married the Spig—oh, but why go on! I'm used to it. Shakespeare wrote a sonnet once about how if you got the worst at first, then you were more contander about the remainder. Or something. Maybe it was Nash. Zeb aren't you glad I never decided to marry you—"

"Don't be quixotic!" Jane said. "Think of your father and the headlines. 'Baked Beans Heir Jilts Suspect Fiancee. Romance Ends in Old Home Killing'—d'you suppose they'll call it 'The Old Home Killing'? Asey, I don't mean to gabble on so, but I feel wound up. I—well—I feel desperate, if you want to know. Oh Asey, I simply adored Mary, and she's been so marvelous to me!"

Zeb put his arm around her, and she cried on his shoulder.

'It's The End'

"Look after her," Asey said. "I hear a car."

He went out as Dr. Cummings, and Lane of the state police, both calm and professionally expectant, got out of a sedan. In the back seat was Weston, sitting like a statue. Despair was written all over him.

"Oh, come, Wes." Asey said. "It's bad. It's awful. But nothin's as bad as you look. Cheer up, man! Lane'll settle this for—"

"It's the end." Weston said. "It's in the contract."

"In the what?"

"Contract. Philbrick's contract. We're going on the air as a quaint old-fashioned New England town. And if—"

"If you ain't, you get the air? I see. Well, come in, an' let's see what we can do."

Dr. Cummings looked around the bedroom and backed hastily out into the hall.

"Someone loathed her like poison," he observed, "or else we have a maniac loose. So someone waited outside, and shot at the shadow of her head on the window shade? What a— Asey, I feel responsible, in a way. She wasn't well when she first came to town, and I suggested among other things that she get to bed early, since she had her business to run during the day. She kept the early-to-bed habit up, I don't know why. Everyone in town knew about it, of course. There's a book — was she reading?"

"Guess so." Asey said. "N'en she leaned forward to get a cigarette from that box. Tell me, what was she like?"

"Mary was very pleasant, and she knew her business. Used to be a buyer for some New York firm, and it blew up and she landed here. Seemed to enjoy burying herself out in this hell hole. Said she made a living. She's got some fine stuff out in her shop in the barn. Had a lot of customers, and did her rubbing and restoring and finishing all herself. Great worker, very competent woman."

"Enemies?"

"She got on well with everyone. Of course she got the women up on their heels once in a while, but they all like her except Brinley's wife. That Brinley woman thinks she knows it all. Took a course in interior decorating once, and no one's allowed to forget it. Awful row over the Club Parlor."

"Who won?"

"Mary, hands down. Then Bessie claimed that Mary was only after a chance to unload her antiques, and make a profit. Lots of fuss. Turned out to be a nice room, though. Well, lets get busy. Going to be nasty for the town. Any way out?"

"Of keping it quiet? Maybe." Asey said. 'Maybe, if—say, what's the daughter like?"

Dr. Cummings looked at him over the rims of his glasses.

"I'm not a psychiatrist, or a psychologist," he announced cryptically. "I'm just a plain country doctor. Will you tell Lane and Weston to come here, and bring Lane's camera, and all that stuff."

Half an hour later, Asey went into the living room.

Zeb and Jane still sat on the couch, staring at the pattern of the hooked rug before the fireplace. Weston, his face a yard long, sucked at a dead pipe in the corner. He wore the sort of expression usually reserved for funerals, or automobile accidents, or various other forms of sudden death.

Be A Careful Driver

Ogden, Utah—(AP)—Farmers believe they have solved the mystery of why snow in this city melts days earlier than it does in the surrounding country. They attribute it to the warmth of smoke hanging over the city area.

Los Angeles—(AP)—A snake that wears a noseguard like a football player's is described in a new University of California's publication by Charles M. Bogert. It is called the patch-nosed snake. Rather rare, it is found from the American southwest to Central America.
